WILLIAM RALPH PFLIGER

Bill Pfliger, 70, went to rest on December 22, 2012 at Parkview Acres.

Bill was born in Kansas City, MO on February 10, 1942. He spent time growing up in Everett, WA, Yakima, WA, and then DesMoine, WA. He graduated from Mount Rainier High School in 1960, where he played football and basketball. He was known there as "Spider" because of his long arms.

After high school he went to a Vo-Tech school in Seattle, WA for electronics. He had hoped to get a job in Australia, but when that didn't work out he became a draftsman for the Boeing Company.

In 1977 he started working with Flathead Electronics Cooperation in Kalispell, MT as a staking engineer, and ended that position in 1995. In 1999-2002 he started work for SSR Engineers, Inc. in Missoula, MT, also as a staking engineer. His last job was as an inspector/mapping tech working for Mission Valley Power from 2002-2004.

Bill is preceded in death by his mother, Katherine Pfliger. He is survived by his father, Adam Pfliger, wife Marie Pfliger, sister Janice Etherton (Larry); and his children Sue McManamen (John); Mike Pfliger (Darla); Christine Seman (Richard); his six grandchildren, Patrick, Christine, and Brianne McManamen; Jessica and Sam Pfliger, Tiffany Torres (Israel); and his great grandchildren Quincy and Ivy Torres and nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at Brundage Funeral Home on January 5, 2013 at 10 am.

DEFENSE BILL MOVES FORWARD

www.nwyc.com

The Senate passed a provision to the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) earlier this year that a bicameral congressional conference committee has dropped from the bill. Proponents of the provision say it is needed to keep American citizens arrested on U.S. soil from being detained indefinitely under the laws of war. Those against the provision say it is unnecessary and Americans arrested on American soil retain their right to be brought before a judge (Habeas Corpus) so that they may be charged or released.

The indefinite detention amendment was introduced last month by Sen. Dianne Feinstein's (D-CA). The removal of the amendment is the result of a House-Senate conference on the 2013 National Defense Authorization Act.

The provision and language the House proposed was replaced with language that indicates that last year's NDAA shouldn't be interpreted to prevent Habeas Corpus suits by persons detained in the U.S.

Some lawmakers felt that the amendment Sen. Feinstein had put forward to require explicit congressional authorization for any detention of Americans on U.S. soil would have no real effect because courts had interpreted Congress's 2001 Authorization for the Use of Military Force as granting authority for detention.

Sen. Feinstein's amendment passed, 67-29, late last month. She said it would keep Americans from being held under the laws of war, unless they were captured overseas. "I was saddened and disappointed that we could not take a step forward to ensure at the very least American citizens and legal residents could not be held in detention without charge or trial. To me that was a no-brainer," Sen. Feinstein said in a statement to reporters.

The White House threatened a veto of both the Senate and House versions of the NDAA before the Feinstein amendment was added to the legislation. President Obama objected to a variety of items in the bill, including weapons programs the administration did not request and language limiting transfers of prisoners from Guantanamo.

Sen. John McCain (R-AZ) said of the bill, "... we worked very closely with Sec. Panetta and the Pentagon. It wasn't as if we were doing all these things on our own."

A lobbyist for the American Civil Liberties Union, Chris Anders, said a variety of groups who favor closing Guantanamo are urging President Obama to veto the legislation.

"This is the time for the president to decide what he wants his legacy to be on closing Guantanamo," Anders said. "If the president signs an additional one-year restriction on transfers out of Guantanamo, it's going to make it difficult if not impossible to close Guantanamo during his presidency. This is a key decision point for the president."

Anders called the language on indefinite detention of Americans "completely meaningless." He said there's no doubt that habeas rights are available to anyone who's detained in the U.S.

SAFETY ADVISED ON NATIONAL FOREST DURING TRAPPING SEASON

Montana's trapping season is in full swing and the Beaverhead Deerlodge National Forest wants to offer important reminders for all winter recreationists.

Dave Myers, Beaverhead Deerlodge National Forest Supervisor, says "Montana's Fish Wildlife and Parks (FWP) has trap setback requirements from roads, trails and campgrounds and most trappers take additional efforts to place traps in areas well away from those frequented by other recreationists." Dog owners and others concerned about trapping can minimize risks by staying on well used routes and keeping pets close by when hiking, snowshoeing, or skiing." Myers adds "keeping pets close to you while out in the woods helps reduce not only accidental trapping concerns but also keeps pets from unnecessarily harassing wildlife." According to FWP, winter recreationists should be on the look-out for signs of trapping activity; a lightly traveled snowmobile track or a few footsteps in the snow may indicate a trapper's presence and should be avoided.

Recreationists who want to learn more about Montana's trapping season should look at the website http://fwp.mt.gov/hunting/trapping/. The link has good information, like how to become more proficient at releasing traps and snares and Montana Fish Wildlife and Parks contact information.

For additional information about winter recreation opportunities on the Beaverhead Deerlodge National Forest contact us at (406) 683-3900 or look us up on the internet at http://www.fs.usda.gov/recmain/bdnf/recreation.

BARRETT HOSPITAL & HEALTHCARE ANNOUNCES ANNUAL AWARDS

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare adheres to a set of "I-CARE" values which are guiding principles for every employee. These values serve as a guide for interaction with patients, co-workers, vendors and everyone who comes in contact with the Hospital and its employees. These values are an important part of the hospital culture, are part of employee training and orientation and are a large component of the annual performance appraisal process. The "I- CARE" values are as follows:

I – Integrity
C – Compassion
A – Adaptability
R – Respect
E – Excellence

Employees nominate their peers for "I-CARE" Awards. An employee committee reviews each nomination and makes selections based on the number and strength of the nominations as well as personal observations. The 2012 "I-CARE" Award winners are:

Integrity – Dr. Burke Hansen
Compassion – Damien Guillen
Adaptability – Daryn Engesser
Respect – Leslee Amos
Excellence – Shawn Ward

In addition, the Hospital recognized the following departments for their role in implementing a new patient registration program at the Barrett Hospital & HealthCare Clinic.

Next Gen Implementation: A Cooperative and Monumental Effort by Provider-Based Clinic
Information Technology

Bavarian Mint Fudge

This recipe came from Kathy Jones. It's wonderful and super easy.

1 ½ packages chocolate chips
1 can sweetened condensed milk
½ to 1 tsp. mint extract

Heat milk and melt chocolate chips into it. Stir constantly. When melted, add mint extract. Pour into buttered pan and let set before cutting.

GUNS 'YES OR NO'

By: MJ

"Gun Control" has surfaced again giving the media and politicians a topic for discussion that plays on the human emotions instead of the national debt crises and the higher taxes coming your way.

Reality is that the gun by itself did nothing. Yes, guns are the tool used by killers, but so are knives, ropes, razors... Maybe it is time we take a good look at ourselves, the way we raise our children, the education system, the politicians we elect, how we interact...

It is odd how we believe what is posted in blogs, on T.V., in newspapers... We don't think twice about sending obscene jokes, hateful articles via our e-mail accounts using the magic of cyber space yet any public discussion of God is suppressed.

We need to ask ourselves why our children have no conscience, why they don't know right from wrong and why death and killing means nothing to them. Is it because the parents are absent in a child's life? Many parents entrust their children to a day care provider as infants, thus giving the providers more influence over the child's actions then the parents. From day care children are off to public or private school systems.

TEACHERS: Is providing teachers with guns the right answer? For some it would be; for others it would be a mistake. There are many other options that might be considered like; tasers... Get involved with your schools, police and local government. It's a parent's job and right to know what is being done to protect their children.

We have no cultural cohesion and no common morality in our society today. We reap what we sow.

Depression

... a real, but often misunderstood, disorder that is treatable.

Have you, a friend or a family member experienced some of these symptoms?

- ___Persistent sad, anxious or "empty" mood
- ___Feelings of hopelessness or pessimism
- ___Feelings of guilt, worthlessness or helplessness
- ___Loss of interest or pleasure in hobbies & activities that were once enjoyed (including sex)
- ___Decreased energy, fatigue or feeling "slowed down"
- ___Difficulty concentrating, recalling or making decisions
- ___Insomnia, early-morning awakening or oversleeping
- ___Appetite loss, weight loss or overeating & weight gain
- ___Thoughts of death or suicide, or actual suicide attempts
- ___Restlessness or irritability

Other possible accompanying symptoms include headaches, digestive disorders and chronic pain. The early darkening sky and frequent winds that accompany winter in Montana may contribute to the onset or continuation of depression. A Plan If you have experienced a depressed mood or a loss of interest in daily activities consistently for 2 weeks, tell someone, or come by to see us, we have now on staff a Certified Mental Health Provider.

We're here to help.
