NEW BUSINESS GRAND OPENING

PLUS AN AMAZING SPECIAL OFFER!

Located at 215 E. Helena (next to Adventure Cycle and Sport), Beaverhead Therapy and Massage is Dillon's newest massage clinic. Elizabeth Harmon LMT, CMCT, a licensed massage therapist, is certified in massage cupping, a modality that dates from Ancient China, Egypt and Greece.

Facts about What Traditional Cupping Is:

The art of cupping developed over time from the original use of hollowed animal horns to drain toxins out of snake bites and skin pustules. Horns evolved into bamboo cups, which were eventually replaced by glass. In traditional use, glass cupping involves the use of a flame to eliminate oxygen from inside a glass cup, then quickly placing the cup on the skin, creating a vacuum which lifts skin and tissue. It is believed by Chinese therapists that if the cup(s) is left from 5 to 15 minutes on the skin, it will dispel stagnation of blood and draw toxins from the body.

Early written records in China that date from 28 A.D. include a traditional Chinese saying: "Acupuncture and Cupping...more than half the ills cured." European and American doctors still widely used cupping into the late 1800's, though cupping's foundation of official use has historically been seen in Chinese hospitals.

Interestingly, the decline into obscurity that the 20th century brought for traditional cupping in the Americas also stimulated an increase in cupping device inventions. Medical supply companies carried cupping sets well into the 1930's and 40's. Many elderly people may remember being "cupped" as children for congestion and pneumonia.

The modern breast pump evolved from the medical use of cups for lactation difficulties. Modern spa equipment for the treatment of cellulite evolved from earlier treatment models.

Traditional Cupping Morphs Into Massage Cupping

Today we have more modern technology for cupping treatments. At Beaverhead Therapy and Massage, vacuum cupping is used with plastic and glass cups, using a hand-held pump allowing for much greater control of the therapy. A vacuum cup is placed on the skin after lotion or massage oils are applied. Suction is applied. The vacuum cup is used to massage the area, along with traditional massage. The treatment is very therapeutic and feels FANTASTIC!

Uses for Cupping:

Cupping therapy can be used to move stagnation, relieve inflammation, and drain/move fluids. The action is similar to the action of fomentations/hot compresses. The mechanism is to draw blood from the arteries to the capillaries. The blood then returns via the veins to be cleansed or disposed of. Note: Cupping is NOT an irritant to the skin or body. It draws the inflammation out but DOES NOT add to it, as can often happen in strictly traditional massage.

Massage cupping bodywork is also used to lift and stretch soft tissue (muscle, fascia/connective, attachments), separate fused tissue layers, soften and release scar tissue, open body drainage systems to aid in decongesting "solid bloat" and increase hydration of tissues. Bones also respond well to treatment.

Cupping has been used extensively for pneumonia and asthma. The respiratory system and phlegm respond very well to massage cupping, from infants to the elderly, and this can safely ease labored breathing. The effect on the nervous system is sedating and is widely used for blood pressure conditions, anxiety, fatigue, insomnia, chronic headache, neuralgia and rheumatism.

Pain relief is quick and long-term injuries and restrictions can release in one or a few treatments. Scar tissue softens quickly. Lymph drainage using massage cupping bodywork can greatly benefit pre- and post-operative conditions and may assist in accelerating the healing process.

The same drainage, breakdown of stagnation and adhesions, will assist in contouring the body and improving the appearance of cellulite.

Your experience at Beaverhead Therapy and Massage will likely be unforgettable. From the aromatherapy to the relaxation music to the entire experience of your chosen massage treatment, your body will respond for days.

Open daily - evenings and Saturdays by appointment. Choose from Face-Lifting and Drainage to Full Body Wraps to Magnetic Reflexology, and many treatments in between. Gift certificates are available.

Note: Pre-Opening Special: All Services ½ Price the last week of January until Feb. 2 - (Beaverhead Therapy and Massage's Official Grand Opening). Don't miss out... Call now to book your appointment this week for an amazing Pre-Opening Special Price and try massage cupping for yourself! Call 660-0702.

STATEMENT ON 6TH JUDICIAL COURT ORDER IN BISON CASE

Western Ag Reporter • Thursday, 17 January 2013

by Bob Hanson • Montana Farm Bureau Federation President

Recently, the Montana Sixth Judicial District

Court issued an order on the bison case filed by the Montana Farm Bureau Federation, the Park County Stockgrowers Association, and Park County. The Montana Farm Bureau Federation is extremely disappointed in the Court's deter-mination that the State of Montana's release of hundreds of bison, infected with a disease that is listed on the bioterrorism agent list, onto thousands of acres of private property, does not violate state law.
The Federation became involved in this case because of the unprecedented action by the State to allow thousands of bison onto private property in Montana instead of managing the bison within Yellowstone Park. The state and federal governments have managed the bison outside of Park County and kept them off private property in Montana for more than 100 years. The court's opinion would seem at first glance to suggest it is now permissible for the State to release diseased animals onto private property.The Court's decision is almost 80 pages long. Our attorneys, officers, and board will have to review it closely to determine the next best step to protect the interests of our members and Montana's ranching industry.The Court in the Order stated, "To impose a duty upon FWP that would require them to 'control' bison in a manner that prevents them from engaging in behaviors that damage property and cause harm is a legislative responsibility, not one of the Courts." Based on current laws, particularly the Montana Environmental Policy Act, Farm Bureau believes the Montana Fish, Wildlife, and Parks (FWP) Department exceeded their current legislative mandate, an argument with which the judge apparently disagreed.Obviously, by this ruling, bison management has again become a very important issue for the Montana legislature to consider in order to protect Montana's livestock industry.

PEARLY WHITES

Along with nearly everything else, toothpaste, of all things has gone up in price rather dramatically. So, in the spirit of economy, here is a toothpaste alternative you can have fun making while you save money and take care of your teeth, whether they are your own or they came from the tooth factory.

Take 1/2 cup powdered pumice, and add to it 1/4 cup glycerin, stirring as you do to form a paste. Add a few drops of oil of peppermint for flavor, and use by dipping the dry bristles of your toothbrush into the container you will store your new toothpaste in.

BEAVERS HAVE TOUGH THIRD QUARTER

The Beavers played Class AA Capital High in Dillon on Saturday night and came up on the short end 44-34.

The Dillon boys were only down by three 22-19 coming out of the locker room at half time. The third quarter they just couldn't get anything in the net and only came out of the quarter with two points. Boyd Jenne had a couple three pointers to lead the team with 10. Troy Scott and Ben Folsom each put seven points on the score board for the Beavers. Caleb Gillis made the only two free throws that the Beavers had for the night. The Bruins had 15 mostly because Dillon was fouling at the end to keep the game going to have a chance at any points.

The Beavers play Thursday at 7:30 in Dillon against Anaconda.

DILLON GIRLS GET KNOCKED OFF BY CAPITAL

The Dillon girls top score came from Cierra Lamey with just five points and Rachael Nye put up four on the afternoon score board.

The Beavers got behind from the start and saw the Bruins take the first quarter lead of 18-3. Dillon will travel to Anaconda on Thursday and certainly hope to do better then the single digit scoring in each quarter they played against Capital.

CLASS A WRESTLING DUALS IN BELGRADE

In round one, the Dillon Beavers went down to Billings Central 33 to 40. Austin Olsen at 130 pinned his man, at 135 Drake Sprinkle got a pin in his match, Lane Boka at 160 came up with a pin, and 215 lb wrestler Josh Harris along with Hwt Donovan Hucke each came up with pins in the round.

In round three, the Beavers were put down hard by Corvallis 51 to 21. The matmen only had one pin from 152 lb. Mick Paffhausen.

Round four the Beavers came out winners 51 over Miles City 30. Pins came from 112 lb. Chance Snellman, 145 lb. Isaak Koslosky, 171 lb. Phil Vial and 215 lb. Josh Harris.

In round five the Beavers again came out on top 42 over Livingston 24. Dillon matmen with pins were Mick Paffhausen at 152 lb. and 215 lb. wrestler Josh Harris.

Have won the title for the weekend, while Dillon ended up

AVALANCHE CENTER

Stay safe while playing in the backcountry this winter and brush up on your avalanche safety skills. On Tuesday, January 22, at 7:00 p.m., Montana Western's School of Outreach will team up with The Friends of the Gallatin National Forest Avalanche Center to offer a Basic Avalanche Awareness Workshop. During this multi-media presentation you will learn to recognize avalanche terrain, how the weather affects the avalanche hazard and the development of the mountain snowpack. It's never too late to brush up on these important skills.

The presentation is FREE and will be held at Montana Western's Lucy Carson Library, room 202.

HOSPITAL & HEALTHCARE

BARRETT HOSIPTAL & HEALTHCARE EXPANDS WITH EAR-NOSE-THROAT SPECIALIST

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare is pleased to announce Ray Kaufman, M.D., who is an Ear Nose and Throat Specialist and Certified Maxillofacial Surgeon as the newest addition to its medical staff. Dr. Kaufman will be available at the Barrett Hospital & HealthCare Clinic on the 2nd and 4th Wednesday of each month. He will provide ENT consultations and surgeries beginning January 23rd.

Dr. Kaufman will provide pediatric surgeries such as tonsillectomies, Eustachian tube insertion for chronic ear infections, adult surgeries such as deviated septum correction, nasal septum repairs, excisions of lesions on the head, face and neck as well as ENT consultations for all age groups.

According to Cynthia White, Director of Provider Services, "We found that many families and patients from Dillon and Beaverhead County were routinely traveling to Butte to see Dr. Kaufman for consultation and surgeries. His presence on our medical staff will be a tremendous addition to our hospital and will be very convenient for our patients".

For more information or to schedule an appointment with Dr. Kaufman call 683-1188.
