WELBORN'S WEEKLY LEGISLATIVE REVIEW

As the third week of the Legislative Session draws to a close, we've seen a couple of lively debates and emotional hearings, that is just part of this process. I will however say that this session seems to be an environment where more are committed to doing the people's work and less about partisan divides. I'm hopeful everyone will continue down this path as the session continues.

On a personal note, I'm standing behind Senator Barrett as a co-sponsor to her SB 180, an act to REPEAL the Eminent Domain legislation passed during the 2011 legislative session. The 2011 measure, as I heard from literally hundreds of you right here in this district, ignores the rights of private property owners, and in turn gives an un-fair advantage to power line developers. I'm all about energy development in our state, but not when developers no longer have to step up and negotiate a fair and just compensation on rights of way across private property. We are simply asking our legislative colleagues to join us in giving property owners a level playing field once again.

Another piece of legislation that I'm co-sponsoring is Senator Jones' education bill, SB 175 I always have and continue to support any notion that puts funding directly to the class room, letting teachers teach, administrators do their job, letting the legislature do our job, and be accountable to the property tax rate payer, and use our vast natural resources as a funding component. Wyoming, as we all agree has great facilities, great teachers, and funding from natural resources to accomplish all the above, while graduating students that have a quality education. I would submit, we have every bit if not better teachers, and students that are primed to learn, now perhaps we will have the benefit of natural resources to bring all of this together.

I look forward to the debate as this moves through the process. But again, I'm proud to have my signature on this groundbreaking piece of legislation.

Finally, let's talk about some of the ideas floating around about property tax relief. There is some talk about a one-time rebate for some property tax payers. That's a great start, but it leaves me with one question. What about folks who rent? Not everyone in Montana is a homeowner. Not all of us pay property taxes. But every Montanan deserves some tax relief. I'm supporting proposals to create both permanent property tax relief that will have a lasting impact on our state, but in addition to that, I'm also in favor of a measure that gives everyone in Montana some relief on their income taxes as well. I feel the best way to rebate back to the tax payer is to not collect the money in the first place.

Next week I will be introducing a piece of legislation HB 87 that would give the Insurance Commissioner in Montana the authority to review health insurance rates. We are only one of two states in the nation that doesn't have this mechanism in place, we also have one of the highest rates for health insurance. It's the belief of many that with this authority to review rates, premiums in Montana will come down just like all other states that have enacted this type of legislation. I also feel its asserts more local control. Currently if a person wants to have rates reviewed in Montana, the only recourse is calling a number in Washington D.C. If we can get this passed in Montana, it would make available our own insurance commissioner to answer that call.

I look forward to continue hearing what's on your mind, please call or e-mail me.

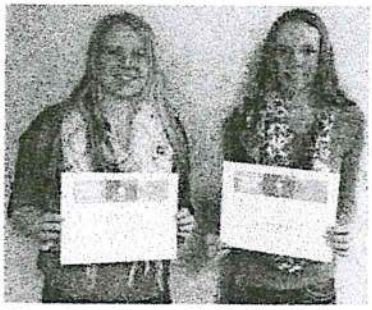
VIOLET RICHARDSON AWARD RECIPIENTS



Courtney Linder & Taylor Nelson

Soroptimist International of Dillon hosted a luncheon to honor two Violet Richardson Award recipients January 22nd. Courtney Linder and Taylor Nelson were awarded $100 each for their volunteer activities . The Violet Richardson Award is given to a young woman between the ages of 14 and 17 who demonstrates caring, compassion, creativity and is committed to making a difference in their community by volunteering.

Courtney Linder volunteers her time at the YMCA, Dillon Public Library, and the Youth Connection Mentoring Program. Courtney served as a camp counselor for the YMCA summer program helping kids learn while doing healthy activities. At the Dillon Library she helped with the summer reading program where she could help the kids with art projects as well as pass on her love of reading. In the Youth Connection Mentoring Program Courtney was involved in the Lunch Buddy program. She was assigned a student in the Elementary School to have lunch with once a week. This program gives the younger children a connection to the high school and an opportunity to have a role model. Courtney's application was sent on to the Northwestern Region division for an opportunity to win an additional award.

Taylor Nelson was also honored for her work with the Dillon Backpack Program and the Youth Connections Mentoring Program. Taylor spends one day a week with her elementary school partner having lunch and discussing classes, activities or whatever comes to mind. The Backpack Program helps kids that may not have enough food at home for over the weekend. She has helped with the "Brake for Breakfast" fundraiser by handing out coffee and a granola bar for a donation.

Both young women are to be commended for their dedication in helping the youth of the Dillon Community.

Soroptimist International of Dillon is a nonprofit organization who help women in the community through education, health, and awareness. If you are interested in more information or would like to join, please call 683-2012.

JOIN US AT THE GRAND OPENING CELEBRATION!

Beaverhead Therapy and Massage, located at 215 E Helena, invites you to our Grand Opening, held February 2nd at 1:00. Come join us for a ribbon-cutting ceremony and light refreshments. Sign up for an awesome door prize (must be present to win) and meet Elizabeth, Dillon's newest massage therapist.

Located next to Adventure Cycle and Sled, we are open daily Monday – Friday, including limited evening and Saturday appointments. Come join us to celebrate!

Beaverhead Therapy and Massage is dedicated to the memory of Elizabeth's father, Norman Ashcraft, who is the inspiration for this business. Norman struggled during an extended illness and sometimes massage was what brought him the most relief. Elizabeth saw first-hand how powerful and therapeutic massage can be.

Elizabeth is certified in the technique of vacuum cupping therapy, a massage modality that has been adapted from an ancient Chinese acupuncture therapy. Don't worry though, no needles.... This is what some of her clients have said:

- "Elizabeth was amazing. This was the most relaxing experience! I can't wait to come back." ~ Kelly O.
- "Wonderful, wonderful experience. Thank you very much. I feel so relaxed and just a good feeling throughout my body. I will be back. ~ Candi and Representative Jeff Welborn.

Organized around the theme of "Montana 4-H: Past, Present, Possibilities", this year's breakfast showcased the Montana PBS documentary 4-H: Six Montana Stories with excerpts from the program. The breakfast also included presentations from one of the youth stars of the documentary and the program's writer/director/producer. This year's event re-emphasized that 4-H is one of the state's premier educational programs that is open to all youth—rural and urban. 4-H members and adults highlighted ways that a 4-H makes a difference in the state.

During the breakfast, 4-H youth and adult volunteers informed legislators about the importance the program plays in their lives and what they have learned as a result of their participation in the 4-H program.

Montanans for 4-H thanks those legislators who took time out of their morning to participate in the breakfast and for investing in MSU Extension which sponsors 4-H around the state.
