DARCY LYNN ELVIDGE

Darcy Lynn Elvidge passed from this life in Spokane, WA in January 2013. She was born July 22, 1949 to John and Shirley Harr in Dillon, Montana.

Darcy graduated from Beaverhead County High School in 1967 and three days later married Dan Eddy and they had three children, Brent, Courtney and Stacy, seven grandchildren and one great-grand child then followed.

She loved her family, animals, travel, massage and nutrition. She and Dan later divorced and she married Dr. Jack Elvidge. They were married seven years before he passed away and she missed him very much.

She always thought of others before herself. Darcy lived a very exciting life full of fun. She will be greatly missed.

She is survived by her family in Washington, her mother Shirley Harr, a brother Wesley Harr from Deer Lodge and half brother Jerry McGahan in Arlee, MT and many neices and nephews.

GRIZZLY BEAR POPULATION

The USFWS as part of an ongoing commitment to use the best available science to manage grizzly bear recovery, the United States Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS) announced in the Federal Register (<http://www.fws.gov/mountain-prairie/species/mammals/grizzly/TempFR03212013.pdf>) that it is requesting public review and input on Proposed Revisions to the Demographic Recovery Criteria for the Grizzly Bear Population in the Greater Yellowstone Area.

According to Grizzly Bear Recovery Coordinator Christopher Servheen, Ph.D., "We are proposing to update portions of Demographic Recovery Criteria 1 and 3 for the Yellowstone grizzly bear population based on new scientific analyses and information. Since these criteria were last updated, new approaches and scientific protocols have been developed." These proposed changes are regarding how grizzly bears in the Yellowstone Ecosystem are counted and not changes in the criteria for delisting."

After receiving and considering public comments and peer review, the final criteria would replace the current Demographic Criteria and would be appended to the Yellowstone chapter of the Grizzly Bear Recovery Plan (U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service 1993) and the Final Conservation Strategy for the Grizzly Bear in the Greater Yellowstone Area," said Servheen.

The specific changes being proposed are:

- Update Criterion 1 to reflect the demographic goal of maintaining a minimum population size of 500 animals and at least 48 females with cubs. Propose to eliminate the criterion's dependence on a specific method (e.g., Chao2) so that improved scientific methods can be rapidly implemented as they become available in peer reviewed literature. Methods used to estimate population size will be documented and detailed in the Application Protocol posted on the Interagency Grizzly Bear Study Team's website.

- Update Demographic Criterion 3 to require sustainable mortality rates. Instead of specifying what the sustainable mortality rates for independent females (at least 2 years old), independent males, and dependent young (<2 years old) are, these rates would be calculated by the Study Team and modified as new data indicates warranted. In order to demonstrate this method will be objective and measurable, it is noted that as of 2012, the sustainable mortality limit for independent females is 7.6% while the limits for independent males and dependent young are 15% and 7.6%, respectively.

- Designate a Monitoring Area within which all demographic criteria are assessed. This requires revision of the area within which mortalities are counted against the mortality limits for independent females and males and dependent young. The area where population size is estimated would be the same area where mortalities are counted. This change would mean that bear mortalities outside the Monitoring Area would no longer count against the sustainable mortality limits, conversely, bears observed outside this Monitoring Area would not be counted toward estimates of population size.

"The initial methods used to calculate the population and mortality estimates for the Yellowstone Ecosystem were designed to address a sparse population in need of recovery. The proposed changes allow us to use the best data available to carefully measure the health of a larger, more robust population," said Servheen.

To learn more about ongoing work being done with grizzly bear recovery in the Yellowstone Ecosystem visit: <http://tinyurl.com/cmmnzw6>. The public comment period is open until May, 21, 2013. Send Comment - Attention: GYA demographic criteria, USFWS, University Hall, Room 309, Missoula, MT 59812.

The Dillon Elks Lodge will have its normal family night on Thursday with Chicken Fried Steak and Chicken Fried Chicken but there will NOT be bingo this week.

SERVICE AWARD RECIPIENTS

The University of Montana Western Alumni Association cordially invites you to honor this year's Dr. Jane Helm Maddock Service Award recipients. Jane Helm Maddock provided 17 years of service to Montana Western as a professor of English and continues to be involved in the campus community by serving on the UMW Foundation Board of Directors. She also established two scholarship endowments to assist UMW students and founded the UMW Honors Program.

We are pleased to announce the recipients of the 2013 Dr. Jane Helm Maddock Service Award are Bill O'Connor and Karyle Contway.

Bill O'Connor was a professor in the Business Department at UMW for 32 years. Karyle Contway worked for UMW in many capacities for over 35 years. Together they have provided over 67 years of service to Montana Western. They also have truly been steadfast supporters and avid ambassadors for Montana Western. If you attend an event on campus, you will more than likely see one or both of them in attendance. They each embody what the Dr. Jane Helm Maddock service award is about: generosity, loyalty and devotion to Montana Western. Bill and Karyle give of their time, money and heart to this campus we all love.

The dinner honoring these two dedicated individuals will be held on Wednesday, April 17, 2013 at 5:30 p.m. in the Lewis & Clark Room of Mathews Hall on the Montana Western campus. The cost to attend is $10 for UMW faculty, staff and community members and $5 for students.

Please RSVP to Roxanne Engellant at (406) 683-7305 by Friday, April 12 if you wish to attend.

Letter to the Editor

It is quite obvious that the Republicans in Washington don't like President Obama. Of course they did not like Carter or Clinton but now their dislike has turned to hate.

Most of the Republicans have done an about face on issues. Before the Affordable Care Act was passed the Republicans widely supported the idea of an individual health care insurance mandate. In the past Republicans always said how people need to take responsibility for themselves but now they don't like that.

Bailing out the auto industry. Republicans once supported this idea but when President Obama said we need to help the auto industry they thought it was a bad idea. The bail out has been a great success and the money has been paid back plus interest.

The nuclear START Treaty which was started by President Ronald Reagan and was resigned by President George H.W. Bush was a great idea. But when President Obama needed to ratify this treaty the Republicans filibustered and said this treaty was a very bad idea. Why did the Republicans change their minds? Ronald Reagan was their hero. But now the same treaty is bad. Why did they change their mind?

Immigration reform or the Dream Act. President Reagan granted amnesty to millions of illegal immigrants in the 1980's and that was fine. Republicans worked on immigration reform under the Bush Administration but could not come to an agreement. Senator McCain and President George W. Bush supported immigration reform. But now all of a sudden it is a bad idea. The new immigration bill is just an extension of the reform President Reagan wanted. Why the change?

Infrastructure spending that would improve America's roads, bridges, rail lines was a very bad idea according to the Republicans. A waste of money. But in the past the Republicans were in favor of a strong American infrastructure. Going back, the Republicans were in favor of building railroads, the Panama Canal, the interstate highway system but now they just want highways, bridges, rail systems to crumble. Why the change?

Civil rights for all. Once Republicans were on the band wagon for civil rights. Republicans ended slavery, they adopted the 13th, 14th, and 15th amendments. It was a Republican Supreme Court that ruled in the Brown Vs Board of Education case. But now the Republicans civil rights for all is on the back burner of the Republicans. I wonder what happened? Just Christian white males!

This is just a few of the issues Republicans have changed their minds since President Obama has been President. Is it because President Obama has a pleasant personality, communicates well and people who meet him like him? Is it because President Obama has a nice family, an intelligent outgoing wife and two nice children? Or is it some other factor that I did not mention? I really wonder!!!
