Scot Shuler Selected as New Dillon District Ranger

Scot Shuler joins the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest as the District Ranger for the Dillon Ranger District. Scot comes from the Gardiner Ranger District on the Gallatin National Forest. He is a graduate of Colorado State University with a bachelor's degree in fisheries biology and a master's degree in stream fish ecology. He has worked on the Gallatin and Custer National Forests.

In addition to his career with the U.S. Forest Service he has worked as an aquatic consultant and as a hunting guide. He began his career in 1991 as a fisheries biologist and is currently a Resource assistant on the Gardiner Ranger District.

Shuler has been actively involved in a variety of topics including: fisheries management; managed recreation; wilderness; trails and outfitter guide programs. In his spare time Scot likes to explore the back country with his horses and mules.

"I am excited for this new opportunity and the challenges that come with managing a complex district," said Shuler. "I'm looking forward to continuing to build relationships between the Ranger District, local community and many key interest groups who care about the management of their public lands."

"Scot will be a great addition to the Beaverhead-Deerlodge NF Leadership team and to the community of Dillon," said Forest Supervisor Dave Myers. "We are very fortunate to gain someone with Scot's depth of natural resource experience which will benefit the management of the forest."

Scot's daughter Amy is a senior at Montana State University. Shuler will take over the reins as the new District Ranger April 8 in Dillon.

FS SEEKS COMMENTS ON PROPOSED BUTTE HIGHLAND HAUL ROUTE

The Butte Ranger District is seeking public comments in regards to a Plan of Operations (POO) submitted by Butte Highlands JV, LLC of Butte, Montana to use National Forest System roads for activities that are incidental to their mining operations on private land. The initial scoping notice for the Butte Highland Mine Road Use project was sent out July 18, 2012 requesting public comment on their proposed activity. As a result of this scoping, 16 comments were received from interested parties. These comments and concerns will be considered in the analysis. Since the initial scoping notice, several changes and additions to the proposed action have been submitted by Butte Highland Joint Venture (BHJV).

The Butte District Ranger will decide whether or not to approve the BHJV proposed action as submitted or with changes and/or mitigating measures developed in response to specific resource concerns and public scoping. Based upon current knowledge of this project an environmental assessment will be prepared.

BHJV proposes to haul unprocessed ore approximately eight miles west along Forest Service road #84 (Highland Road) to the National Forest boundary in section 20, Township 1 North, Range 8 West. From the National Forest boundary, they plan to build a road across private land to a facility they will build near the Feely exit off Interstate #15 to transfer the ore from 30-ton center-articulated trucks to highway legal haul trucks. From there, they will haul the ore to Golden Sunlight Mine, near Whitehall for further processing. The Forest Service will not make any decisions on actions proposed on private lands.

Hauling of the unprocessed ore would occur during two eight-hour shifts, Mon. through Fri., year round. Approximately four 30-ton center-articulated trucks would each haul approximately five loads per day (20 roundtrips per day total) from the mine site to the transfer area. They anticipate starting operations soon after they receive approval on their operating plan from Montana Department of Environmental Quality and approval of the Plan of Operations from the Forest Service. The expected duration of this proposal is five years.

For safety reasons, BHJV proposes to improve approximately eight miles of the Highland Road under Forest Service jurisdiction and widen select sections of road, as necessary. The haul route would be widened to 16 feet in narrow places. Approximately 77 pull out areas up to 28 feet wide would be constructed. The location of the pullouts is determined primarily by areas that have limited visibility. The turnouts would measure approximately 75 feet long, 12 feet wide with 50 foot approaches on each end. The total disturbance created by the turnouts proposed would be approximately 2.65 acres.

Additionally, BHJV proposes improvements along the eight miles of the Highland Road under Forest Service jurisdiction. Currently, four culverts along this section of Highland Road are undersized and are not adequately designed for their hydrologic setting. Prior to hauling activities, BHJV proposes to replace the inadequately sized culverts, by replacing them with larger, higher quality and appropriately designed culverts. The replacement of culverts at two stream crossings would be designed to promote channel development inside the pipe, bed load transport, woody debris passage and accommodate aquatic organisms. These design features would increase the potential for fish and aquatic organism passage, resulting in an improvement to the aquatic habitat. Soft spots where water typically springs through the road surface in April through July would be repaired and ditches would be maintained and re-established. Road aggregate would be placed on the entire road surface. Noxious weed monitoring and control would be implemented along the haul route. Snow plowing, during the winter months, would be conducted, as necessary, to keep the road open for mining operations.

A Safety Plan for the haul route and mine access will be developed and submitted to the USFS for their review and approval. Some of the many considerations of the Safety Plan will include: safe operation of the haul trucks along Highland Road and delivery trucks and vans along Roosevelt Drive, including provisions for traffic control measures, use of radio communication equipment, speed limits and signage as appropriate.

Additional information about this proposed project may be found online at: <http://www.fs.fed.us/nepa/fs-usda-pop.php/?project=35069>. Comments may be submitted in writing by April 20, 2013 and should address specific concerns for the project. Comments may be submitted to: District Ranger, Butte Ranger District, 1820 Meadowlark Lane, Butte, MT 59701; or e-mailed to: comments-northern-beaverhead-deerlodge@fs.fed.us put Butte Highland Mine Road Use project in the subject line; or faxed to (406) 494-0269. WORKSITE HEALTH PROMOTION WORKSHOP

"Worksite Health Promotion Doesn't Need to be Complicated:
Keep it Simple and Effective"- May 1, 2013- Best Western GranTree
Inn Bozeman, Montana

Program Description: The wellness industry is changing. Health Care Reform calls for employers to take action regarding employee wellness. However, if not implemented correctly, worksite wellness programs will fail to improve employee health and can waste employer time and money. Done well, these programs will become a valuable business strategy that adds to employee productivity and the bottom line. During this one day workshop, Dr. Steven Aldana, CEO of "Wellsteps" and a nationally recognized wellness expert, will show you how to create a wellness program and a healthy worksite culture that has both reach and impact for both small and large employers. Dr. Aldana's wellness books, Culprit & The Cure and Culture Clash, have sold more than 1 million copies and are used by more than 4,500 companies across the U.S. Also during the workshop, three Montana employers will be profiled, showing how these local employers successfully implemented wellness programs.
Employers and business professionals will get step-by-step guidance on how to start and improve their own wellness programs and leave with the knowledge of what it takes to create a healthy worksite culture.

Featured Speaker: Steven Aldana, PhD, CEO Wellsteps, Mapleton, UT.
Steven Aldana is one of the nation's foremost experts on healthy living and worksite wellness. During his more than 20 years in academia, Dr. Aldana authored more than 75 scientific papers and six books on health risk management, healthy living, and health promotion programs. Currently, Dr. Aldana is the CEO of Wellsteps, a worksite wellness solution that leads the nation in wellness program deployment and engagement.

Who Should Attend:

Health Promotion professionals responsible for implementing wellness strategies within their organizations. Attendees will include:
Business Owners and Executives, Human Resource Professionals,
Benefit Professionals, Health, Safety and Wellness Professionals, Public School Administrators, Educators, Insurance Professionals and Benefit Consultants.
