ONE WOLF LAWSUIT DROPPED

A group of environmentalist have dropped one of the two lawsuits that are challenging last year's decision by federal officials to turn the management of wolves in Wyoming over to that state. Both lawsuits say the state's wolf managment plan doesn't provide enought protection for the animals. The plan classifies wolves as predators that can be shot on site in most of the state and allows regulated hunting elsewhere.

The group decided that it wasn't efficient to use the resources available to have two lawsuits over the same thing, so they dropped the one in federal court in Cheyenne and have one pending in federal court in Washington, D.C.

It's never to early to plan for graduation.

TAX FREEDOM DAY

By: MJ

Tax Freedom Day is the day when you have earned enough money to pay your total tax bill for the year according to the Tax Foundation's calculations. If you think about your taxes in comparison to your 8 hour work day that would start at 9 a.m. you work until around 11:20 each day for the government. After 11:30 you are working for yourself and your family. Another way to look at Tax Freedom Day is that every pay check you earn until April 18th +/- you gave to the government. Tax Freedom Day varies from state to state.

Throughout the year we continue to pay hidden taxes. Example: you pay federal and state taxes every time you gas your vehicle up. There will be more new taxes this year due to Obama Health Care reform.

The Tax Foundation is only one group that calculates tax freedom day; Center on Budget and Policy Priorities (CBPP) is another group. Each organization has a goal they want to achieve with their own methodologies and calculations. It is important to recognize what the motivation is behind the groups doing the calculations. There are many ways to spin figures -- just depends on your agenda.

History: According to the Tax Foundation in the year of 1900 the tax burden was 5.9± percent and in April, 2012 it had increased to 29.2± percent.

HR Strategies for ADA / FMLA Compliance

The interplay between ADA and FMLA creates more chaos as employers are faced with an ever changing maze of laws and regulations for administering leave requests. Get updated on what's going on from an expert in Montana and Federal leave regulations.

John Pavao
Montana State EEO and ADA Coordinator presents:

- Significant changes to the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), including provisions for employment, state and local governments, and businesses
- The definition of "disability," including key terminology, and who is a qualified applicant or employee under the ADA
- Questions employers can and cannot ask during various phases of employment
- An employer's responsibility to provide reasonable accommodations, how to recognize accommodation requests, the process for identifying effective accommodations, and when an employer does not have to provide an accommodation
- Provisions of the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA), including recent changes to the Act, and interface between the FMLA and ADA

The constantly evolving laws governing leave and disability discrimination allow no room for error or miscalculation. Attend this seminar and learn how to efficiently handle the difficult and confusing interplay of ADA and FMLA in the workplace.

MT WATER COURT
Beaverhead River (Basin 41B)

By: MJ

Montana Water Court has entered its Preliminary Decree for Beaverhead River (Basin #41B). The Decree is now available for your review at the Clerk of District Court: Beaverhead County, Dillon, MT.

It is important for you to know if your water right today is correct. Elements of your claim may have been changed because of information the DNRC obtained during examination. The Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation (DNRC) examined all the claims.

If you believe your water right claims or someone else's water right claims in this Decree do not reflect their historical (before July 1, 1973) beneficial use, you can file an objection with the Water Court. The forms you must use to file an objection (Water Court Form) can be obtained at the Clerk of District Court. Mail your objections to Montana Water Court, PO Box 1389, Bozeman, MT 59771-1389. They must be received by Nov. 5, 2013.

Call the DNRC Helena office at 406-444-0560 or call the Water Courts' toll free number at 1-800-624-3270 if you have questions.

TENNIS INDOORS QUITE SLOW

The Southwestern A divisional tennis tournament started Thursday in Missoula. The Dillon girls had Morgan Peterson advancing to the singles semifinals but team mates Morgan Evans and Janet Moore lost their quarterfinal matches and Taylor Bighorn dropped her fist one to fall into a consolation match. In doubles Kansas Suenram/Whitney Southham and Holly Hansen/Taryn Judge both moved into semifinals while Caitlyn Feldt/Timber McQuiston lost their quarterfinal to fall into consolation play.

The divisional tennis went indoors Friday to the Canyons Athletic Club in Hamilton due to rain, but with only two courts the pace was very slow. The Beaver boys were knocked out early but the girls doubles Kansas Suenram/Whitney Southam moved into doubles finals with a 6-0, 6-2 win over teammates Holly Hansen/Taryn Judge. Hansen and Judge went to the consolation match on Saturday. The double team of Feldt/McQuiston lost their Hamilton match up 7-6 (4), 4-6, 11-9 Friday evening. With Saturday came some losses. The Corvallis team won both the boys and girls titles to sweep the divisional tournament. The Beaver girls came in second with 37 points behind the Blue Devils with 56. There are four girls from doubles teams going on to state for the Beavers. The Beavers top doubles team of Southam/Suenram went down in three sets 6-7 (3), 6-4, 6-3 to Corvallis' Madruga/Lengyel. It was the Dillon doubles team third three-set loss to this Corvallis team. They, however, along with team mates Hansen/Judge are headed to state.

The Montana Standard reported that the Dillon team of Southam/Suenram had to battle the unruly and unsportsmanlike Corvallis fan congregation. They said the fans heckled the Beaver girls and even demanded a line judge to watch over the Beaverhead County girls' calls - (not allowed by sport rule, only coaches or players can). The judge was put in place regardless and despite the Blue Devils having made two very questionable calls earlier in the match, the Dillon duo would press on and push the match to the brink before succumbing.

"I am so proud of my girls, we won the class act award for sure," Woodward said. "I am so proud of who they are. How hard they play. They did all they could do."
