What Global Warming? 2012 Data Confirms Earth In Cooling Trend

By Barbara Hollingsworth

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration recently released its "State of the Climate in 2012" report, which states that "worldwide, 2012 was among the 10 warmest years on record."

But the report "fails to mention [2012] was one of the coolest of the decade, and thus confirms the cooling trend," according to an analysis by climate blogger Pierre Gosselin.

"To no one's surprise, the report gives the reader the impression that warming is galloping ahead out of control," writes Gosselin. "But their data shows just the opposite."

Although the NOAA report noted that in 2012, "the Arctic continues to warm" with "sea ice reaching record lows," it also stated that the Antarctica sea ice "reached a record high of 7.51 million square miles" on Sept. 26, 2012.

And the latest figures for this year show that there's been a slowdown of melting in the Arctic this summer as well, with temperatures at the North Pole well below normal for this time of year. Meteorologist Joe Bastardi calls it "the coldest ever recorded."

The Associated Press had to retract a photo it released on July 27 with the caption, "The shallow meltwater lake is occurring due to an unusually warm period."

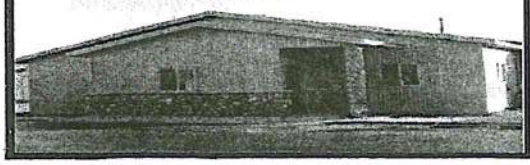

"In fact, the water accumulates in this way every summer," AP admitted in a note to editors, adding that the photo was doubly misleading because "the camera used by the North Pole Environment Observatory has drifted hundreds of miles from its original position, which was a few dozen miles from the pole."

NOAA also reported that the "average lower strastospheric temperature, about six to ten miles above the Earth's surface, for 2012 was record or near-record cold, depending on the dataset" even while the concentrations of greenhouse gases, including carbon dioxide, continued to increase.

"Even with all this data manipulation, the trend is down as shown by this Hadley global plot," writes Joseph D'Aleo, former director of meteorology at The Weather Channel. (See D'Aleo - Real Story About Temps.pdf)

"Last year was the 8th warmest but 7th coldest since 1998. They explain it away with the predominance of La Ninas or a solar blip, but say it was the warmest decade nonetheless, so stop questioning us," he said

On August 7th, the Danish newspaper Jyllands-Posten quoted Irish sola expert Ian Elliott predicting that lower levels of sunspot activity over the nex few years "indicates that we may be on the path to a new little ice age."

"If you think scientists just couldn't get any more incompetent, ther think again. NOAA scientists even appear to believe that cold event are now signs of warming," Gosselin points out.

"When one carefully reads the report, we find that the NOAA findings actually do confirm precisely what the skeptics have been claiming all along:

1. The Earth has stopped warming.

2. The climate models exaggerated future warming [caused by CO2 climate sensitivity is much lower than we first thought.

"That's the real issue at hand," he added.

Turning the tide in your life:
By: MJ

Are you involved in a relationship where there is a clash o wills or lots of tension & stress...? Many of us find ourselves ir this situation because we are complaining, applying pressure to a mate or we are critical and ridicule our mate. We find ourselves with a troubled relationships.

Try something new. 1) Agree with anything your mate says o does. Agree with them when they say, "your relationship is hope less." Do not defend yourself - just agree and shut up. 2) Ac perfectly happy & agree with the status quo. 3) Stop pressuring stop criticizing & complaining.

Studies have shown that when you practice the above listed techniques it releases the clash of wills. You can't do this only part of the time or for only a week or two. It is a long term com mitment.

Love is the ability and willingness to allow those that you care for to be what they choose for themselves, without any insistence that they satisfy you. Dr. Wayne Dyer

HISTORY MYSTERIES OF DILLON!

A fundraising event to benefit the Beaverhead County Museun is being presented on Saturday, August 17, from 1:00 to 3:00 in th afternoon by the Beaverhead County 4-H. The Museum preserve the thousands of stories of the citizens who have walked, worked, an dreamed and made this town what it is today. The students wish t help the Museum, and to do that, they will be bringing some of those citizens back for a visit!

Dillon's history is loaded with mysterious facts! For instance who was the great-niece of Harriet Beecher Stowe? (She knew Mar Twain when she was a young girl!) What amount did Richard Dea con ask investors to pay for his ranch? (The city of Dillon is nov located there.) Do you know the business owner who spoke softl and carried a small whip? Can you name the person (the owner o 42 hats!) who helped to create the Beaverhead County Museum an preserve Bannack? Which teacher (yes, a teacher!) rode a bicycl that had a gun holster attached?

You can solve these History Mysteries and meet the historical fig ures who inspired them.

These characters, and more, will come alive through the talents of th Beaverhead County 4-H Theater Arts Group & Friends. During tha time, there will be no admission charge, but free-will donations wil be very appreciated.

There will also be a display showing the history of 4-H in the stat of Montana for the last one hundred years. To make this terrifi event even more wonderful, the 4-H Junior Leaders will be servin free homemade ice cream as well!

Come, join us for an afternoon of history, mystery, ice cream an fun!

Kelly is a 2 year-old, spayed, English Setter cross. Kelly is ready for a forever home.

Zoe is a 1 ½ year-old, spayed Boxer. Zoe is a wonderful brown & white purebred boxer girl. She is only 15 months old and is looking for a family!

Pixie is a 1 year-old, spayed, Schnauzer cross. Pixie is waiting for someone special to take her for walks.

Krissy is a 1 year-old, spayed, Terrier cross. If you're not with a terrier's mannerisms you might be in for a surprise. Terriers are very energetic with about 89% bounce and 11% adorable, challenging, and wonderful pets.

We are into kitten season. Call the shelter to find out if any are available for adoption.

To get more information about these great pets or any of the other wonderful animals at the BVHD Animal Shelter call 683-8119 or stop in to visit at 80 Lagoon Lane. The shelter is open Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, Friday, & Saturday. We are closed on Wednesday and Sunday.

Please support your local Animal Shelter; every little bit helps.
