John F. Gutcheck

After fighting a brief illness, John F. Gutcheck, 61 passed away at home, Monday November 18th.

His dedication to the City of Dillon lasted over 34 years.

His 30 year career with the Dillon Police Dept. began March 5th 1980 as a patrol officer, hired by the late Ray Lynch. There was one stipulation upon his hiring, he would shave and get a haircut.

John worked diligently at his career, learning anything that would help insure the safety and protection of the citizens of Dillon and Beaverhead County. The DARE program and finger printing the young children of the community was a special time in his life. Upon his retirement on Oct 31, 2009 as Police Chief, John was sworn in as the Dillon City Judge. He loved the challenges and was tested by learning a different side of the law.

John was born in Anaconda on October 10, 1952 to Robert and Joyce Gutcheck. He spent most of his childhood playing behind the Anaconda Foundry below the C Hill. He loved to construct forts and play in the dirt with his trucks. He continued to play in the dirt with his grandson this last summer.

All of his life he loved fishing, hunting, hiking and enjoying all that Montana could provide. He learned to tie flies from his father as well as Wire a house. He enjoyed spending hours in the reloading room creating the perfect round for his sons rifles and passing on his knowledge of reloading.

John is survived by his wife of 37 years, Paulette, his son Nicholas and grandson Johnathan, his mother Joyce and brother Glenn, sisters Marilyn (Dennis) Dick, Chris (Steve) Arveschoug, sister in law Marla (Larris) Allick and many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his father, Robert and in laws Marv and Betty Eccleston.

John's compassion and devotion to his family, his community and his careers were much admired. His last words were Do not be sad, I am with family and friends. I have to walk over the mountain to see what is on the other side. Remember walk with God and never lose hope. I will be waiting and watching.

The family asks you to join in celebration of John's life at 11:00 on November 22nd with a visitation the night before from 5 - 8 PM at the Brundage Funeral Home. A Reception is to follow at the National Guard Armory instead of the Lutheran Church. Donations are requested to the Beaverhead County Animal Shelter. A guestbook is available on-line at www.brundagefuneralhome.com

There's Montana the state, and now there's "Montana" the novel, too, in the form of a murder mystery set on the Rocky Mountain Front.

"Montana" introduces readers to Lola Wicks, a war correspondent and investigative reporter trying to rebuild her life after the shock and humiliation of being downsized.

Lola heads to Montana for some R&R at a friend's cabin, only to find her friend shot to death. The local sheriff seems young and inexperienced, and Lola has no faith in his ability to solve the crime. She sets out to do so herself. But the surefooted journalist who deftly negotiated Afghanistan's deadly terrain finds herself frighteningly off-balance in this forgotten corner of her own country.

Lola's lone-wolf style doesn't work in a place where the harsh landscape and extreme isolation compel people to rely upon each other in ways she finds unsettling. Ultimately she comes to truly care about the people she meets in Montana, only to miss the warning signals that her own life is in danger.

Reviewers praised "Montana." Publishers Weekly, in a starred review, termed it "an outstanding first novel," saying that "believable action complements razor-sharp observations of people and scenery."

Library Journal, also in a starred review, named "Montana" Debut of the Month in October and said "breathless pacing, strong characterizations, and a nuanced plot blend into an unforgettable read. With its strong sense of place and an intriguing ethnic character mix, consider for fans of Lori Armstrong, C.J. Box, and Wayne Arthurson."

And the Missoulian called it "an entertaining, well-paced page-turner with mounting tension and steady suspense... (that) gallops to a thrilling, fiery finish."

A veteran journalist, Gwen Florio has covered stories ranging from the shootings at Columbine High School, the trials of Oklahoma City bombers Timothy McVeigh and Terry Nichols, as well as the glitz of the Miss America pageant and the more practical Miss Navajo contest, whose contestants slaughter a sheep.

She's reported from Afghanistan, Iraq and Somalia, as well as Lost Springs, Wyoming (population three). Her journalism has been nominated for the Pulitzer Prize three times, and her short fiction nominated for the Pushcart Prize. She lives in Missoula, where until recently she covered crime for The Missoulian.

"Dakota," her sequel to "Montana," is scheduled for release in March 2013. "Dakota" follows Lola to the Bakken oilfields in search of answers after the death of a young woman from the Blackfeet Nation who had ties to the oil patch.

Florio will read from "Montana" and sign copies on Thursday, Nov. 21, at 5 p.m. at The Bookstore in Dillon. For a schedule of other readings, and for more information about "Montana," see gwenflorio.com

History

In 1995 Becky Kendall began wondering what people in Dillon without families do for Thanksgiving Dinner. She noticed that other communities often held large dinners open to the public. The following year, she and her husband Dave chaired the first Community Thanksgiving Dinner for Dillon with the help of donations from stores, restaurants and volunteers. That first year they served over 200 people at St. Rose Family Center and delivered 100 meals to shut-ins. Becky and Dave continued to chair the event through 2000 and then Jill Pulaski and Tommy Kane ran the dinner from 2001-2003. Sam and Barb Ywesuk were chairpersons in 2004 and 2005. The Dillon Ministerial Association took over the project in 2006 and continue to organize this event with the help of 8 church congregations and numerous other volunteers. The Ministerial Association is grateful to be a part of this growing community service - 37 turkeys were roasted in 2011, 44 last year, and there will be 49 turkeys for this year's event!

OBAMACARE OR OBAMASNARE

Should I go on the Exchange? Yes, with a great big "if". If your Federal Poverty level is less than 400%. What is my FPL and do I qualify for a subsidy? Google...subsidy calculator/the Henry Kaiser...., scroll down and answer the seven questions, click Submit. The results are shown immediately, no personal information is required. If you qualify for a government Subsidy you may want to go through the Exchange. Currently there are three companies willing to offer insurance through Obama's Exchange in Montana.

If you are among the 20,000 people in Montana who have received you cancelation notice and do not qualify for a subsidy you could save 30 to 50% over our current premium. Example; age 62 canceled policy premium $1,100 per month, the Silver 1 [HSA qualified] will be $650 effective Jan. 1, 2014.

If you do not qualify for a subsidy you will be better off to avoid going through the exchange. The real question is; Do I want to be included in that high risk group? Think about the Risk factor of the group that have the Exchange as they only option for Health Insurance.
