UMW Women's Basketball

The University of Montana Western women's basketball team hits the road and heads to Idaho. They will be taking the court versus College of Idaho in Nampa, Idaho, and then travel to Caldwell, Idaho to take on division two Northwest Nazarene.

The Yotes are currently 0-4, and the UMW ladies have faced them once already this season and won by a score of 65-56. It will be a great test to see how the ladies have improved and how they adjust to a familiar foe. In the first game the Yotes Erica Martinez stung the Bulldogs for 19 points while Elisha Hensey added 16 of her own. Chakala Carthen added 12 points but cleaned up on the glass grabbing 14 total rebounds and 11 of those were on the defensive end. Meanwhile, the bulldogs were led by Kaci Matthies' 19 points and 9 rebounds. Sammie Bignell added 17 points, 8 rebounds, and 5 assists to go along with Roxy Thurman's 12 points and 9 rebounds.

"This is a big weekend for us. We will be playing 2 true road games in row for the first time all season," said coach Lindsay Woolley. "Last year we didn't perform well on the road and has been a major area of focus for us during the earlier part of the year. College of Idaho is playing their first home game so I am sure they will be fired up and ready to go. The played Westminster and MT Tech tough and have improved quite a bit in the last few weeks. NNU is ranked #3 in the GNAC (NCAA D2) and presents a great challenge for us."

In the second game of the weekend the UMW Bulldogs face Northwest Nazarene. The Crusaders are currently 3-0 and are second in their respective conference, the Great Northwest Athletic Conference in points per game averaging 79.3 points with a +21.3 scoring margin. They are also ranking number two in the conference in turnover margin. Two players that the Bulldog defense will have to control are Megan Hingstrom averaging 20.0 points per game, which ranks her fourth in the conference in scoring, and Chelsie Luke who is averaging 16.3 points per game.

The Lady Bulldogs enter the game with a mark of 4-0. Sammi Bignell is averaging 22.5 points per game which is tops in the Frontier Conference. Kaci Matthies leads the Frontier Conference shooting a gaudy 71.9% from the field. The Montana Western defense is allowing 50.50 points per game and their opponents are shooting 41% on the season.

Coach Woolley says that, "these games will be great indicators for us in the early part of the season."

President cost to tax payers.On this page 11/20/2013 was an article about how much the President of the United States costs the taxpayers..You are right the President of the United States costs on the average $1.4 billion a year. And this is just the tip of the iceberg.The cost of Senators and Representatives for just their salary is $95.8 million a year. And most of the time it is a part time job.But wait there is more: with benefits, staff, health care, and who knows what the estimate is $6 billion dollars a year. And what do we get for that money? What a dumb question!!I know President Obama gets criticized every time he goes golfing. But we forget that the President before him, George W.
Bush took 977 vacation days, including 77 trips to Crawford Texas. He went to Camp David 487 days. His total vacation time cost the taxpayers some $4 billion dollars. Yes, Presidents are expensive. We will add up President Obama's expense when his term is over.But wait there is more! President George W. Bush and wife Laura made 7 trips to Africa, all on taxpayers money. That cost taxpayers some $100 million dollars for each trip. Yes!!
Presidents cost the U.S. taxpayers a lot of money.And the Conservatives say they want smaller government.
Smaller for whom??

CITY HAPPENINGS

By: Lynn Westad

The meeting was called to order with all members present. It was a rather routine night of the council taking care of city business. The Police Chief was pleased to present to the council that the one year probation period for Ceth Haggard had passed and he wished to have the council affirm his permanent position. The council so voted unanimously in favor. The second reading was done on an ordinance combining some council committees. This change will become effective in 30 days. The vote was 6 to 2 with Dan Nye and Randy Gustine voting no. This improvement on committees which is strictly a council function should allow the council members to work more efficiently and effectively. Also approved was the Task Order to continue the improvement of manholes within the City. Thirteen were improved this year so the improvements are continuing. A resolution to annex the Ray Lynch Park into the City was approved. Hearings will follow later.

A brief report was received from Attorney Gilbert. The Warner matter was tried again last week and all are waiting for the Judge's decision. Let's hope a decision is received soon and that it is the end of this matter. The Zoning Commission advised that a hearing will be held on Dec. 2 on Zoning Compliance Fees. No library minutes but minutes from the Tree Board were approved. Judiciary minutes were approved.

Water & Sewer Committee minutes were approved and water lines will be taken out to the Park but no sewer at this time. The committee recommended a budget for water line to Ray Lynch Park and it was approved.

The Ad Hoc Committee met with the representatives of the Cubs and they are putting plans together for the ball field. An agreement between the City and the Cubs will be drafted. This is a great project and if you are interested in supporting and participating in the project just contact the Cubs.

And now for a short advertisement. There are openings on several boards. They all do interesting work and are not that time consuming. Just contact the Mayor. Positions are open on:

Library Board, Planning Board, Zoning Commission, Board of Adjustment, Tree Board

HARVEST DIPS SLIGHTLY DURING FOURTH WEEKEND OF BIG GAME SEASON

Nearly 1,500 hunters passed through the four operating check stations in Region 3 during the fourth weekend of the big game season. Hunter success fell slightly from the previous week with weather playing a key role in harvest. Blowing snow and dangerous roads hampered efforts in the Upper Madison, while wind and fog hit hunters venturing out in Park County. Meanwhile, success rates went up to the north which saw dryer and milder conditions.

The Silver City check station saw the most hunters (514) and a jump from last week's harvest rate of 3.1% (hunters with game) to 7%. Most of that success came in the form of mule deer bucks (15).

Harvest rates were the highest in the Shields Valley (Clyde Park station) where hunters harvested 16 white-tailed deer, 15 mule deer, and 5 elk.

Hunters didn't see the same results as the first few weekends at south of Ennis. Success dropped from 7.6% to 5.2%. Notably, the Cameron station also checked in two cow moose which were taken in the Red Rocks area, and a black wolf from the Bear Creek area.

The Divide check station saw very similar numbers to the prior weekend with 238 hunters (compared to 249 in the third weekend) and the same harvest rate (7.6%).

The general deer and elk season runs through Dec. 1.

Montana Moving to New High School Equivalency Exam Last Date for GED Testing in Montana is December 21

In March of this year, the Board of Public Education supported a recommendation from Superintendent Juneau to enter into a contract with Educational Testing Service (ETS) to develop a new Montana High School Equivalency Exam, HiSET, to replace the GED test. December 21, 2013, will be the last day for GED testing in Montana as the state moves to the new HiSET exam. Beginning January 2, 2014, test takers will be able to combine individual GED subject test scores from 2002 to 2013 with HiSET scores if they are unable to complete all five sections of the GED test in 2013. Test takers should contact the testing centers nearest them to find out the last testing date in their area for the GED.

"Montanans who are looking to better their economic circumstances with a high school equivalency diploma are going to have a high quality, affordable option with the new HiSET exam," said Superintendent Juneau. "We want to make this transition as smooth as possible for test takers, which is why it was important to allow them to combine their completed portions of the GED with the new HiSET exam."

In March 2011, GEDTS announced that the new GED test available in 2014 would cost $120 and would only be computer-based. Any retakes of the exam would cost $24. Montanans currently pay $55 to take the GED exam and $7-$14 to retake portions of the exam.

In response, the Office of Public Instruction brought together a panel of experts from across the state to review proposals from three different vendors. These experts represented Adult Basic Education programs, Job Corps, GED examiners, Dept. of Labor, Dept. of Corrections and higher education. The panel also included a member of the Board of Public Education. The panel of experts recommended to Superintendent Juneau that Montana move forward with a contract with ETS.

ETS's HiSET exam will cost $50, and up to two retests in the same calendar year are included at no additional cost. Additionally, ETS will offer both a computer-based exam and a paper and pencil exam and allow the test to be administered at existing testing locations, ensuring a smooth transition to the new exam.

In addition to Montana, eight other states have made the decision

I would like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude to those who supported me through my campaign. I appreciate your votes and confidence in me. I appreciate the opportunity to serve as your mayor for the last three terms. I want to offer a special thanks to my staff and dedicated employees for their contribution to our success. Thank you to all the members of the Council for your community service and dedication. I hope the next administration has as much support as I have experienced. I would consider serving as your mayor at the next opportunity.
