HENRY WARREN STISH, 89

Henry Warren Stish, 89, of Dillon, MT quietly and peacefully passed away at home on Thursday, December 5, 2013, surrounded by family and friends. He was a beloved father, grandfather, great-grandfather, teacher, professor, fisherman, WWII veteran, bowler, golfer, coach, referee and football fan. Henry loved outdoor activities, especially golf and fishing.

He made four holes-in-one and took several salmon fishing trips to British Columbia.

Henry is survived by his wife of 65 years Patricia (Pat) Ann Lenahan Stish, his daughters Marcia (Dick) McCracken, MaryLou (David) Wilson and Peggy (Mike) Naegele; his grandchildren Brad Naegele, Brendan Naegele, Megan (Burke) Nelson and Ryan (Jenny) McCracken; great-grandchildren Danika Nelson, Mckall Nelson, Liam McCracken and Colin McCracken.

Henry was born July 13, 1924 in Hibbing, Minnesota. He was the son of Henry and Lola Stish and grew up in Nashwauk, Minnesota, where his father worked in the mining industry and worked the family farm. He attended local schools except for one year when he attended a one-room school in a coal mining camp in North Dakota. Following graduation from Nashwauk high school in 1942 he attended Bemidji State Teacher's College until entering military service in May of 1943 when he attended North Texas State Teacher's College in the Army Specialized Training Program. Henry served in the 103rd Cactus Division; 410th Infantry Battalion, Rifle Company in the European Theatre until November 1945. After serving his country in WWII, he returned to Bemidji State College and received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1948 in science and physical education. In March of 1948 he married Patricia Ann Lenahan and took off for the mountains of Montana. He continued his graduate school education at the University of North Dakota and received his Masters of Education degree in school administration in 1954. Henry received three National Science Foundation summer institutes plus a full year 1961-62 institute at the University of North Dakota.

Henry's teaching career spanned six decades and started in St. Ignatius, MT in 1948 where he taught science and PE and his 6-man football team won the Class C State Championship. In 1951 he moved to Stevensville, MT where he continued teaching, served as principal, then as superintendent and was responsible for oversight of the planning, construction and equipping a new high school building. In 1962

Thanks to Kiwanis volunteers and the MT Youth Challenge Cadets for making the display an outstanding part of Dillon's Christmas scene. Once again the Kiwanis is looking for help in acquiring new lights to add to the display and funds to off set the cost of electricity. BCHS WINTER CONCERT

The Beaverhead County High School Music Department would like to invite the public to the annual Winter Concert Wednesday, December 11, 2013, at 7:30 p.m. The program in the high school auditorium will feature all choral groups with the brass choir beginning the festivities with pre-concert carols.

The concert will feature holiday carols and songs from around the world, traditional winter pieces, and selections from other December holidays. All choirs will open the program with a processional, "Medieval Kyrie" by current composer Vijay Singh. "Petit Enfant" will be performed by the Treble Chorus and Teen Tones. Hanukkah selections "Ose Shalom" and "Hanerot Halalu" will be performed by the Treble Chorus and Men's Chorus respectively. Russian-born American composer, Irving Berlin, is said to be the "greatest song writer of all times". His familiar "White Christmas" will be sung by the Sweet Adeline's in a Barbershop style and the Barbershop quartet will sing "Jingle Bells". The Teen Tones repertoire will include caroling pieces from France, England America, and the Basque country. In honor of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Britain's well known composer Benjamin Britten, his "Ballulalow" and "This Little Babe" from A Ceremony of Carols will also be performed. Secular pieces, "Silver Bells" and "Let it Snow" will lighten the mood before all choirs sing "Betelehemu" which has become a biennial tradition and a holiday favorite. "A Glimpse of Snow and Evergreen", sung by the Mixed Ensemble, will end the concert in a tranquil mood.

60 students participate in the choral program under the direction of Mrs. Laurie Hagenbarth. Mr. Chris Kloker, Miss Ingrid De Groot, and Mrs. Hagenbarth will accompany the choirs. Director of Bands, Mr. Chris Kloker, will conduct the Brass Choir. The public is cordially invited to attend this free evening of music.

"Mr. Benson, you are scaring this nice young lady," a nurse came up behind the old man. "Now, you go on down to the TV room. It's time for Jeopardy to be on." The man shuffled away and Lacey smiled gratefully at the nurse for rescuing her.

"I'm here to see my Oma," she said and told the nurse Oma's room number. She hesitated a minute before going into the room. Oma was taking a nap and Lacey didn't want to wake her up so she tiptoed to the rocking chair in Oma's room. Just as she sat down, Oma sat up. "Hello," she said in her sweet voice, but Lacey knew right away that Oma didn't know who she was.

"Oma, it's me, Lacey," she went over by the bed.

"What a pretty little girl you are. Do you live here?" Oma asked.

Lacey's heart sank and she felt tears in her eyes "Oma, I miss you so much," she said grabbing her grandmother's hand.

"I'm hungry," was Oma's reply and Lacey knew for sure that Oma didn't know her. Not able to be with her grandmother one more minute, she dashed out of the room and with tears blinding her eyes, ran down the hall. She was just about to the front desk when a man stepped out of his office.

"Hey, there," the man remarked. "Are those tears I see?" Lacey gulped and nodded. "My name is Doctor Joe and I'll bet you are here to visit your Oma."

Lacey was astonished. "How do you know why I came here?" she asked.

"Well aren't you the little girl I saw carrying a huge suitcase down the hall the day your grandmother moved in?" asked the doctor.

Lacey looked up at the doctor's face. He had such a nice smile and his eyes had twinkles in them. "Yes, I'm Lacey Harper," she hesitated, then blurted out, "I've just been to see Oma and she doesn't even know who I am."

Dr. Joe looked down at Lacey for a long minute and then he took her gently by the arm. "I think a cup of tea is in order," he said. "I hear from your mom that you and Oma used to have tea parties," he paused, "in the back yard, I think. . . something about fairies?"

Clint Rouse to Retire from State Bank & Trust

After nearly 40 years at State Bank & Trust, Clint Rouse, Executive Vice President and Branch President, will retire on December 31.

Rouse started his career at State Bank & Trust on July 1, 1974 as a Teller/Bookkeeper. He later worked as the Escrow Officer and a Loan Officer. By 1979, he was Vice President and his duties included commercial lending, escrows, and serving as Cashier.

Clint was named to State Bank's Board of Directors in 1978. He enrolled in PCBS in 1980, graduating in 1982. In that same year, he was named EVP. After the owner and President of the Bank, Charles Nicholas, passed away in December 1983, Clint was named President – a title which he has held for 30 years. He was on various committees for the Montana Bankers Association and Montana Independent Bankers.

Rouse says, "My favorite part of banking has been the relationships I have enjoyed with our customer base and all my co-workers over the years. I will really miss working with my co-workers and our loyal customers as they are my friends. I look forward to continuing these friendships throughout my retirement."

Tom Romrell, CEO and President, states "Clint has been a tremendous part of the overall growth and success of State Bank & Trust and merger with The Bank of Commerce. We consider him a great friend and wish him and his wife, Mary, all the best as they enjoy the next chapter of their lives."

Rouse was a long standing member of Barrett Hospital's Board of Trustees and University of Montana Western's Foundation. Clint was also instrumental in starting the Beaverhead Development Corporation, and served as Director of Chamber of Commerce, a member of Dillon JC's and the Elks Club.

Christmas Surprise

The weekend before Christmas Lacey decided to go see Oma, after all. She wanted to surprise her grandmother and wanted to go alone even though the rest home frightened her. She rode her bike and parked it beside the big entry-way door under the Memory Care Center sign. She opened and shut the door three times before she got the courage to actually go in. Nobody seemed to notice her once she was inside. Nurses were busy behind the front desk so she just slipped past and headed down the hall toward Oma's room. She had been there on moving day, so she knew where to go. She was almost to Oma's room when a very tall man shuffled up to her.

"Who are you?" he demanded in a gruff voice. Lacey wasn't sure what to do because she had been told not to talk to strangers. His face was really wrinkled and the way he bent over her, she felt trapped.
