Beaverhead County Sheriffs Office

Press Release
December 9, 2013

On December 7th, at 3:51 p.m., Beaverhead County 911 Center received a call from Dean Derby reporting a hunter had been shot in the eye by a shotgun. The incident occurred a short distance south of Dillon. An ambulance and a Sheriff's deputy responded to the area but the victim had already been transported by private vehicle to Barrett Hospital and Healthcare of Dillon.

According to witnesses, the victim, identified as Jason Baker, of Missoula, had shot a duck and waited for a short period of time to retrieve it. While retrieving the duck, another hunter, from the same party, shot at a low flying group of ducks and multiple bird shot from the other hunter struck the victim just below the eye.

The emergency room medical team at Barrett Hospital and Healthcare initially cared for the patient and arranged for transportation to Saint Patrick's Hospital in Missoula. Baker and the rest of the party were in Dillon promoting the Montana Wounded Warrior Program where they assist and help those Wounded Warriors participating in outdoor activity such as geese and duck hunting. A call made to Baker on Monday, indicated that Baker was doing well and planning to get back to work and the Wounded Warrior Program soon.

12th Annual Christmas Honor Tree

The White Hat Coalition is displaying their 12th annual Christmas Honor Tree at the Big Sky Cinema until January 2nd. The special tree is filled with stockings made by the Girl Scouts. If you wish to place a special message to our troops and veterans this Christmas just drop your message in one of the many stockings and they will be forwarded to our men and women serving our country during Christmas and New Years.

The Coalition would also like to thank everyone that donated items for our care pack send outs to our troops for the holidays. A special thanks to Karen and Russ Kipp, Richard and Dorothy Wheeler, Donna Morrison and our area churches for all your generosity and support. Our troops will truly appreciate everything our community does to support them and their families during this season when they are so far from home. We really do live in a great community.

The Thirteen Holidays of Christmas LaVon D. Brillhart

Oh my golly it's the first of the year
Only 358 days until Christmas cheer
Tis the season when prices are a good deal
Just a few days early to start your Christmas meal

Valentines Day with your Christmas hearts
St. Valentine is St. Christmas counterpart
On this Valentine Day won't you be my Christmas love
On February the 14th my turtle dove

This the day of honor of the president
The day of great shopping and merriment
Tis not the day of impeachment or treason
Tis the day to celebrate the Christmas season

Now St. Patrick always wears green
He was born in the land of Nazarene
This the day to dance and drink green beer
Just another day to celebrate the Christmas cheer

Tis the first of April, Oh my fool
The day you decorate your favorite toad stool
Tis the season when Santa come by day
The season we all lift our heads in dismay

Tis the first Sunday in the Month of May
The day you bring your Mother a Christmas bouquet
The day you honor your Mother dear
Buy her candy, flowers or a new brassiere

Memorial Day, the day to be patriotic
 Christmas thoughts in May making you neurotic
 The day of flowers, flags and parade
 Marching with your credit card and not being afraid

The third Sunday in June
 Your tree will be decorated very soon
 Presents under the tree for Father's Day
 Oh, wait, I think I hear bells from a sleigh

Tis now the 4th of July
 The season we all can identify
 Blowing up presents to celebrate
 Please bring more for me to annihilate

The first Monday in September
 A day of Christmas Labor to remember
 The day to honor the elves for their job
 For all their work making you a thingamabob

Halloween and time for the old witch
 But beware for now she has a new pitch
 The displays are up in every aisle
 The merchants now have a Christmas smile

Now it's November with a great big feast
 Look in the sky, see the turkey in the East
 The day of Pilgrims, Elves, and their reindeer
 Off to the mall for the best shopping of the year

Now there's a green tree in the house with lights
 Wreaths, decorations, presents making wonderful sights
 Today tis the 25th of December
 I know a holiday, which one I just can't seem to remember.

HOLIDAY BLOOD DRIVE

A Dillon community blood drive will be held on Tuesday, December 17, 2013 from 1:00 to 6:00 PM at the Elks Lodge (27 East Center Street). The drive is facilitated by United Blood Services and sponsored by the Presbyterian Church. Appointments can be made by calling 683-3696, or log on to www.unitedbloodservices.org and use the sponsor code "Dillon". Walk-ins are welcome, but those making appointments will receive priority.

This blood drive will help replenish Montana's blood supplies for the upcoming holiday season. Blood can only be stored for 42 days, so the blood that is collected now will save the lives of hospital patients or those receiving medical treatments during the holidays.

To donate blood, volunteers must be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health. A donor must not have donated within the last eight weeks. Donations of blood are down nationwide, so if you can donate, won't you call or go online?

Please bring your United Blood Services Donor card or photo ID. Join us for some holiday fun and save a life!

Thank You!

We want to thank you. His friends for wanting to get together for a remembrance for Tom. Thank you, for the food brought to us, phone calls, cards, flowers, and visits from friends & family.

Thank you

Mazy's Traveling Teapot by Jean Tilton James

(This story will be continued)

Christmas Surprise

"You know about the fairy garden?" Lacey was totally surprised.

"I know lots of things about you Lacey Harper," he said smiling. Then he went to the front desk and asked the nurse to bring them some tea and maybe a cookie if they could find one. He led Lacey into the room that was his office. "I think we can have our tea in here," he nodded.

On the wall behind the desk, Lacey noticed a big picture of a brain. Doctor Joe pointed to a couch on one side of the office. "You sit here, and I'll try this one out," he sat in a flower-covered chair. When the nurse brought in a real tea pot and tea cups along with a plate of cookies, Lacey felt herself relaxing. He even asked her to pour the tea as though she were a grownup.

"Lacey, how much do you know about why your grandmother can't remember you sometimes?" he asked. For the next half hour he explained about Alzheimer's disease. He used the big brain picture and showed her where memories are stored and talked to her like she was an adult. By the time their tea was finished, Lacey had started to understand her grandmother better. She found out that some days Oma might know who she was, and other days, she would not. She learned that Oma enjoyed kindness and hugs no matter what. Dr. Joe explained that new medicines were being used to help people like Oma. And the most exciting thing she learned was that she could help Oma by visiting. She should remember that Oma got more confused when lots of people were talking, but a few people at a time were just fine. Dr. Joe suggested she come often for short visits and bring a few more things of Oma's to help her remember.

"Ask your parents before you bring anything," he cautioned, "and you will need to take anything you bring back home for safekeeping."

On her bike ride home, Lacey felt happy for the first time since Oma had moved. True, she couldn't cure Oma, but Dr. Joe seemed to think she could help make Oma's life better. On her bike ride home, Lacey started to make plans to visit Oma and what she would take.

On the Monday before Christmas, Lacey came home to find that Mom was making Krumkake. The house smelled delicious and Lacey arrived just in time to help Mom wrap the hot waffle-cookies around the Krumkake form to make little cones. Ellie got to help fill the cones with whipped cream.

"I didn't know you knew how to make Krumkake," Lacey told her mom. Washing up the decorated griddle where they had baked the Krumkake, Mom explained how she had learned to make the cones from Oma when she was a young girl.

"I just didn't do it, because my mother loved doing it with you girls," she smiled.

"Can we do rosettes, too?" asked Ellie and soon the two girls were dipping the airy little cakes in powdered sugar as Mom dropped them off the hot rosette irons. When Dad came home that night he found the girls and their mother laughing together, covered with powdered sugar and drinking tea at the kitchen table.

Lacey got a sudden vision at dinner that night. She wondered if she could actually make her idea happen, but as she finished the last rosette her stomach could hold, she went upstairs to make a list. She knew she had to work hard and fast if she was going to make her vision real.

After school, she rummaged through the boxes in the garage until she found Oma's linen chest. Very carefully she removed a tissue paper package. She searched through some more boxes and put a few more things in a basket she found by the garage door. She added some things from the kitchen and the dining room, and then hid the basket in the closet under some old coats. Upstairs, she slipped into Ellie's room where Ellie was cleaning up her toys on Mom's strict orders. She held a finger to her lips to let Ellie know to be quiet and motioned for Ellie to follow her. Back in Lacey's room Ellie was sworn to secrecy.
