Ernie Good

Ernie Good was born on May 19, 1921, in Fort Benton, Montana to Robert Good and Mary Morger Good. He was 92 years old when he passed away on November 21, 2013.

He attended school in Cut Bank, Montana and Dillon, Montana. He was an outstanding athlete. The varsity basketball teams he played on in Cut Bank won state championships, largely due to his outstanding skills. After high school he went on to play college basketball at The University of Montana: Western. He was inducted into The Basketball Hall of Fame for the University years later. He refereed high school basketball games, where he was observed running backwards faster than some players ran forward.

In 1946 he married Lucille Johnston, and they had two daughters, Jeri and Ginger.

He served in the Navy during World War II and was part of the Asiatic Pacific Campaign. After discharge, he worked for the U.S. Post Office, then went on to own a real estate and insurance firm in Cut Bank for 25 years (Good-Tabaracci Insurance and Real Estate). Ernie was known for his honesty, and well-liked for his exceptionally outgoing personality.

Ernie was a volunteer fireman for The Cut Bank Fire Department for many years, and was also a lifetime member of The Elks Lodge, Eagles Club, and Moose Lodge. He was an accomplished dancer, and avid sports fan.

In 1991, Ernie married Ruth Willett, and moved to Great Falls. Many people enjoyed their warm hospitality in the home they shared for 22 years.

Ernie's last two years were spent as a resident of Missouri River Manor. His antics, personality, and travel on his scooter to the various areas of the large facility allowed him to make many friendships. Thank you to the staff of MRM for the kind compassion and care, particularly the staff of the 500 wing.

He will be greatly missed by many.

Ernie is survived by his wife, Ruth; daughters, Jeri Good-O'Connor (Tom) of Rocklin, CA; Ginger Fazio (Gary) of Colleyville, TX; his sister, Gloria Goodale of Logan, KS; step-brother, Melvin Good (Pat) of Lakewood, CO; and grandchildren, Justin Lewis, Candice Lewis, and Garrett Fazio.

Croxford Funeral Home in Great Falls is handling all arrangements. There will be a private family memorial at the Little Bighorn Battlefield National Monument where Ernie will be interred.

Trails Cleared Near Elkhorn Hot Springs for Winter Fun

Winter recreation enthusiasts who like to cross country ski or snow shoe will be excited to know that Beaverhead Trails Coalition, Elkhorn Hot Springs Resort and the Forest Service have teamed up to improve approximately 10 miles of winter trails around Elkhorn Hot Springs. "We've cleared the runs, installed more trail markers, and we're also working on a new map, installed informational easy, medium, and difficult signs," said Acting Dillon Ranger District Recreation Officer Kendra Bull.

In the last few weeks, Elkhorn Resort and the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest have been busy clearing trails of trees and branches that were blown down from the September storm that wreaked havoc in the Grasshopper Valley. "The trails have always been there, they just haven't received as much maintenance in the recent past and we want people to know about these wonderful gems of trails they can enjoy this winter," said Pete Wakeman of the Beaverhead Trails Coalition.

Also in the works is a new trail map that will be available at the Dillon Ranger District Office and the Elkhorn Resort. The Beaverhead Trails Coalition will be hosting a get out and ski day on the trails in the new year, so stay tuned for more details.

For more information, contact the Dillon Ranger District at (406) 683-3900 or the Elkhorn Hot Springs Resort at (406) 834-3434.

UMW lands another Montana Volleyball Standout

University of Montana Western head volleyball coach Lisa Griffiths announced the signing of Huntley, Mont., senior libero Brianna DeCock to a Frontier Conference/NAIA Letter of Intent.

DeCock has participated in volleyball and basketball four years, and track one season while she attended Huntley Project High School. She has lettered all 4 years and helped lead her team to 4 consecutive state titles in volleyball. Brianna has been named to the All-State and All-Conference volleyball teams 2 years as well as a three time first team All-State tournament Team for volleyball. In addition to these awards she has played 8 years for Huntley Project AAU volleyball, participated for 6 years in the Big Sky State Games, 4 years of UNC volleyball team camp, and 2 years of National AAU Championships.

"I am thrilled Brianna has chosen to be a Bulldog," head coach Lisa Griffiths said. "She comes from a great program and history of success and brings a competitive spirit to the gym. Her championship experience and high level skills will allow her to make an immediate impact on our program."

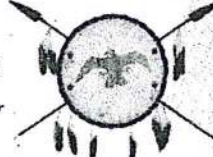

Off the court she has been voted to the Academic All-State volleyball team as well as the Academic All-State Basketball team throughout her 4 year high school career. She is also a member of the National Honors Society.

"I chose UMW because I felt like it was a great fit for me. I was impressed with the coach and the potential she has to bring to the program," said DeCock of her new school and team. "I'm from a small community and I like how small the University of Montana Western is. I also like the block schedule and feel like there will be many opportunities for me here. It seems like a great community and I'm excited to be a part of this program and school."

She is the daughter of Dennis and Darlene DeCock and plans to study elementary education while attending the University of Montana Western.

MEN AND LADIES

By: MJ

Women spend a life time trying to take the wild out of men, yet the wild is the very thing the woman was attracted to when she met the man of her dreams.

A man must know that he is powerful and a woman must know that she is beautiful.

Hey guys - what would you rather have said about you; "That you are a really sweet guy or that you are a dangerous man -- in a good way." Gentleman has your heart been killed? Have you lost your strong wild side, your desire for adventure, danger, to be courageous, gallant and brave...?

Ladies which would you rather have said about you; that you are a tireless worker," or that you are a "captivating woman?" Ladies, has your heart been killed because you have become tough, efficient and independent?

Little boys are made to live the life of Huck Finn. A life filled with adventure, dreams, guns, fishing pole in hand, running, competing, exploring the wilderness with its dangers in the dark of night... Little girls are made to play with dolls, play house, entertain at tea parties, dress up, keep everything going in an orderly manner and be beautiful...

Why is it that humans want to remake the other person into someone they are not made to be? God made man and woman to fit together like a glove. Each has their own defining features. All we need to do is recognize those defining features, love and accept each other for who we are.

Craft Fair

There will be a craft fair this Saturday, December 14, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with a variety of vendors. It will be at The Legacy community / recreation building 1000 Hwy 91 S. For more info please call Staci at 925-9772.

Christmas Surprise

"You have got to promise double cross your heart not to tell anybody," she whispered. Then she and Ellie went to work on Lacey's surprise.

The next morning, she casually asked if she and Ellie could go see Oma with her Mom on the day after next.

"You're sure you want to go?" her mom looked surprised. Her mom looked even more surprised when Lacey giggled and said she sure enough did want to go and could they please bring Oma some Krumkake and a few Rosettes. "Well, I guess it would be okay," her Mom agreed looking at Lacey with a puzzled frown.

That afternoon, Lacey peddled to the rest home as fast as she could go and was lucky enough to catch Dr. Joe in the parking lot on his way home. She told him her idea and he agreed to help. She visited Oma for a few minutes, but since the room was warm and Oma seemed sleepy, the visit was a real short one. This was good because Lacey had more things to do.

By the time she went to bed that night, Lacey was really tired, but she was so excited she didn't think she could sleep. She did fall fast asleep after Mom made her turn out her light and the next day woke to one of those icy mornings when the frost sparkled in the air like fairy dust. She could hardly sit still in school and got in a little bit of trouble with her teacher for sharpening her pencil too often.

After school she and Ellie hurried upstairs. "Are you girls ready to go?" her mom asked impatiently.

"We're almost ready," Lacey hollered down the stairs and then hurried to finish buttoning up Ellie's coat. When Lacey pulled the basket out of the closet and added it to the tray of goodies Mom had fixed for Oma, she told her mother she couldn't peek inside.

"We're almost ready," Lacey hollered down the stairs and then hurried to finish buttoning up Ellie's coat. When Lacey pulled the basket out of the closet and added it to the tray of goodies Mom had fixed for Oma, she told her mother she couldn't peek inside.

"Okaaaay," her mom agreed thoughtfully and they loaded up the car. Inside the Memory Care Center, Dr. Joe and the nurse who had rescued her during that first visit to see Oma greeted Lacey.

"Let me help you with that," Dr. Joe took Lacey's basket. Your mother is doing well today," he told Mom and winked at Lacey behind Mom's back. When they got to Oma's room, she was sitting in her rocking chair and had on a pretty cape over her shoulders. A table was sitting in the room. Lacey took off her coat, but told Ellie to keep her coat on for just a minute. She began pulling things out of the basket as Mom watched with amazement. Very soon the table was covered with a snowy white tablecloth. Lacey spilled a little sugar as she brought out the sugar bowl and carefully added teacups and saucers. Just as she put a little fairy statue in the center of the table, there was a knock on the door. A nurse brought in Oma's blue and white teapot full of hot water.

"Tah dah," Lacey bowed with a flourish. "Any one for tea?" Mom was speechless by this time and Oma sat rocking with a smile on her face.

"Isn't that my tea pot, Dear?" she asked.

"It sure is," Lacey replied smugly. "And now you can take off your coat, Ellie." Giggling Ellie took off her coat and Lacey reached for the last item in the basket. She carefully put a little black velvet hat with bright red ribbons on her sister's head. Ellie turned an excited circle as everyone in the room exclaimed. Ellie was dressed in a little skirt with bright stripes. She had on a puffy sleeved white blouse and little black suspenders covered with red braid went over her shoulders. Ellie was dressed in a Danish costume that Oma had worn as a child. Mom and Lacey each had a turn wearing it at about Ellie's age. Lacey had had to use safety pins to make the waist fit, and the blouse looked a little wrinkled from being in the chest, but Lacey thought her sister looked adorable.

By this time, everyone, including Oma, were talking at once. "How did you do all of this?" Mom finally got her voice. Lacey noticed her mom's eyes were bright with happy tears.

"Don't I look pretty?" Ellie asked Dr. Joe and the nurse couldn't stop saying, "How darling," as she snapped pictures.

"Shh, everybody, only one person can talk at a time," Lacey said importantly and handed Oma, who was softly humming a little tune, her teacup and a rosette.

On the way home, Mom was still talking about how amazing Lacey was to have created the tea party by herself. Dad heard all about the afternoon at dinnertime.

"Lacey girl, I am so proud of you I could pop!" he reached across the table to take her hand.

"And the best part, George," said Mom, "is that I think Mother really enjoyed herself. She reached out and patted the velvet on Ellie's hat and sang all the words to Silent Night when Dr. Joe suggested we try singing. Our daughter is a miracle worker!"

That night as Lacey drifted off to sleep, snuggled deep in one of Oma's quilts, Lacey said a little prayer for Oma, but she didn't feel sad at all. Her surprise tea party had been a giant success. It was going to be a wonderful Christmas.
