VIGILANTE STORY TO BE REENACTED AT BANNACK

One hundred and fifty years ago a group of Vigilantes captured and marched Sheriff Henry Plummer and his two deputies, Ned Ray and Buck Stinson to the gallows. The gruesome event that occurred on this cold January evening was the work of a band of concerned citizens to end a reign of terror that engulfed the mining communities of Bannack and Virginia City. Outlaws known as the Innocents or Road Agents, believed to be secretly led by Sheriff Henry Plummer, were said to have murdered over one hundred miners and robbed countless others of their gold. Life was tough and uncertain in the first years of the Montana gold rush. Plummer and the Road Agents were not tried in an official court of law and today some believe that the Vigilantes were not justified in their actions. However, the crime rate dropped significantly after the Vigilantes finished their task.

The reenactment will take place at 2 pm Saturday, January 11, 2014. Please drive around to the east end at the ice skating warming house where the show will begin. The Bannack Association sponsors this reenactment titled "Men Do Your Duty." The Just-Us Old West Reenactors will perform the piece at the actual site of the hanging of Jan. 10, 1864. Come and witness this historical event and decide for yourself if the Vigilantes were justified in their actions.

The annual Bannack Association meeting and dinner will also be held January 11 at the Elks Lodge in Dillon. There will be a social hour from 5pm until 6pm followed by the business meeting. Dinner will be served at 7pm.

The warming house will be open for folks to warm up before and after the show. You may want to come early and ice skate before the show. The ice skating pond and warming house are open every weekend this winter from 11 am until 5pm. We have a good selection of ice skates for people to use at no charge. Winter hours at Bannack are 8:00am - 5:00pm seven days a week. Bannack State Park is located 25 miles southwest of Dillon, just 4 miles off highway 278. For more information call the park at 834-3413.

Letter to the Editor

Allen Bradley

Mayor Michael Bloomberg and his Mayors Against Illegal Guns

So who are the real criminals?
 America's 80 million law-abiding gun owners or Mayor Bloomberg's gang of gun-grabbing politicians?

Many of these elitist politicians can no longer own firearms, maybe that's why they don't want you to own one either?

Help the Second Amendment Foundation (www.saf.org) protect your freedom by exposing the corrupt politicians who have no respect for our right to keep and bear arms.

The Godfather and his fellow Gun Grabbing Gang

Here are just a few current or former Mayors from Bloomberg's Mayors Against Illegal Guns

Shelia Dixon - Baltimore, MD Convicted of perjury and embezzling funds meant for charity	Gary Becker - Racine, WI Convicted of attempted child molestation and luring a child for illicit purposes	Larry Langford - Birmingham, AL Convicted on 60 counts of bribery, fraud, money laundering, tax evasion
Eddie Perez - Hartford, CT Convicted of bribery and extortion	David Donna - Guttenberg, NJ Convicted of extortion and tax fraud	Frank Melton - Jackson, MS Convicted of violating his own city gun possession ordinance
Daddy Gianni - Providence, RI Convicted of assault and racketeering	Samuel Rivera - Passaic, NJ Convicted of extortion and accepting bribes	Jeremiah Healy - Jersey City, NJ Convicted of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest
Will Wynn - Austin, TX Convicted of assault	Kwame Kilpatrick - Detroit, MI Convicted of assault on a police officer and perjury	Richard Corkory - Coaldale, PA Convicted of child pornography and bail violations
Adam Bradley - White Plains, NY Convicted of domestic violence charges	Gordon Jenkins - Monticello, NY Pled guilty on five counts of trademark counterfeiting	Roosevelt Born - Inglewood, CA Pled guilty to public corruption and embezzlement charges
Pat M. Alexander Jr. - Greenville, SC Arrested three times for driving while intoxicated	April Almond - East Haven, CT Arrested and charged for interfering with a police officer	Tony Mack - Trenton, NJ Recently charged for accepting $119,000 in bribes

Gunowners Against Illegal Mayors, a project of the Second Amendment Foundation.

Help us expose these corrupt officials who want to take away our firearms!

California Supreme Court Grants Law License to Illegal Immigrant; Will Other States Follow?

By Joe Guzzardi

With the California Supreme Court's decision to allow illegal immigrant Sergio Garcia to practice law, the state has hit the nadir of insanity in eliminating distinctions between those here legally and those who are not.

Garcia's case dates back to 2009 when he first passed the California bar examination. His many allies argued that since Garcia came to the US as a child and has lived an exemplary life in the more than 20 years since his arrival including his graduation from Cal Northern Law School, the 36-year-old should be allowed to practice. But in August 2012, the Department of Justice issued an amicus brief stating that federal law prohibits granting professional licenses to illegal immigrants unless a state passes a law allowing it. The California Legislature passed such a law in September 2013; Governor Jerry Brown signed it in October.

The Supreme Court, the California legislature and Brown ignored other compelling points that should ban Garcia from practicing law. First, Garcia's illegal presence in the US violates immigration law every day. Furthermore, Garcia can't be legally employed in the US. No law firm, government entity or corporation can legally hire Garcia. Finally, Garcia cannot truthfully take an attorney's oath of office since it requires that he will "...support the Constitution of the US..." a condition which Garcia has already violated.

During 2013, California cemented its well established tradition of catering to illegal immigrants. California's level of disregard for federal law shocked even long-time immigration analysts. Last year, Brown signed bills that will allow illegal immigrants to get driver's licenses, and another that would protect many aliens from deportation. California is one of the first states to allow illegal immigrant university students to enroll at the lower in-state tuition rate. In January, AB 131 passed, allowing illegal immigrants to qualify for Cal Grant scholarships. Both in-state tuition and Cal Grants were originally intended for and available only to legal California residents.

Advocates hailed the California Supreme Court decision and hope that it will pave the way for similar opinions in other states. Two other cases are pending. In Florida Jose Godinez-Samperio, 26, and in New York Cesar Vargas, 30, aliens who have applied for law licenses, await state Supreme Court decisions.

Ten years ago, it would have been unimaginable that illegal immigrants would be given law licenses. But since 2007, the pro-immigration lobby has spent $1.5 billion and is more powerful than ever. Some critics persuasively argue that illegal immigrants are more influential than citizens. After all, the White House under intense pressure from the immigration lobby has issued a series of executive actions favorable to illegal immigrants that have circumvented Congress and rewritten immigration law.

Garcia, Godinez-Samperio, and Vargas are members of the DREAM Bar Association, a national group formed with guidance from the American Immigration Lawyers Association for the express purpose of advancing the collective causes of would be illegal immigrant lawyers. The association's mission, according to its president Jose Magaña, is to urge all 50 states to pass legislation and promulgate rules that would ensure that illegal immigrant students "who have graduated from an ABA-accredited law school, meet the state bar's character and fitness requirements, and successfully pass the bar examination are able to obtain a law license and fully utilize their legal education."

If I had to bet on the outcome, I'd put my money on the DREAM Bar Association.
