The Super Bowl and Sex Trafficking

By Michael Reagan and Jerome Elam

On February 2 of this year, thousands will gather at Met Life Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J., to watch the Seattle Seahawks battle the Denver Broncos in Super Bowl XLVIII. As the athletes take the field and the fans cheer, they will be oblivious to the tragedy unfolding around them in dark hotel rooms across East Rutherford.

Sex trafficking has become a stealth parasite that attaches itself to major sporting events, taking advantage of a large number of fans and the demand for illicit sex. Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott echoed the stunning revelation, gripping so many with his statement about the 2011 Super Bowl in Dallas: "It's commonly known as the single largest human trafficking incident in the United States."

Dallas police and federal authorities arrested 133 minors for prostitution during the 2011 Super Bowl, and according to Forbes Magazine 10,000 prostitutes were transported to Miami for the Super Bowl in 2010.

A United States Department of Justice investigation from January 2008 to June 2010 discovered that 40 percent of human trafficking incidents involve child prostitution or the sexual exploitation of a child. UNICEF estimates there are nearly 2 million children in the commercial sex trade, and major sporting events have become a nexus for sexual predators and a haven for sex trafficking.

January is "National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month," and according to the U.S. State Department, social scientists estimate there are 27 million victims of human trafficking in the world today. The United Nations reports that human trafficking is a $32 billion industry across the world and that people are being trafficked from 127 countries to be exploited in 137 countries, affecting every continent and every economy.

State Department estimates also suggest that the majority of trafficking victims are women and girls, and that trafficking victims are subjected to both sex and labor trafficking. Recent data has also brought to light a previously hidden trend that a significant percentage of trafficking victims are men and boys.

UNICEF reports that victims of sex trafficking are subjected to conditions that include high numbers of clients and violent or unprotected sex. They are also subjected to poor hygiene and forced drug use that includes reusing needles, and sex trafficking is a "hotbed" for sexually transmitted infections.

In the United States, human trafficking is a $9.5 billion industry according to the United Nations. The U.S. Department of Justice estimates that 17,500 people are trafficked into the United States each year. A total of 300,000 children in this country are at risk of being trafficked sexually right now.

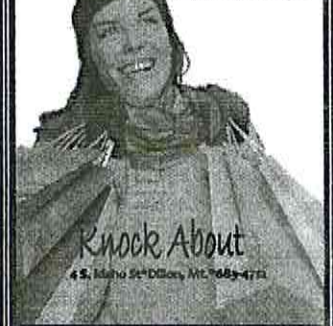

The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children reports that the average age of a sex trafficked child in the United States is 13-14 years old and the average pimp controls 4-6 children and makes $150,000-$200,000 per year from each child. The anti-trafficking organization the Polaris Project estimates victims of sex trafficking are forced to have sex 20-48 times a day.

In a study done by officials in Los Angeles, 59 percent of juveniles who were arrested for prostitution were previously in the foster care system. In 2013 during "Operation Cross Country," the FBI rescued 105 children being forcibly exploited for sex and arrested 150 pimps. The youngest victim was just nine years old.

To bring an end to the scourge of sex trafficking requires that we all work together and join in the fight to rescue victims, many of whom are innocent children. The primary tool in that fight is education, and organizations like the Polaris Project; Jada Pinkett Smith's organization, Don't Sell Bodies; the McCain Institute, named after Senator John McCain of Arizona; Arrow Child and Family Ministries in Texas (www.arrow.org/mrc/Overview.html); and the Joyful Heart Foundation are both educating the public and rescuing victims of sex trafficking.

The NFL has also joined the fight by supporting tougher anti-trafficking laws and working with organizations to educate and empower the public. We can all be a force for change, and visit the websites of the organizations mentioned above to learn the signs of human trafficking.

With just one phone call to the human trafficking hotline at 1-866-347-2423 (toll free), each of us could help save a human life and bring us that much closer to a victory over human trafficking.

Dillon Soroptimist want to bring this to your attention to bring awareness of this national tragedy that affects so many women and girls and takes place in every state in the nation.

OPEN READING

at The Art Scene Gallery

Mary Christopher will give a reading of her new novel, "Memoirs of a Hollywood Eviction Lawyer."

Friday, January 24 from 7:00 to 8:00 pm at the Art Scene Gallery, next to the Dilmart beside the jewelry store.

This is free - and open to the public.

The novel, set in Hollywood's culturally diverse social milieu of the 1990's is spiced with humor, scams, courtroom drama. Michael Mahoney, a divorced father, his adult daughter, and his second wife provide an over-arching story that unites them and makes the novel whole. The irony rests in Mahoney who is a compassionate everyman whose job it is to evict people.

BEAVERHEAD OUTDOORS ASSOC.

The Beaverhead Outdoors Assoc. members will be selling raffle tickets for prizes which will be awarded at their annual banquet, Feb. 15th. Members Coy Bearden & Gene Loder will be at Van's IGA from 9 am - noon on Saturday and 1 p.m. - 5 p.m. at Murdocks.

Prizes this year will be a Winston Fly Rod, Ruger 10/22 rifle, a Glazer Pro-staff 5 Range Finder, and a large Badlands Backpack. All proceeds from the raffle will be used for the Kid's Fish Pond, and other BOA projects. The BOA appreciates your support, and hopes you will attend their banquet.

SENIOR COMMODITY FOOD BOXES

The Commodity Supplemental Food Program for Seniors will be delivering food boxes Saturday, January 25th.

MONTANA WESTERN TO HOST MONTANA REPERTORY THEATRE

The University of Montana Western is slated to host the Montana Repertory Theatre on Jan. 29.

The Montana Repertory will perform "The Miracle Worker," the story of Helen Keller and her tutor Ann Sullivan. The play recounts the early life of Keller, who was deaf and blind since infancy, as she tries to find her way into adulthood with the help of Sullivan.

The Montana Repertory Theatre is one of the oldest touring companies in the country. Established in 1967, the company travels to neighboring states to offer professional theater performances.

The performance on Jan. 29 is at 7 p.m. in the Beier Auditorium on the campus of Montana Western.

UMW students are free with valid student ID. All students are $5 and general admission is $8.

POLITICIANS - GET RID OF?

By: MJ

Is it time to get rid of the career politicians; the people who are getting rich on your hard earned tax dollars?

Why do they say they are against increasing the deficits yet when they get into office they create programs that increase the spending? Why did politicians pass a health care law that has cost and will continue to cost billions of tax payers' dollars? Will the politicians create another bailout program for the insurance companies because the insurance companies might go bankrupt? Remember the insurance companies were important players at the table drafting & creating Obama Health Care. Did the insurance companies stand to increase profits? Money is dominating power in today's world.

Time will tell if you will file bankruptcy, close your business and put people out of work, because you can no longer pay the taxes and the regulations required by the government.

Research the candidate you vote for -- ask the questions that are important to you. They will be spending your tax dollars & you will be paying their wages.

FLAT TIRES/RELATIONSHIPS

By: MJ

When we have a flat tire on our car we have choices to make. Fixing the flat might mean we squirt liquid "fix it" into tire, have a patch applied; buy a new tire or just stop driving the vehicle abandoned it and leave the tire and vehicle to rot...

Family relationships are much the same as flat tires. We have many choices. We may be tempted to abandon it and leave it to rot rather than be proactive in repairing the relationship by allowing time, seeking help, taking time to find the happiness that existed at one time, understanding the problems... When we are frustrated, it is hard to look into the future, realizing the difficulty may lie with a quick fix. The liquid "Fix IT" often causes problems later on.

It is impossible to overemphasize the immense need humans have to be heard, listened to, be taken seriously, to be understood, loved... No one can develop freely in this world and find a full life without feeling understood by at least one other person... The car with flat tire can't continue on for any length of time without your help and understanding of its problem.

Our part is simply to be who we are, and love being that.

Letter to the Editor

What the heck is going on?

The sad truth about last week's city council meeting.

By Chuck Dishno

The president of the United States and every state governor is afforded the right to appoint his own cabinet. Is the mayor of Dillon not afforded that same privilege? Apparently not since a few of our council members got together before the meeting and decided to vote against Mayor Mike Klakken and deny him his two replacements. All this time, former mayor, Marty sat in the back row of the council chambers with a smug look on his face. Do you think his influence had anything to do with the decision? After all they were his appointments and he talked Swede Troedsson into running again for the vacancy in ward 4.

After the vote had been taken they were asked to explain why they voted the way they did. Not one, with the exception of Ms. Westad, had the testicular fortitude to stand up and defend their decision.

My question to you is, did your council person vote the way you wanted or were you even asked how you wanted them to vote? I don't think so. I know many people in my ward were never contacted by either Swede Troedsson or Derek Gore. Why do we elect these people if they have so little concern for us.

It is time to make things right folks. Below is a list of your ward and the council person who represent you. Give them a call or email them to let them know how you feel Give Mayor Mike the chance he deserves. He has taken on a responsibility that few of us would want. He is an honest and intelligent man who will bring the City of Dillon back to a sound financial footing. He has the people of Dillon in his heart.

On a second note, it has been suggested by Mr. Troedsson, that the mayor's salary be cut or eliminated. If this be the case I think former mayor Marty should be required to give back all the salary he collected during the past 12 years of his tenure.

BEST OF THE WEST PROPERTIES

Immaculate Victorian style home on a new foundation! Great location within easy walking distance of college or downtown. Meticulous maintenance and care shows obvious pride of ownership. This 1,594 sf home has 4 bedrooms and 1 bath with plumbing in place to easily add a bath and/or laundry room upstairs. The main level of this house has all the necessities, making it suitable for a retirement home. Beautiful wood flooring is hidden underneath the carpet on the main floor. The siding, roof and foundation were recently replaced, while many fixtures and moldings remain original. Easy to maintain with metal fencing, underground sprinklers, & maintenance-free decks & vinyl siding. Well manicured lawn and landscaping, plus a newer 2 car detached garage. Priced to sell at $159,900

Horse property located just minutes from town! This 1600 square foot manufactured home sits on an FHA approved permanent foundation. House has 3 bedrooms 2 bathrooms. Each bedroom has walk in closets and the master bathroom has a soaker tub and shower. Open floor plan, large living area and an island in the kitchen. House is heated with gas forced air, it has a gas water heater and electric stove. Roof was replaced 7 years ago and has a lot of life left in it. Shed for extra storage. Good ground water in the area yields a productive 45 foot deep well. Four acres provides plenty of room for your horses and a few steers, as this property has a nice roping arena with sand that was hauled in. Roping chutes are included in sale. Sellers are motivated. A must see for only $169,900

PLEASE HELP!!

I am asking for anyone who has information on who shot my dog the morning of Monday, January 21st, around 11 a.m. This person stopped on the interstate and shot into a field just north of the Bond Road overpass.

Please call 406-202-1510 if you have any information.
