MEETINGS SET TO DISCUSS FISH & WILDLIFE FUNDING RECOMMENDATIONS

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks will host a series of nine public meetings in May to review and discuss recent recommendations from an advisory council tasked with adjusting Montana's hunting and fishing licenses and fees.

The Fish & Wildlife Licensing and Funding Advisory Council spent the past eight months examining FWP's current license system and funding cycle for fish and wildlife management. That work resulted in recent recommendations to FWP Director Jeff Hagener that would provide an additional $6.25 million a year to stave off deep budget cuts to fish and wildlife management programs.

The recommendations are aimed at a simplified licensing system; standardized license discounts for youth, seniors, and disabled hunters; a revamped base price structure and other adjustments to provide a fair and stable source of revenue for the state's fish and wildlife conservation efforts.

The public meetings are set for May 1-28 and will each begin at 7 p.m. The evenings will focus on explaining the LFAC recommendations and getting feedback to help direct FWP's funding proposal for the 2015 Legislature. Here are the meeting dates and locations:

May 1	Missoula	DoubleTree Hotel; 100 Madison St.
May 5	Butte	Butte-Silver Bow Public Archives; 17 W. Quartz St.
May 6	Glasgow	Cottonwood Inn; 45 1st Ave. NE
May 13	Bozeman	FWP Region 3 HQ; 1400 S. 19th Ave.
May 15	Great Falls	FWP Region 4 HQ; 4600 Giant Springs Road
May 19	Kalispell	FWP Region 1 HQ; 490 N. Meridian Road
May 20	Helena	Montana Wild Center; 2668 Broadwater Ave.
May 27	Miles City	FWP Region 7 HQ; 352 I-94 Business Loop
May 28	Billings	FWP Region 5 HQ; 2300 Lake Elmo Dr.

The council's recommendations come at a critical time as FWP nears the end of a 10- year cycle since the last increase in resident hunting and fishing license fees. Montana's last general resident hunting and fishing license fee increase approved by the Montana Legislature came in 2005 and in 2003 for nonresidents. FWP fish and wildlife management programs are primarily funded via the sale of fishing and hunting licenses.

The call for the funding and license review came from both the 2013 Montana Legislature and Governor Steve Bullock. The Legislature passed House Bill 609, which requires the Montana Legislature's Environmental Quality Council to conduct a study of hunting and fishing license statutes and fees, while Gov. Bullock requested that FWP begin a public effort to create FWP's budget for consideration by the 2015 Legislature.

The council's recommendations will be available Monday, April 28 via FWP's website at fwp.mt.gov; click "Licensing and Funding Advisory Council".

Pioneer Federal Savings and Loan at 32 Washington Street will be hosting the Montana National Guard photo exhibit through May 12, 2014. The exhibit highlights the many Montana National Guard mission and the men and women of the Montana National Guard.

The Montana National Guard photo exhibit displays, in vivid photographs, the men and women of the Montana Army and Air National Guard as they conduct a variety of federal, state, and community assignments. The Pioneer Federal is open Monday - Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and the general public is encouraged to stop in.

"This is a great opportunity for residents of Beaverhead County to see the work the soldiers of the Montana National Guard do," said Tom Welch, President and CEO of Pioneer Federal. "We encourage residents to stop by to see this wonderful exhibit."

GET YOURSELF TESTED – KNOW YOUR STATUS!

The Beaverhead County Health Department will be sponsoring the national "Get Yourself Tested" Program. Free and confidential HIV and Chlamydia testing will be offered Tuesday, April 29th 9 am to 5 pm at the Health Department, 41 Barrett Street.

This is the first annual event to highlight the statistic that one in two sexually active people will get a sexually transmitted disease by age 25. Although, GYT focuses on free HIV testing, it is also an opportunity to offer information, support, and direction for intervention to those at risk for an STD.

Those who participate in the event will receive a chance to win a Kindle courtesy of Dillon Medical Clinic. Details: Public Health Department (406)683-4771 or (406)683-3183.

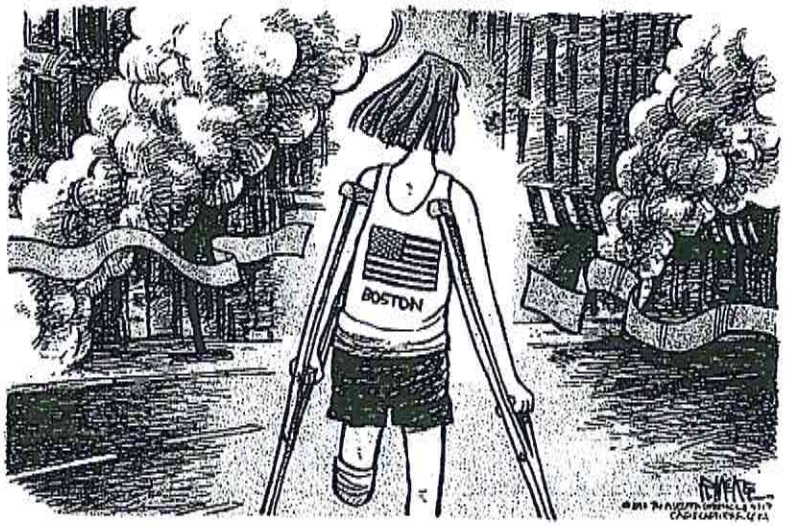
American Proud

Making Sense by Michael Reagan

It was nice to be away from politics for a week. It was even nicer to be in the great city of Boston for six days to celebrate the running of the 118th Boston Marathon.



Watching the race with a million people — and meeting so many wonderful Bostonians — was an incredible experience.

A year after two domestic terrorists killed three and maimed 260 others watching the famous race, 32,530 runners set out for the finish line on Monday.

Most of the runners were there this year for a special reason — to show up and show the world their resiliency and defiance.

As the race announcer told them at the start of the race, they were there to "take back the finish line" from those who would try to scare us or do us harm.

The world's most famous foot race is held on Patriots Day and the whole city is consumed by the event and its buildup.

The Red Sox always play an 11 a.m. game on Marathon Monday, so it's possible to see the ballgame at Fenway and still get to the finishing stretch on Boylston Street before the race ends.

My wife Colleen, daughter Ashley and Jerry, a friend from Utah, ran in the race while my son Cameron and I went to the Red Sox-Orioles game.

Between innings the big screen on the scoreboard put up the names of the marathon's top finishers.

When the crowd of 37,513 saw the winner was an American — Meb Keflezighi of San Diego by way of Eritrea — it jumped to its feet as one and started chanting "USA, USA, USA!"

It was an incredible moment. When I went over to Boylston Street to watch my wife and daughter finish their race, it was so crowded I never made it to my grandstand seats.

But I saw some great moments from the sidewalk.

I saw a bare-chested man pass by who had shaved his amazingly hairy chest into the image of the American Flag.

I saw the employees of the Marathon Sports outlet on Boylston Street close up their store and come out to cheer on the owner as he ran by.

I watched and applauded as the beloved father-and-son running team, the Hoyts, came into view. As the crowd cheered them on, Dick Hoyt, 73, pushed his son Rick Hoyt, 52, in his custom-racing wheelchair. It was their 32nd marathon as a duo, and their final one.

Last year was supposed to be the Hoyts' final race, but the bombing cut their run short. They decided to return this year for personal reasons and to honor last year's victims.

I watched and applauded one of those bombing victims — a young woman who'd lost part of her leg — run past wearing a prosthetic. Talk about spirit and resilience.

Republican, Democrat, liberal, conservative, independent, atheist — none of those labels mattered on Marathon Monday. Everyone was an America — and proud to show it.

What the city of Boston and its great citizens showed me was that we're really not that different under our political labels. We can unite around our core values and make it back from adversity.

The marathon went off without a hitch. It was safe and secure and devoid of politics. And it was a celebration of the American spirit in a place where that spirit was born.

When I flew from Boston on Wednesday bound for Rome, where I'd attend the canonization of Pope John Paul II, I left with renewed hope for the USA and a better feeling about its people.

Boston made me proud to be an American. My week there reminded me that despite all the partisan politicking and bickering we do, we're still capable of joining together to show who were are and what we stand for.

We Count each day.

We just celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary, a milestone I wasn't sure we would make after Glenn was diagnosed with prostate cancer. I was scared, depressed and completely alone. Thankfully, we discovered the wonderful services provided by Cancer Support Community. Their support and encouragement allowed us to once again enjoy each day—and each other.

Caregiver Support Group is offered the 1st Thursday of each month, 12:00-1:00pm at Barrett Hospital & HealthCare. Available free of charge to caregivers of people diagnosed with cancer.
