Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary Plans "Beaverhead County Traditions" Parade

This year's theme for the Labor Day parade is "Beaverhead County Traditions." To enter, please pick up an entry form at Womack's Printing Place, Dillon Medical Supply, State Bank & Trust, Wells Fargo, or online at www.dillonjaycees.com.

Entries to be judged are due August 27, 2014. Day-of parade entries are welcome to participate, but not eligible for judging. There is no cost to enter. Divisions include: Youth Organization, Comic/Novelty, Adult Organization, Youth Horse, Adult Horse, Commercial, Advertising, Car, & Political.

Entrants must be in position by 9:00 AM the day of the parade, with the parade beginning at 10:00 AM.

As in previous years, in order to protect our community's children, any group or individual who wishes to throw candy or promotional items must do so while walking, not riding in a vehicle or on horseback. This is intended to keep the candy away from vehicle tires and hooves, discouraging children from running out into the street to pick up candy. Dillon's Labor Day Parade is one of only a handful left in the state that allows candy-throwing. Thank you for your consideration while planning your parade entry.

For more information about the 2014 Labor Day Parade, please contact Kaylan Minor at (406) 240-8356 or Sarah Nelson at (406) 925-9042.

Who's next?

Barry Borg

A letter to the editor in the Western Ag Reporter

L.G., the Montana Free Press? I like it. It implies that you are free to print the truth, and it also implies that the rest of the media is not. But you need to keep the title WAR, because we in the West are at war for our very survival.

Recently, Fox News -reported that 50,000 acres of the Oregon wilderness area were to be set aside on the whim of "the King" and that the ranches there would have to give up their grazing rights. This is the trail of tears that write about. The next day it was announced that it was actually 500,000 acres set aside by "the King." Who's next?

It is not just Cliven Bundy. It is everyone who has cows on federal and private land. It is the Western states with vast amounts of federal land. When they were territories, they were promised the federal lands for becoming states. This is what Cliven Bundy has been saying. That is why he did not pay the Peds fees. That land belonged to Nevada and NOT to the federal government. It is not just the Native Americans whose treaties were broken. What happens in the states where the vast majority of the land mass is owned by the feds? Those states can never attain their full potential for economic or population growth.

If you live in a land that is mostly owned and ruled by a foreign power, your rights are always up for grabs. Then it follows that those proclaimed "states" are actually colonies, and that would make the people colonists. The Western states have been had. Colonists do not really get to sit in the king's parliament, do they? Remember history?

We are not secure in our own homes on our private land either. The feds will use us as tools, and they will use every species out there-- from wolves to sage grouse-- to implement Agenda 21. Another tool will be that children will never again be taught their constitutional rights or responsibilities in school. There will be no railroads, no settlements, and no wire fences. That is where we are going with all of this. Remember the Poppers, Buffalo Commons, etc.

So what must we do? What can we do? Let us revisit history. Some of us still know it. What did the colonists do? I am not saying we should start shooting. No, no, no. What did Wayne Ruge do? He fought in court. He won his case. But he was not paid his settlements.

So the courts must be changed. This is the root issue. The states need to sue for their rights to their own land. We need a national sagebrush rebellion. North Dakota, for example, gave up 500,000 acres for a lake, and we NEVER received the promised benefits... another treaty broken by the feds. This is the exact same situation with the Sioux and the Badlands. To this day the Sioux have not received a penny for their great loss of the Badlands to the feds. What has happened to our 5th amendment wherein it states that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation?

Get informed. Band together. Say "Enough! No more!" Speaking of enough, this IS enough!

Rader Creek Road Work Begins June 11

The Forest Service will begin road work on the Rader Creek Road - FS road #240 beginning Wed. June 11. Work will begin at the junction of Montana Highway 2 and continue north for approximately 3.5 miles to the junction of Whiskey Gulch. Work includes culvert replacement and installation, ditch cleaning and graveling.

Road crews will be working on the road between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to allow for commuting work traffic to travel the road in the morning and evening hours. During the work periods residents and visitors can anticipate delays of up to one hour as the road will be impassable during culvert replacement. The road will be open north to Interstate 90 as an alternative route. The work is expected to be completed by Fri., June 20.

For Father's Day: Why Dads Are Essential to Kids

By Tom Purcell

Get this: Dads are essential to kids.

According to the National Fatherhood Initiative, kids who grow up without dads are more likely to grow up poor, drop out of school, end up in jail and encounter numerous other struggles in life than kids who grow up with dads do.

This information comes as no shock to most men. We know that boys are prone to stupidity and that the creature best suited to taming them is the like-minded fellow called dad.

When I was five, my father told me to stop jumping around the tub, but I did so anyway. I slipped and hit my head on a ceramic soap dish. It busted into a dozen pieces. My father responded to my stupidity the way he often did.

"Son of a !!!"

I pretended to be hurt, but he knew I was fine. He knew a noggin as hard as mine could have busted a dozen soap dishes without so much as a bruise. Breaking things was one of my talents.

Over the years, I clogged a toilet with an apple core, shattered a picture window with a baseball and hit a golf ball through a neighbor's window (I fled, was later apprehended, and had to mow a lot of lawns to pay my father back for the cost of a new window).

I made it hard for my father to fix the things I broke though. This is because I lost many of his tools over the years. I was permitted to use them to build shacks and go-carts, so long as I put them back where they belonged.

But I didn't always put them back. He'd usually find them lying in the yard — after hitting them with the lawn mower blade — which prompted a familiar reaction.

"Son of a !!!"

When I was a teen, I destroyed more expensive items, such as automobiles. My father made the mistake of purchasing a 1979 Ford Pinto with a powerful six-cylinder motor — it could burn rubber at will.

When he discovered that a right-rear tire only six weeks old was worn to the threads, he had but one response.

"Son of a !!!"

In addition to costing him money, I saw it as my duty to butt heads with him — or, to be more precise, it was his duty to butt heads with me. He grew up without a father and he remembered the dumb things he did in his youth.

He knew that most any boy is only one or two knuckle-headed decisions away from heading off in a dangerous direction. His job was to keep me in line, a task that was often unpleasant for him.

In high school, I began making a lot of money running a stone-masonry business, and I announced I was going to buy my own car. But the unenlightened old man made me do something stupid with the money: save it for college. I was furious and fought him hard, but he wouldn't relent.

The friction my father caused me, I now know, was also the basis for my respect for him. A father gives a boy someone to look up to and model himself after. And all that friction over the years polishes an average lump of coal into a diamond.

I'm glad people are doing studies that confirm what a lot of folks have always known about fathers. When boys don't have committed fathers to agitate — and when caring fathers aren't around to inflict unpleasantness on their sons — the result is too often tragic.

When dads are around, things usually work out in the end. My dad had the satisfaction of seeing me turn out all right. A few years after I graduated from college and bought my first nice car, I let him take a drive. He revved the motor, dropped the transmission into gear, then burned rubber all the way up the road.

I had but one thing to say to that.

OLD GLORY

Submitted by Chuck Dishno

Flag Day, June, 14th.

"I am the flag of the United States of America. My name is Old Glory. I fly atop the world's tallest buildings. I stand watch in America's halls of justice. I stand guard majestically over great institutions of learning.

I stand guard with the greatest military power in the world. Look up and see me. I stand for peace, honor, truth and justice. I stand for freedom. I am confident; I am arrogant; I am proud. When I am flown with my fellow banners, my head is a little higher, my colors a little truer. I bow to no one. I am recognized all over the world.

I am worshipped. I am loved and I am feared. I have fought in every battle of every war for more than 200 years: Gettysburg, Shilo, Appomattox, San Juan Hill, the trenches of France, the Argonne Forest, Anzio, Rome, the beaches of Normandy, Guam, Okinawa, Japan, Korea, Vietnam, in the Persian Gulf and a score of places long forgotten, by all but those who were there with me. I was there.

I led my Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen and Marines. I followed them and watched over them. They loved me. I was on a small hill in Iwo Jima. I was dirty, battle-worn and tired, but my Marines and Sailors cheered me. And I was proud. I have been soiled, burned, torn and trampled on the streets of countries that I have helped set free. It does not hurt, for I have been soiled, burned, torn and trampled on the streets of my own country. And when it is by those I have served in battle with, it hurts. But I shall overcome, for I am strong. I have slipped the bonds of earth and from my vantage point on the moon, I stand watch over the uncharted new frontiers of space.

I have been silent witness to all of America's finest hours. But my finest hour comes when I am torn in strips to be used as bandages for my wounded comrades on the field of battle - when I fly at half mast to honor my Soldiers, my Airman, my Sailors, my Marines, and - when I lie in the trembling arms of a grieving mother, at the grave side of her fallen son or daughter. I am proud. My name is "Old Glory." Long may I wave, dear God, long may I wave."
