Union, City Employees & Mayor:

By: MJ

Mayor Klakken with city employees Mr. Devers and Mr. Roder and Union Representative came to the table to discuss employee's wages and benefits. Informative discussion was held between Mayor and Union Rep. about: understanding past history, overtime, departments, adjustment of wages, retirement, comp time, starting wages with or without experience, probationary period & what wage increase would be received at end of probationary period...

For discussion purposes Mayor Klakken brought to the table facts, figures and a directional proposal that addressed all of the above.

One of the concerns the employees was the "on call" allowance of $250.00. Water Department employees must be available once every three weeks in case of emergencies.

At the present time employees work (1) one year before they are considered a permanent employee. It was discussed to lower that requirement to (6) six months. A permanent position is a job that exists year after year. A seasonal job would be considered a permanent job because it is a position that exists every year. Short term jobs (one time only) would not be considered permanent.

A starting gross salary for a city employee is no less than (could be higher depending on qualifications) $24,000 a year. Benefits like; insurance, retirement, vacation & etc. are above the $24,000.

At this time for health insurance employees pay approx. 10% of the cost and city pays approx. 90%.

Meetings where wages are discussed personal emotions will be involved. When the Mayor brought facts figures to the table that helped all to understand the economics of the city government, an amicable and productive meeting was held.

When Government Runs Health Care

By Tom Purcell

No wonder I am so cynical about government health care. Unless you live under a rock, you probably know that the Department of Veterans Affairs is facing some care-delivery challenges.

As it goes, according to the VA's internal audit report released last week, more than 57,000 veterans who signed up for care at VA-run facilities have waited at least 90 days for their first appointments — well beyond the VA's goal of providing first appointments within 14 days of an initial request.

Such challenges have been around a good long while. In fact, writes Andrew Kaczynski for Buzzfeed, President Obama made promises to address such VA health-care challenges some seven times between 2007 and 2009.

"It's time for comprehensive reform," said Obama while running for the presidency. "When I am president, building a 21st-century VA to serve our veterans will be an equal priority to building a 21st-century military to fight our wars."

Regrettably, that didn't happen. To be sure, the VA is STILL using 20th-century practices and failing considerably to meet the needs of our veterans — which is why veterans are waiting so long to get care.

Here's what's worse: About 13 percent of the rank-and-file employees who schedule VA patients indicated they were told by their superiors to falsify reports to mask the fact that wait times were way longer than genuine reports said they were.

This is how failed government bureaucrats often solve their problems: They don't solve them at all. They simply force their underlings to alter reports so that the problem appears not to exist — despite the suffering of our veterans.

In fact, says the VA audit, about 8 percent of the VA schedulers kept separate, unofficial lists to track patients who waited at least 90 days for appointments — essentially keeping two sets of books to make the "official" numbers appear more pleasing to VA bureaucrats.

And the poor rank-and-file VA employees have had to go along with it — or face various punishments. VA employees at 24 VA locations said they felt threatened or coerced to manipulate the numbers — numbers that made the 115-day waiting average appear as a 24-day average — and who can blame them?

The frustration is because our country and government organizations can do so much better. And now that this latest VA scandal is out in the open, I hope to goodness we actually solve the VA's problems this time.

The real solution to the wait times our veterans are facing is to unleash competition and creativity and give veterans vouchers to purchase care as they choose in the private sector — rather than wait months to get into a government-run VA facility. That is what bipartisan legislation in the House and Senate is finally seeking to do — and if Medicare Part D is any indication, it will work.

Medicare Part D is a successful government entitlement program that provides drugs to the elderly. It is successful because seniors are free to choose among a variety of benefits, costs and plans offered by private insurers. And Medicare Part D participants' actual costs are HALF the monthly average of $61 that Medicare trustees estimated for 2013, according to The Heartland Institute.

Sheesh, what a concept: freedom, choice, competition and creativity. In the private sector, you see, if a health facility makes patients wait three months for an appointment, patients will go to another provider that doesn't make them wait. That is how freedom of choice works and efficiencies are born.

I fear we won't give veterans such freedom, though. I fear our politicians will lather up the populace with more empty words, promise needed reforms, then promptly fail to deliver them.

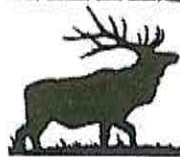

As I said, no wonder I am so cynical about government health care.

"MONTANA'S VIGILANTES AND THE LAW IN 1863-1865"

Bannack State Park will host the Humanities Montana Speakers Bureau program "A Vacuum of Law: Montana's Vigilantes and the Law in 1863-1864" on June 21st at 2pm in the old church.

On March 4, 1863, President Lincoln approved the Territory of Idaho, which was governed from Lewiston, on the western slope of the Bitterroot Mountains. In forming the territory from parts of four others, Congress neglected to ensure that any statutes transferred to Idaho. As a result, no civil or criminal code or procedure existed when on May 26, 1863, gold-seekers made a rich strike on the eastern slope of the Bitterroots, in Alder Creek. The miners set up mining districts, with rules governing claims and providing punishments for theft and claim jumping. Millions in gold were being mined in a vacuum of law. Soon ruffians ruled and murder was tolerated. Even with the miners courts, there was neither a code of law nor reliable law enforcement. The Vigilantes, some of whom were lawyers, formed in December 1863. Within weeks, they had hanged 22 men and established a "People's Court." Rather than act-

Letter to the Editor

A LIBERAL IS SOMEONE WHO...

Submitted by Chuck Dishno

- (1) A liberal is someone who thinks Republicans are waging a war on women, but that the Muslim world isn't.
- (2) A liberal is someone who says to a pregnant woman: 'Don't smoke, it'll hurt your baby,' but tells her it's quite okay to abort that same baby.
- (3) A liberal is someone who thinks Fox News lies, but Obama doesn't.
- (4) A liberal is someone who lives in a gated community or behind a high wall, but says that a border fence won't work.
- (5) A liberal is someone who wails about 'corporate welfare,' but thinks it's great that Obama bailed out General Motors to save union contracts and blew a billion tax dollars on certain-to-fail green energy companies in exchange for campaign contributions.
- (6) A liberal is someone who protested the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan and proclaimed the Patriot Act fascistic, until Barack Obama took office.

The Jaycee Creed

We believe:

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;

That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;

That government should be of laws rather than of men;

That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;

And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

~C.W. Brownfield
