ROTC Woes: Can The Enrollment Slide Be Reversed?

By Danny Tyree

According to the Washington Post, nationwide enrollment in the Army's Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) has declined more than 16 percent in the past two school years.

The ROTC trains and commissions more than six of every 10 new Army officers each year, so this is a matter of grave concern.

The top Army brass is trying to put a positive spin on the shortage by stressing "quality over quantity." Which, of course, is exactly what the enemy would do. ("I know the American forces are wandering around without enough leadership, but did you see the dissertation that officer wrote??? Anybody got a white flag ready, just in case?")

Hollywood has certainly done its part to weaken the appeal of the ROTC program, as when ROTC graduates try to moonlight in the "Expendables" movies series. ("What? You're a second-lieutenant? C'mon, you don't even need to AUDITION.")

Parents used to push their children toward the noble calling of the ROTC, but times have changed. ("Son, there are sinister forces out there. We'll sleep better at night and your ancestors will look down on you with pride if you build up your courage and enlist in Anthropology of Indigenous Swiss Clockmakers.")

General fear of committing a big chunk of one's life to the military has played a role in making liberal arts majors more appealing. ("You know what they say, man: Why buy the cow when you can flip burgers for free?")

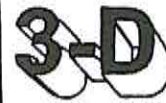

The open-ended nature of 21st-century conflicts has given pause to many who would otherwise be ready for combat. The Pentagon has added to the problem by its perspective on subjects such as Europe's Hundred Years' War. They see it as a CHALLENGE. ("Pikers! We can last longer than that! America's military: if it looks like a sitting duck and walks like a sitting duck...")

Recent scandals at the Veterans Administration have tarnished the long-term benefits of military training and service. ("We hear you got pretty chummy with the school nurse back in high school. We're sure you'll get along splendidly with the VA nurses -- unless they're busy with paper cuts from the waiting lists.")

Fears of micromanagement by the commander-in-chief have to play a role in the decline. ("We need boots on the ground -- but those boots had better not leave any carbon footprints! I'm signing an executive order to require officers not to expel carbon dioxide during maneuvers.")

We need creative ways to make officer training more attractive on campus (air assault training using school mascots?) or at

Growing Older:

By: MJ

When I was a young person and knew everything, I thought people that were my age should not be driving, were brain dead and a burden to society. I have found that I don't regret growing older. It is a privilege given me that has been denied many.

I've seen better days, but I've also seen worse. No; my life is not everything I wanted it to be or thought it would be. The place I am today in my life has to do with the choices I have made over the years. I don't have everything I want but I do have all I need. My life may not be perfect but I am blessed.

Scholars have written: If you are depressed you are living in the past. If you are anxious you are living in the future. If you are at peace you are living in the present. When you try to control everything, you will enjoy nothing. Relax, breath, let go and just enjoy living. In today's world I think that we should all put our cell phones, pay attention and "respect" those talking to us.

I woke up this morn with some aches and pains -- wonderful thing is I woke up to enjoy another day.

Letter to the EditorObama fiddled while America burned...

submitted by Chuck Dishno

Many Americans today feel a sense of dismay and horror as we see our country in a downward spiral; economically, morally, and politically. President Obama's indifferent attitude and the continuous list of scandals and bad policy are leading the country to ruin. As an artist I am reminded of the old saying "Nero fiddled while Rome burned." History believes that Nero himself may have set the great fire that burned a part of Rome during his leadership. Afterwards, he blamed it on the Christians who suffered great persecution under his rule. I see great similarities to what we are experiencing today. Obama fiddled, while the people witnessed the demise of America. Jon McNaughton

Believe It Or Not....It's Science!

Here comes an afternoon of incredible science brought to you by Dillon Public Library as part of this summer's "Fizz, Boom, Read!" program. Arch Ellwein will present an exciting family program introducing earth science, magnetism and electricity. Included in the show will be floating bowling balls, levitation demonstrations and optical illusions. The program is on Thursday afternoon, June 19th at 2:00 pm at the Old Depot Theater. (Please note the time change from our usual 10:00 am programs.) Hope you can join us for this entertaining and educational program!

All Dillon Public Library programs are free and open to the public. Children 5 years old and younger must be accompanied by a parent or caregiver.

LIFE IS:

By: MJ

Have you ever noticed that life is a big beautiful mess, chaotic, tragic, wonderful and weird all at the same time?

As a parent do you ever wonder if our children think there is no way they can live up to our displayed perfection, our judgment, control and constant negativity and being told "you need to do this". Have you ever wondered if children perceive that they cannot live up to the standards of the judgment propaganda at the pulpit of our churches?

In our world today when families load up in vehicle parents plug into the cell phones and talk to someone else beside child in back seat or listen to their tunes and the kids click the ipad switch to "on" or read a book, do a last minute home work assignment, turning into a Zombie while going down the road. Parents arrive at child's destination let them out while saying to them, "have a good day" and drive off.

I hear people say if only we would sit down at a table and eat one meal together it would change the family. I wonder about that. When I was young we sat at the table and ate that meal together; however kids were not allowed to speak
- they were there to eat and get on with the day.

Have times really changed or have we just changed how we do things with the help of hi-tech devices? Are we repeating history?

Dillon Jaycee Auxillary Hosting Ladies' Night Out

Are you a dynamic, energetic young woman looking to get involved in the community of Dillon? The Dillon Jaycee Auxillary may be the organization for you. We work in conjunction with the Dillon Jaycees to fulfill our call of service to humanity.

To learn more about the Jaycee Auxillary, please join us for Ladies' Night Out on Wednesday, June 25th at 6:30 PM at the Lion's Den. We will be offering pizza and beverages during this social hour to get to know potential new members. Come learn more about the Jaycee Auxillary and enjoy a night out with a fun group of young women with the volunteer spirit!

Some of our projects include Outstanding Woman and Young Woman, Breakfast with Santa, Girls' State support, Christmas, Thanksgiving, and Easter Goodwill, Brewfest, and Demo Derby and Labor Day activities in conjunction with the Jaycees.

If you are 21-40 years of age and are looking to get involved, please contact President Stephanie Vinson at (406) 490-6247 or any of our members: Jennifer Morrisroe, Sarah Nelson, Kaylan Minor, Sueann Bergeson, Ashly Cottom, and Kelly McIntosh.

The Jaycee Creed

We believe:

That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life;
That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;
That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;
That government should be of laws rather than of men;
That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;
And that service to humanity is the best work of life.
