Gallant Chance Ranch

Gallant Chance Ranch, a Belgrade based 501(c)3 organization, will kick off its RocketHub.com crowd funding campaign at 3:00 p.m. MST, Tuesday, June 24, 2014.

"The boys can genuinely be who they really are. Horses keep boys out of trouble, teach them responsibility and show them love, that's really the crux of what we're doing," said Gallant Chance Ranch Director of Operations, Jon Goff. "We have over 280,000 targets for our launch this afternoon. Our social media network and friends have committed to helping us spread the word, which is extremely encouraging and speaks volumes to the support there is for a program like the Ranch."

Gallant Chance Ranch, having run its first pilot program in the Summer of 2013, currently serves teenage boys in Gallatin County but aims to build a sustainable and replicable model that would expand to multiple locations.

The RocketHub.com campaign will run for 90-days, ending on September 21st. The campaign's goal is to reach $60,000 by that date.

Letter to the Editor

Johannes Soyland, Ph.D.
Editor Dillonite Daily:

SECOND CLASS SOLDIERS

In the last few days I saw two political advertisements, repeated every half hour or so, that struck a note.

The first was from Sen. Walsh concerning his efforts during the Iraq war to get proper equipment for his National Guard troops to help prevent them from having to come home with broken bodies and shattered lives. This story has been in the news for some time and it is quite obviously true that because of his efforts to protect his troops, Gen. Walsh brought on himself the wrath of the army elite, who went out of their way to destroy his career with false charges of incompetent leadership. One thing the military leadership dislikes intensely is a senior officer that criticizes their decisions. As a result Gen. Walsh lost his chances for promotion and his position as the commanding General of the Montana National Guard.

From my own experience, this treatment of National Guard personnel as "Second Class Soldiers" has been around as long as I've been associated with the National Guard, about 50 years. In 1971 I broke my back in a parachute jump while training with the Guard near Deer Lodge. Eventually, in 1975, I was sent to Fitzsimmons Army Hospital to get a myelogram test done to confirm the broken back, but the Regular Army doctors at Fitzsimmons simply refused to do the myelogram and as a result I was left to try to live and work with an unresolved broken back for about 40 years. Over time I had written to most of the Senators from Montana, desperately appealing for help, to no avail. Finally I decided to try our new Senator, Sen. John Walsh and, within a month, the service connection of my disability was approved.

The second advertisement, approved by Rep. Daines, presented a female Army Major who has served in Iraq and then joined the Montana National Guard. She made two accusations against Sen. Walsh, that he had turned his back while 1) she had been discriminated against and 2) while sexual abuse had occurred within the National Guard and therefore Sen. Walsh was not qualified to be a Senator.

1) She obviously felt that because of her "combat?" experience in Iraq and her achieving the rank of major on active duty, that, when she joined the National Guard, her supreme qualifications should have guaranteed her an immediate promotion to Lt. Col, ahead of any marginally competent guardsman. But, it's not that easy. Above the rank of major there are far fewer higher ranking positions to fill so most officers get stopped at the rank of major. Secondly, anytime you join a new organization, you need to prove yourself again to your new leadership. Here one of the most important issues that are considered is your loyalty to the organization. Her loyalty was apparently to herself.

2) In any organization where you have a mixture of men and women, questions of sex for favors always arise. If it's a simple case of sex for favors then the female must at some time accept the offer, otherwise it would be a case of rape. I believe women think that, if I can get a promotion out of it, for just an evening of fun, why not. It's just a case of quid-pro-quo, but then when the quo doesn't come they scream foul. Also, in my experience, many of these situations are initiated by the woman herself, in eager pursuit of the favor.

In my opinion, Gen Walsh was one of the best officers I had seen in the Montana Army National Guard. Thank God for Sen. Walsh.

Thanks

CAMPING IN BEAR COUNTRY

The Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest has finally thawed after a long winter, and we're all ready to revel in the summer months ahead. However, grizzly and black bears are also taking advantage of the warm weather and will be catching up on feeding through late fall. While you're out recreating in the forest this year, always be bear aware!

A new food storage ordinance on the Beaverhead-Deerlodge NF requires proper storage of all attractants. As more and more people are living and recreating in bear habitat and allowing bears to gain access to human food, there will be a higher rate of unwanted bear encounters. Once bears are food conditioned they cannot be un-trained and must be removed from the ecosystem – whether they first pose a danger to human safety and property or not. The only way to prevent this is to keep all attractive items with a smell away from the reach of bears.

To store attractants away from bears: 1) put in a hard-sided vehicles with windows and doors shut; 2) store in a certified bear-resistant container; 3) hang in a tree 10 feet above the ground and 4 feet from supporting structures. Remember, coolers are not bear-resistant! Attractants include food, refuse, sealed cans and bottles, alcoholic beverages, hygiene products, pet food and fish parts. Where possible, camp 100 yards from attractant storage and cooking areas.

When hiking in the woods, your best defense is bear spray. Give a charging bear a two second burst when it is 40 feet away to create a cloud of spray between you and the bear. If the bear penetrates the cloud and continues coming towards you, spray the bear again. Be prepared to play dead in a surprise encounter with a grizzly bear or to fight back in a predatory encounter with either bear species (when a bear is following you or approaching unsurprised and unprovoked). Your bear spray should always be easily reached, either in a hip or shoulder holster. When you buy a can of bear spray, make sure is clearly marked for use against bears, not humans, and replace it when it has exceeded its expiration date.

Bear spray has proven extremely effective at preventing injury in 98% of encounters. Statistics show that people who use firearms against bears show the same rates of injury or death as if they had

Annual Wildflower Tour of Gravelly Range Set for July 8

The Forest Service will sponsor its 17th annual wildflower tour of the Gravelly Range on Tuesday, July 8, starting at 9 a.m.

The free tour winds through the Gravelly Range in Madison County which is noted for a spectacular, high-elevation display of wildflowers. Forest Service employees on the tour will help identify plants seen along the way. Officials note that each year brings a varied show of wildflowers. The colder, wetter winter and cool spring brings its own set of growing conditions, producing an always plentiful array of wildflowers to view, as well as the potential for limited accessibility.

The tour will begin at the Forest Service office in Ennis and proceed toward the Gravelly Range. Participants generally drive their own high-clearance vehicles, but can catch a ride with others if they don't want to take their own vehicle. Attendees are advised to dress for inclement weather and bring their lunch and water.

For info, contact the Forest Service in Ennis at (406) 682-4253.

20th Class Reunion

BCHS Class of 1994 will be holding it's 20th Class Reunion on July 11 & 12. For more information, please contact Shonda at 520-461-6657 or Nolan at 208-410-7161.

THANK YOU

I would like to say thank you to all of those who helped and to those that donated to the benefit for Jack & Tami Zimmerman. It was a great learning and rewarding experience for me. If you would like to make a donation to support them - you can stop by my mom's work - Womack's Printing & Photo Express, 126 N. Montana Street and drop your cards or donations in the box for them on the front counter.

Thanks again, Jennifer Womack
