DEDICATE STAINED GLASS WINDOWS

On Wednesday, July 23rd, at 11:00 a.m. Dillon resident, Richard Kennedy, will gather with his family and friends to dedicate with a memorial plaque the stained glass windows given by the Kennedy family to the University of Montana – Western in memory of Alice M. Kennedy, teacher, artist, and alumnus of the university. The community is invited to the dedication followed by a reception.

In June, UMW faculty and friends were present at the library to welcome the installation of the windows that depict "The Tree of Knowledge". This stained glass representation measures 7.5 feet by 16 feet and fills four floor-to-ceiling windows in the library. The windows were designed and fabricated in the Kennedys Stained Glass Studio in Billings, Montana, by Susan Kennedy Sommerfeld and her staff as a tribute to her mother. Alice taught her daughter, Susan, the art of stained glass; therefore, this art piece is a fitting memorial. The piece is also appropriate for a branch of the university system that features glass blowing in its curriculum.

Alice Kennedy served in the U.S. Navy during World War II, marrying Richard (Dick) Kennedy on June 2, 1945, while both were still enlisted. Five children graced their marriage. In the early 1970's, after retiring from teaching, Alice searched stained glass studio after stained glass studio until she found the most beautiful work and the best workmanship. She walked in the door and said, "I want to study at this studio."

In addition to being a beautiful portrayal of western landscape, the artwork features a majestic tree that contains symbols of academic disciplines hidden in its branches. Other academic disciplines are suggested by the landscape itself. It is for the viewer to find the symbols hidden in the tree and to contemplate those areas of study that involve our natural world. "I wanted the design to reflect my mother's love of learning – a love that she passed on to her children, her grandchildren, and her students," says Sommerfeld, who has followed in her mother's footsteps by becoming an accomplished stained glass artist and owner of one of Montana's major glass studios.

From the first day of drawing the design to scale on paper taped to mirrors in a dance studio, the designers, Sommerfeld and Dillon artist, Jean James, saw this interactive presentation as unique. It was a challenge to choose the symbols for each discipline and to construct four windows of this magnitude. " We still remember being overwhelmed looking at all that empty space, but taking a deep breath, we climbed our ladders and began drawing the basic outline. The process often generated a great deal of laughter," comments James. "This was so reminiscent of how Alice worked," says James, a former glass student of Alice. "She worked from an artistic soul that truly saw the beauty of glass, valued good craftsmanship, and delighted in making the pieces that came from her studio in Dillon."

It took at least eight months to complete the fabrication of the stained glass. The artists used kiln-fired paint and copper foiled overlays to enhance the project. Much of the glass is deeply textured and was carefully selected by Sommerfeld to give richness and definition to the window. Sherina McIntyre, veteran fabricator, was able to bring her cutting and soldering expertise to areas that required great precision. "This kind of textured glass is not always easy to cut, especially when we were trying to cut the symbols to be visible but also blended with the tree." explains McIntyre. Especially moving is the band of iridescent gold glass radiating behind the tree in the morning light.

The public is invited to view the window on July 23rd at 11:00 am. A map of the location of the symbols will be available, but viewers may find it more entertaining to find the symbols on their own. Margaret Hebel, a library staff member, laughingly recalls the first group of elementary students to view this unique work of art They sat right down in front of it and found every one of the symbols and had a lot of fun doing so. What a wonderful gift to the University and to library visitors of all ages."

Saga Finance Committee July 8, 2014

By: MJ

There still seems to be a problem with the cities leaders working together. Question: Could it be trust issues, communication problems, eagerness for control, the need to be acknowledged, lacking of education... Councilwoman Westad thinks the problem is communication. Mayor Klakken explained that he would be glad to answer any questions that council has at any time. The Mayor's office door swings two ways.

As a member of the team working for the city, Mayor Klakken presented information on the City Employee and City Police Employment Contracts to the finance committee. Mayor Klakken presented schedules and explained in detail the methodology he used as a representative of the city in the negotiations process.

Insurance: The cost for a single person's health insurance is $509.00±. The city pays 90% and employees pay 10% of these costs. Insurance plan today is identified as the "Bridger Plan." There is a "Cafeteria Plan" available that offers more flexibility. Mayor Klakken stated that the "Cafeteria Plan" would not cost the city any more money and would have to be negotiated next year.

Comp Time: Mayor stated he will follow the employee manual that states; Comp time will cap out at eighty (80) hours. After eighty hours the comp time will be paid out. If an employee quits this method will protect the city from being required to pay out thousands (1,000+) of dollars for an accumulation of comp time hours by employees over several years. This was already a regulation in the city manual, voted on and passed by city council; however it had not been enforced in the past. Reality: The city did have to pay out a large lump sum of money for accumulated comp time to an employee that quit.

Wages and wage increases: Mayor stated he had worked closely with City Treasurer Mr. Straus, City Attorney Mr. Dolan and others on creating an easily understood schedule using a Grades and Steps system. Mayor Klakken negotiated using this system for figuring wages and increases.

When is this nit-picking going to end? The council is part of a team that manages the City of Dillon's moneys and all other business. Mayor Klakkan has been in office six months now. Question: Is it time that everyone buries all hatchets and works together for the betterment of Dillon.

Piney Campground Loop B Temporarily Closed Due to Hazardous Trees

As part of continued efforts to provide for public safety at Georgetown Lake recreation sites, Piney Campground's Loop B will be closed to public use. Recently, several hazardous trees have fallen in Loop B causing the Forest Service to close this popular camping area to public access. Forest personnel are working to identify and remove these hazardous trees as quickly as possible; however, the closure may remain in effect throughout the 2014 camping season.

Loop A will continue to remain open, visitors are encouraged to use caution in and around the area as assessments and hazard tree removal operations occur in loop B. Pintler District Ranger Charlene Bucha commented "I appreciate that our campgrounds users have favorite camping spots and understand their frustration regarding the closure; however, safety must be our number one priority and we are working to ensure that these hazards are dealt with so we people can enjoy these areas into the future. The bark beetle mortality has created some challenges in managing for aesthetics in the campground combined with understanding the life cycle of these forested areas."

Alternative campgrounds such as Philipsburg Bay, Lodgepole, Springhill and Cable remain open. Visitors are reminded to always be aware of potential hazard trees when recreating in the forest.

For additional information contact the Pintler Ranger District in Philipsburg at (406) 859-3211, or the Deer Lodge Information Center at (406) 846-1770.

Education Dean to Serve as Interim Chancellor at Montana Western

The dean of the education college at the University of Montana will serve as interim chancellor at The University of Montana Western in Dillon when current Chancellor Richard Storey retires on Aug. 8.

Roberta "Bobbie" Evans is dean of UM's Phyllis J. Washington College of Education and Human Sciences. She will continue her principal duties as dean while serving as interim chancellor.

"I am very excited to serve The University of Montana Western in this way," Evans said. "As one of America's most progressive universities, its exemplary faculty, staff and administrators have built visionary programs and an extraordinary reputation. I look forward to supporting the institution's outstanding trajectory this fall by joining their team."

UM President Royce Engstrom said the search for the next chancellor is well underway. He expects the search committee to bring a group of finalists to campus in late summer or early fall and hopes the next chancellor begins work Jan. 1, 2015.

"I want to congratulate and thank Chancellor Storey for a job well done and wish Dick and his family well as they settle into their new home in Dillon," Engstrom said. "His leadership and results at Montana Western have been excellent."

Evans has served as UM education dean for nine years.

"She has demonstrated outstanding leadership," Engstrom said. "She has worked in the Montana University System for 24 years, so she has a deep knowledge of the system. I know she will lead and represent Montana Western most effectively during this interim period."
