Let Boy's Be Boys this Summer

By Tom Purcell

Ah, summer. What a great time for boys to read "The Dangerous Book for Boys."

First released in the U.K. in 2006 and the U.S. in 2007, the book is filled with useful information on how to make knots in a rope, build a go-kart or treehouse, create a working bow and arrow, and engineer a proper water bomb.

The book is also filled with stories of famous historical battles, information about dinosaurs, the moon and the Declaration of Independence, and other interesting tidbits, such as how to play marbles and chess, make invisible ink and create spy codes.

The book has sold well in both the U.K. and the U.S. for a variety of reasons — most of all because it celebrates boyhood and couldn't care less about being politically correct. It celebrates the fact that boys, unlike girls, generally like to go out in the mud and play, build things with their own hands and allow nature to unleash their imagination and all five of their senses.

"I think we've come through the period when we said boys and girls were exactly the same, because they're not," author Conn Iggulden told The Associated Press. "Boys and

"Hear, hear!" to that.

We have in our population too many males, now in their 20s or 30s, who were not permitted to be boys this way when they were lads.

Such young men were persuaded to shun the ways of their fathers and grandfathers — men who were short on words and long on action, and never fretted over feelings, roughage or good prostate health.

But in the past three decades, the traditional American male has been under attack. He has been called closed-minded, archaic and sexist. Thus, modern boys are pres-

Letter to the Editor SENATOR JOHN WALSH:

I would not ordinarily respond to other people's letters in the Dillonite Daily, but the letter by Johannes Soyland, Ph.D. in the 6 August 2014 edition simply demands a response. The letter was a masterpiece at misdirection and blaming others for what clearly is a character flaw in John Walsh. My biggest surprise is trying to juxtapose the Ph.D. and the statement that PTSD caused "Walsh to forget to provide proper references in his Masters' thesis at the US Army War College." Let me say at the outset that I am responding to the egregious and factually incorrect comments made by Mr. Soyland.

As a retired Army officer with nearly 30 years' active duty, including leading men in combat, and including the same writing experience as a graduate of the Army War College, I must say I am amazed that anyone with the academic credentials claimed by Mr. Soyland can so easily dismiss cheating to receive an academic degree.

The very essence of an Army officer is honor. Unfortunately, John Walsh has at least on two occasions exhibited considerably less than honorable actions in order to improve his personal situation. As the Montana Adjutant General, Walsh was denied appointment as a General Officer by the Department of the Army for a dishonorable act that the Army decided was for personal gain. As a student at the War College, Walsh stole the intellectual work of others, then passed it off as his own in order to receive a Masters' degree and a diploma. While these two errors are bad enough, the attempt to blame PTSD, or his "advisor" at the War College for the failure of plagiarism simply compounds the gravity of the mistakes. I do not believe that senior officers at the War College routinely "check" the work of Colonels and Lieutenant Colonels, since these are men bound by an honor code, as it should be. And don't believe the argument that references "are not always needed." The War College requirement is very clear about the need to document and the penalties for plagiarism.

Shame on Montana Democrats who so quickly jumped on any candidate with military experience to push into the seat of retiring

Max Baucus that they didn't do even the most basic of due diligence. The first problem arose when Walsh was Montana Adjutant General, before Governor Bullock decided Walsh was an attractive Lieutenant Governor and potential nominee for the Baucus seat. Furthermore, the War College thesis is a matter of public record, easily checked. What were they thinking?

Before he disgraces the uniform any more than he already has, John Walsh should resign from his appointed Senate seat and quietly fade away. That would be the honorable thing to do. People like Mr. Soyland, Ph.D. should know better.

Thank you....Thank You Beaverhead & Surrounding Counties

The 2014 Dillon Relay For Life Committee would like to express our deepest appreciation to all those involved in making our 10th Annual Relay For Life a HUGE success.

Thank you...to Barrett Hospital & Healthcare for helping us host Relay for Life, to Ken Westman for seeing the dream along with us, for the Hospital Board, for all of the Hospital Staff, for all of the Hospital Volunteers. Your eagerness to support Relay, your boundless grace of our new found partnership helped us succeed and helped make Relay all that it could be and it was breathtaking. Thank you!

Thank you...to all of our cash sponsors that gave so generously to help make a wonderful Relay happen, to help us put money into programs that support our Survivors and their families, to help us put money into research and the continuing effort to end this horrible disease called cancer. Thank you!

Thank you...to all of our "in kind" sponsors that gave so generously of the items needed. Your openhandedness helped us to make Relay the amazing event it was and helped us keep our expenses low so that more of the monies raised could go where it is desperately needed. Thank you!

Thank you...to ALL of the volunteers that gave so generously of your time from the start at our Kick Off in January all the way through until after closing ceremonies of Relay. Your time and energy did not go unnoticed and Relay was magnificent because of your efforts and your attention to detail and getting all of the "little things" and "big things" done and done well. Thank you!

Thank you...to everyone that donated items for the Silent Auction and to the bidders and winners of the silent auction items. Your bountiful gifts of items and money helped us to again raise monies needed to help support Survivors, their families and research while having fun. Thank you!

Thank you...to every person that helped us sell Luminaries and to every person that purchased one to honor or memorialize a loved one. Your hearts were open and you helped us light the path where so many feet walked, you helped us to provide Hope and Comfort. Thank you!

Thank you...to the Team Captains and Team Members. There is no Relay without Teams, you all worked so diligently in attending meetings, in various fundraisers, in continuing to raise funds at Relay. For WALKING the trail and showing Survivors that you are here to support them by doing what you do best making Relay fun and spectacular. Thank you!

Thank you...to EVERYONE that has supported the 2014 Relay all along the way by making donations, attending and supporting the range of fundraisers. To EVERYONE that came whether you simply cruised the car show, ate at the BBQ, donated money, bought a t-shirt, walked or sat and watched the festivities, Each and Everyone of you helped make Relay extraordinary. Thank you!

Thank you...to the Care Givers that support those you love and give of yourselves so explicitly. Your willingness and LOVE have helped the Survivors whether they are here or gone and have given sustaining Hope not only for them but for all those around you who's lives you touch with your special care. Thank you!

Thank you...to ALL of the SURVIVORS. For fighting the fight, for surviving the fight even if you are in the midst of your battle you are still surviving your fight. For giving HOPE to the newly diagnosed Survivor. For letting us as a committee and as a community Honor you, Admire you and Love you. YOU ARE WHY WE RELAY! Thank you!
