It's Good to Have to Get Things Done

By Tom Purcell

Did you ever have a week in which you had an impossible amount of work to complete, yet somehow got it done?

Likewise, did you ever have a week in which you knew your workload would be light, so you made grand plans to complete a personal project — and ended up loafing and getting very little done?

Such behavior is true for most people. It's amazing what we can do when we have no other option but to get our work done. This old saying is also true: "If you want to get something done, assign it to someone who is busy."

The fact is, it is good for human beings to have things they must do. It's good to have deadlines and pressure and jobs and projects that we must complete. Our work can be stressful, but as we succeed, we are lifted up. We grow our skills and sense of self-worth and are able to take on ever greater challenges. We become self-sufficient and attain the means to provide for our families.

So why are we encouraging so many people to not achieve self-sufficiency through our welfare programs?

According to Robert Rector, a poverty researcher at The Heritage Foundation, "federal and state welfare spending today is 16 times greater than it was when President Lyndon B. Johnson launched the War on Poverty."

Yet 15 percent of Americans, according to the U.S. Census Bureau, are still living in poverty — a percentage that is about the same as it was 50 years and $20 trillion ago.

Rector says the actual poverty rate doesn't factor in the income that welfare recipients receive from more than 80 means-tested programs that provide cash, food, housing, medical care and other targeted social services.

Roughly 100 million Americans are receiving benefits from one or more of these programs, but only about 3 percent of these funds are considered "income" by the census.

"In other words, the government's official 'poverty' measure is not helpful for measuring actual living conditions," Rector says.

The census is good at measuring self-sufficiency, however, which is "the ability of a family to sustain an income above the poverty threshold without welfare assistance."

Rector says the census accurately reports there has been no improvement in self-sufficiency for the past 45 years — even though self-sufficiency was LBJ's primary goal when he launched his war on poverty. Why the lack of progress?

"Welfare breaks down the habits and norms that lead to self-reliance, especially those of marriage and work," says Rector. "It thereby generates a pattern of increasing intergenerational dependence. The welfare state is self-perpetuating."

By undermining productive social norms, welfare creates a need for even greater assistance in the future."

Most everyone agrees that we need a safety net to help the truly needy. But aren't we casting too wide a net? Aren't we ultimately incentivizing many able-bodied people to not become self-sufficient and not pursue their true potential?

I am grateful there are no federal programs — that I know of — that pay writers to write, as our government did with 7,000 writers during the Great Depression. If I were offered just enough dough to keep a roof over my head, I just might go for it — and, knowing my habits, I'd sit at home every day, not getting any writing done.

I can't imagine how difficult it is to become self-reliant if you are currently depending on government programs, but Rector says the way out is to reform the programs so people are encouraged and guided toward lives of self-sufficiency.

How much better off will we all be when more of us have an impossible amount of work to complete in a week, yet somehow get it done?

BANNACK CHANGES TO FALL HOURS

Bannack State Park has changed to fall hours. The park is open from 8 am until dusk. Fall is in the air and the leaves on the trees are starting to change color at the park. This is a wonderful time to visit the park as the weather is usually nice, the fall colors are beautiful and the crowds and mosquitoes are gone. Bannack is one of the best-preserved ghost towns in America, site of the first major gold rush in Montana and the first Territorial Capital. Once home to the infamous sheriff Henry Plummer and his gang of outlaws, the history that occurred here is incredible. Self guided tour booklets are available for your use. The park and campgrounds are open all year. The Visitor Center is open from 10 am until 6 pm in September. Town tours are offered at 2 pm on weekends. Bannack is located 25 miles southwest of Dillon, just off Highway 278. For information call the park at 834-3413.

By: MJ

While searching the web I have found undesirable remarks about our city mayor, fabricated articles that have been written about city government, displeasure with the videos taken at council meetings and later posted on internet...

The thrust of the remarks appear to be the need to slander a person with the intention of destroying public confidence in that person.

Instead of attacking people let's turn that around and feed the brain by attending the council/committee meetings. This would give you factual information to post and discuss on your internet sights and allow you to take a proactive role with the Mayor, Council Representative, and other city personnel.

Humans typically make snap decisions about others when they don't like what they are wearing, where they live, what they say, how they walk, how they look... Question: Could it be that it is easier to find fault with others instead of making a reality check on who we are, how we act and what we do?

"The further our society drifts from truth, the more it will hate those who speak it." George Orwell

THANK YOU

THANKS to Shopko Foundation for their generous $500 donation to help the BCHS Boy's Tennis Team! Funds will be used in conjunction with the 2013 Community Youth Initiative donation to purchase a remote controlled ball machine. this type of equipment was more expensive than originally anticipated in 2012 when parents began fund-raising for the new sport.

Boy's Tennis is a success at BCHS because of the players, parents, coaches and all the great sponsors in our community. Once again, thank you all for your continued support!

Cooler Temps Keep Madison Fire in Check

The lightning caused Madison Fire detected Sunday afternoon Aug. 10, showed faint white smoke on Tuesday afternoon according to fire officials. The three acre fire has shown little growth due to cooler temperatures. "Cooler temperatures and increasing shorter daylight lengths have held the fire in check", reported Butte/Jefferson District Ranger Dave Sabo. "Temperatures are expected to increase later this week which could cause smoke from the fire to be more visible."

Due to its remote location, steep slopes, rocky terrain, continuous dead fuels and lack of safety areas for firefighters, fire officials decided to monitor the fire rather than place firefighters on the scene. The fire will continue to be patrolled from the air and from a distance on the ground.

The Dillon Dispatch Center is coordinating management of this fire with firefighters. Additional information or questions can be directed to the Forest Service in Butte at (406) 494-0250 or Whitehall (406) 287-3223, or go online to www.inciweb.nwcc.gov.

It's been too long but it's never too late to thank all those who helped give me two good legs again. My total knee replacement works great thank to the skill and expertise of Dr. Dan Downey, his staff and the rest of the Barrett Hospital surgical staff. My post-op care was excellent due to the wonderful people at Barrett Hospital and Kirk VanSlyke and his excellent staff at Orthopedic Rehab.
