Bear Spray - Carry It & Know How To Use It

The Interagency Grizzly Bear Committee recommends the use of bear spray and urges hunters to learn other bear-aware safety measures.

Hunters in bear country need to:

- carry bear spray and know how to use it,
- hunt with a partner, leave detailed plans with someone and check-in periodically,
- pay attention to fresh bear sign. Look for bear tracks, scat, and concentrations of natural foods,
- use caution when hunting areas that have evidence of bear activity or areas with scavenging birds such as magpies, ravens, or crows.

Most grizzly bears will leave an area if they sense human presence. Hunters who observe a grizzly bear or suspect a bear is nearby should leave the area. If you do encounter a grizzly, stay calm, don't run, and assess the situation by trying to determine if the bear is actually aware of you. Is it, for instance, threatening or fleeing? Always keep the bear in sight as you back away, and leave the area.

Here are some guidelines for using bear spray:

When to use bear spray

- Bear spray should be used as a deterrent only in an aggressive or attacking confrontation with a bear.

How to use bear spray

- Each person should carry a can of bear spray.
- If a bear is moving toward you from a distance of 30-60 feet direct the spray downward toward the front of the bear with a slight side to side motion so that the bear spray billows up and creates a wide cloud that acts as a barrier between you and the bear.
- If the bear is within 30 feet spray continuously at the front of the bear until it breaks off its charge.
- Spray additional bursts if the bear continues toward you. Sometimes just the noise of the spray and the appearance of the spray cloud is enough to deter a bear from continuing its charge.
- Spray additional bursts if the bear makes additional charges.
- A full canister of bear spray is essential for bear encounters.
- The expiration date on the spray should be checked annually.

Selecting a bear spray

Purchase products that are clearly labeled "for deterring attacks by bears," and that are registered with the Environmental Protection Agency.

No deterrent is 100 percent effective, but compared to all others, including firearms, bear spray has demonstrated success in a variety of situations in fending off threatening and attacking bears and preventing injury to the person and animal involved.

For more on living with bears and being bear aware, see the FWP home page at fwp.mt.gov; then click Be Bear Aware.

Change
By MJ

In the last eight months have we seen much change in how the city government functions? Change is an ongoing process and does not happen in a day or two.

The newly elected mayor has brought a new type of leadership to the table. A leadership with a vision of working for the common good while having a high level of reasoning and moral complexity.

Change requires people to make painful adjustments in their attitudes, work habits, behavior... Change often requires people to surrender control, tolerate uncertainty and develop a new self at the individual level.

Resistance to change often comes from lack of knowledge or superstition. It is the job of a leader to educate the people about the logic and benefits of change. Change requires the leader to focus on clarification and reconstruction of values. Communication rather than manipulation is required. There is a saying: "Involve others in an honest dialog while mutually searching for win-win solutions."

Why is it humans claim that we want progress, but we pursue the protection of our current position? Do we shut down the "change process" because we fear admitting to ourselves that something is wrong or imperfect with us, fear losing or effectiveness, our self-esteem and our identity?

I have attended many meetings involving the city government in the last eight months and have watched first-hand the struggles of change. I have watched the city government neither obeying rules nor breaking rules, but changing the rules as they go.

Until the people step up and participate in their local government the elected officials will continue to put the rules up for sale.

9-11-2014

In light of Richard Turner's assertion that he will re-introduce the N.D.O. after the November elections, this is probably a good time to clear the air about his insinuation that bigotry or prejudice on the part of certain council members was responsible for its rejection last week by the Dillon City Council.

I am confident that most educated people understand that people are no more responsible for their sexual proclivities than they are for their height, the color of their eyes or the shape of their noses. And I think most would admit that it is wrong to discriminate against homosexuals solely for their proclivities.

But neither should we put them on a pedestal and accord them special privileges for those proclivities. And that is essentially what creating a special protected class under the law does. Once a protected class is created by law, whether it be blacks, Hispanics, women, homosexuals or handicapped, they enjoy privileges available to no one outside that class.

For example members of a protected class can bring a charge of discrimination under section 1983 of the Civil Rights Act (42 USC 1983) against an employer who refuses to hire or promote them for any reason; and the burden of proof falls on the employer, "subject to strict judicial scrutiny" to prove that only non-discriminatory reasons actuated the decision. This is a heavy burden to carry. It is analogous to being presumed guilty until you can prove your innocence.

The fact that the federal government has already pre-empted a remedy for discrimination against homosexuals and other sexual minorities, (the equal protection clause of the 5th and 14th amendments) imposes such a burden on potential landlords and employers.

We do not need to "pile on" by adding a city ordinance simply for the sake of belatedly seizing the moral high ground and making ourselves feel good.

DILLON FOOTBALL COMEBACK

The Dillon Beavers hung on long enough, after stopping a late two point conversion try by Laurel, the Beavers went on to win the game at home Friday night 28 - 27.

The Beavers defense had trouble stopping the Laurel boys from running down the field. They trailed 21-14 at half time. The Beavs came out and scored a touchdown with a short pass in the third quarter to tie up the ball game. J.D. Ferris then hit his 4th touchdown pass in the game and the Beavers took the lead 28-21. Laurel had a long pass and went in for the touchdown late in the game. They then went for the win instead of tie on a pass to the end zone that didn't work and the Beavers get the win.

Montana Retired Educators Update

Montana Retired Educators have submitted the following candidates for Montana's Retired Educator Volunteer for 1014: Pat and Jim Anderson from Dillon, Judy Kinonen, from North Central Unit, Lloyd-Ann McMahan from Big Sky Unit, Bea McCarthy of Anaconda, and George Sherry from the Western Unit. Last year's recipient of this prestigious award was Bill O'Connor from Dillon and a member of the Southwest Unit. The state winner will be announced at the end of October.

We will have our fall meeting Thursday, October 2nd at Noon in Dillon at the State Bank Hospitality Room at 110 S. Idaho. New members are welcome to attend!

Dr. Nicholas Blavatsky will be our guest speaker. He is currently a member of Montana Orthopedics. He will be sharing information with the group dealing with joint pain.

Dr. Blavatsky grew up in Havre, attended the Air Force Academy and Carroll College graduating in 1977 with a degree in Biology. He completed medical school at the University of Nevada School of Medicine in Reno in 1981. Prior to joining Montana Orthopedics, Dr. Blavatsky practiced in Central Florida for 15 years where he helped Winter Haven Hospital achieve its designation as a top 100 hospital for join replacement in 1998.

We hope retired educators in our area will join us for this presentation.

A free lunch will be provided. Persons planning to attend must please RSVP at 683-4329 before September 30th.

MONTANA WESTERN WELCOMES BACK HEADWATERS DANCE COMPANY

The University of Montana Western will host Headwaters Repertory Dance Company Tuesday, Sept. 23.

This year, Headwaters will present "First Position," an interpretive dance production that explores the manifestations of power and strength and plays off of the five ballet positions.

The dance company, out of Missoula, Montana, was founded by Amy Ragsdale in 2004. Headwaters originated from an independent dance company at the University of Montana. Ragsdale is thrilled to be performing in Dillon once again.

"I am passionate about sharing new forms of dance and am always excited to perform for an audience that is so appreciative," said Ragsdale.

Ragsdale said the dancers very much enjoyed people in Dillon who opened their home as host families for the dancers when the company performed in Dillon last fall.

The performance is in the Beier Auditorium on the University of Montana Western campus at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold at the door and cost $8 for general admission. Students K-12, as well as UMW students, are free. Young children must be accompanied by an adult. For additional information, contact Judy Ulrich at judy.ulrich@umwestern.edu or by calling 406-683-7422.
