"Candi" Buckingham, Cellus Ruth Carter

"Candi" Buckingham passed away peacefully in her sleep on September 12th, 2014. Born Cellus Ruth Carter on February 13th, 1933 in Bluefield, West Virginia to Fred and Hazel Carter, Candi was raised for most of her childhood in Virginia and West Virginia.

In 1951 Candi moved with her parents and siblings to San Diego, California. Her father, Fred, was in the Navy and was also a real estate broker. Later Candi would follow in her dad's footsteps and become involved in real estate.

She met and married the love of her life, Dale Buckingham, in 1952. Dale was in the Navy in San Diego, when he met Candi. They dated for a year, and soon as Dale was out of boot camp, they eloped to Yuma, Arizona and were married on March 22nd, 1952. Candi fell comfortably into the routine of being a Navy wife. They found themselves stationed in places like Honolulu, Virginia, Seattle, and San Francisco. After her husband Dale retired from the Navy in 1970, they settled in San Diego County, California, later moving to Riverside County. By that time she was deeply involved in real estate in southern California. She was buying and fixing up properties before they even had terms like "flipping houses". Candi's family is still involved with four properties, of the many that she acquired over the years. Besides her love for real estate she also had a love for antiques. She would buy, repair, and re-finish antique furniture from magazine racks to pianos. Candi helped Dale supplement his Navy pay by selling antiques, and wheeling and dealing in general.

Her love and commitment to her family was truly amazing. Her and dad worked hard to provide a ranching lifestyle on acreage she had purchased in San Diego County. Her and dad both wanted us to experience a life with horses and animals and to be in the country. She taught all of us to hold our heads high, take pride in our name, and to work hard for the things that we wanted in life. We will miss her so much.

The great comfort, that we as a family can draw from is that we know where Candi is. She rests in the arms of Jesus, the one she claimed as Savior. Her husband, Dale is a Dillon native, and always wanted to retire to Montana. They were able to move back to Dillon in 2010, where Dale took care of her as long as he was able.

She passed away in Hemet, CA under the loving care of her oldest daughter.

She is preceded in death by her parents, two brothers, two sisters, and a son-in-law.

She is survived by her husband of 62 years, Dale, and also

But God made sure that peace,
 And love and happiness was
 There too.

I'm sure if you were to ask
 Them how the time went by.
 They would look at you in wonder and
 Say it seemed to fly.

Now fifty years have come and gone since.
 Their wedding day

I've watched as God's
 Loving hand has kept them

Along the way.

Now 40 some years ago I came Into this world.

The product of a cowboy and
 A little mountain girl.

I think I'm very qualified
 To tell you what I know.

So let me say just this
 One thing before I have to go.

I wouldn't trade my mom
 And dad for anything in this world.
 Because I love the Cowboy and his little mountain girl.

Stormy Weather

Another year has come
 And gone and you both
 Are still together.
 And somehow by the Grace of God through
 Good times and stormy weather,

You decided that you
 Wouldn't quit, like so many others had.

That you would stay and
 Give your kids a
 Mother and a dad.

You buckled down and
 Went to work,
 And about a year
 Into the marriage,
 You produced a little
 Bundle of joy,
 That filled your baby carriage.

Now that boy that was born so long
 Ago, it's been so many years,
 Has seen the rough times,
 And the good, heard
 The laughter and seen
 The tears.

The times that
 Things seemed impossible
 And I watched you pull together.

You'd chart a course,
 Embrace your brood and bring
 Us safe through stormy weather.

Now, I didn't call
 This poem, Stormy Weather
 because I Thought your marriage was a mess.

Stormy Weather is part of every life,
 But many fail the test.

But not you mom and dad,
 You passed the test and I just
 Simply want to say,
 Thanks for hanging in there
 And not letting life's storms
 Blow us all away.

The Cowboy and the Mountain Gal

Now settle back and listen
To this story I'm gonna tell,
Of how a young cowboy fell
In love with a little mountain gal.
It was many years ago on
A cold Montana day.
That into the world another
Little cowboy found his way.
Two years later in West
Virginia on a cold and wintry morn.
In a small house up on a ridge a little mountain girl was born.
Now mountain folk and cowboys
In case you didn't know,
Are just about the finest, as far
As people go.
Now the mountain girl and
The cowboy grew up worlds apart.
But God had a plan laid out
On how it all would start.
Now the cowboy bid farewell
To Montana and his horse.

To San Diego and the Navy
He did set his course.

Now ships and seas and Foreign lands were what was
On his mind,

And these things were sure to happen, but something else he'd also find.

That this little mountain gal
Had moved to California too.
And one day she would Capture his heart and make
Him say I do.

So one day down in Yuma
They became man and wife.

With starts in their eyes
a dream in their hearts
They started their new life.

Trials and hardships were Sure to come, and of these
They had a few.

Honor Flight

The Mission Statement for the honor flight program is to transport America's veterans to Washington, D.C. to visit those memorials dedicated to honor their service and sacrifices. The goal is to help veterans, willing and able of getting on a plane, visit THEIR memorial. The top priority is given to America's most senior heroes – survivors of World War II and any veteran with a terminal illness who wishes to visit THEIR memorial.

The Motto: "We can't all be heroes. Some of us have to stand on the curb and clap as they go by." – Will Rogers

In 2013 the Honor Flight Network, nation wide, was successful in escorting 18,748 veterans to their memorial, with the help of 70,150 volunteers. Since Honor Flight began flying in 2005 we have escorted 117,556 veterans.

The Honors Flight in October from Oregon to Washington DC will have Allan Dempster Tait and his wife Barbara Tash Tait on it.

Allan was raised in Dillon. He was at Pearl Harbor December 7th when they were hit and Barbara was a nurse in the service. She had been part of the Butte St. James Nursing Program. Barbara was a Dillon girl also and is the sister to Bill Tash.

Forest Service Reminds Hunters to Store Food and Animals Safely

In recent years many public lands in Montana have implemented Food Storage Orders that affect hunting practices and how hunters set up camp. The Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest would like to share some tips for hunting and food storage to help hunters develop good habits as bear populations expand.

1. Bring your animal carcass home or to the butcher while you finish your hunting trip if you live within driving distance. If you're from out of town, some businesses offer storage for carcasses. There are many butchers, outfitters or other businesses with walk-in freezers that are happy to provide space to hunters.

2. Plan for animal carcass storage such as camping in a place with adequate hang poles (carcass must hang 10 feet high at its lowest point and four feet from climbable supports). Bring storage for the carcass in the form of a truck with topper, enclosed trailer or horse trailer with full doors. You can also bring pulleys and ropes to help hoist your carcass easily between trees. You must keep your camp 100 yards from a properly stored carcass.

3. Pack a tarp or strong plastic sheet to gut your animal in case you down your game near a trail or need to leave your carcass overnight. Gut piles are the most attractive carcass part for bears or other scavengers. If you use a tarp or plastic sheet to drag the gut pile away from your animal you may avoid finding a bear burying it in the morning. You must drag the gut pile at least 200 yards from a trail to prevent other hunters from surprising a bear eating its favorite food source.

4. Don't hang or butcher your animal in camp. Blood on the ground is a powerful attractant to bears and other scavengers.

5. When retrieving game, leave a member of your party to "attend" the carcass. If you hunt alone, plan ahead for proper carcass storage at the trailhead by using an enclosed vehicle or hanging system.

6. Borrow bear-resistant containers from your local Forest Service office. For all your food storage needs when backpacking, horse packing and camping we have portable containers you can borrow for FREE. Also take advantage of the permanent food storage boxes in campgrounds for your coolers and other attractants. Otherwise, attractants can be properly stored by keeping them enclosed in a hard-sided vehicle, camper or trailer.

7. When in doubt, call your local Forest Service, BLM or MT Fish, Wildlife and Parks office. They are happy to help you plan your trip and troubleshoot any attractant storage concerns.

Remember that all attractants must be stored at night and attended or properly stored during the day. Carcasses or parts may only be left on the ground if they are one-half mile from any sleeping area and 200 yards from any trail.

ADVENTURES OF SANDI EBY

Written by Sandi

Ok, I have been pretty silent on my favorite subject lately but I am still passionate about adult stem cells. Did you know that the FDA just ruled that our own stem cells (taken from bone marrow, fat, nasal, pulp from teeth) have now been qualified as a DRUG? This now means that treatments with our cells will have to go through 10-12 years clinical trials. Thanx FDA - you have been providing soooo many Cures with all your searching (sarcasm here, they have only been finding costly treatments but no real cures since polio was cured)

But in many foreign countries - stem cell treatments are continually moving forward. You might remember that in '09/10 I went to Tel Aviv and Athens to receive my very expensive cells from one of the top hematologists in the world (Dr Shimon Slavin). I enjoyed 9 weeks walking on my tippy toes, feeling textures of socks/sheets, sweating for the first time in 25+ years AND not falling at all!!

Unfortunately those benefits only lasted 9 weeks but I did say in my last update in the Dillonite Daily on 2/14/11 "would I do it again? IN A HEARTBEAT. If I had the money....." well, I don't quite have all the money although I have been seriously saving.

What now????? I have been accepted into a clinical trial in India <http://www.regenetek.com> where two promising treatments are combined. CCSVI is a procedure where the jugular & azgous veins are opened up with a balloon. Most people with MS have a blocked blood flow. I did have this done in California in '11 with just a little improvement in the swelling I had in my feet but????? Anyway what they are doing in India is this procedure and then injecting my own stem cells into that area, successfully treating the damaged venous system. They also inject my expanded stem cells via spinal tap (which is what happened in athens).

I know that there are some people who think I am kinda stupid for trying this - let me ask them, has your loved one survived cancer or another disease in the last 40 or so years?

You have someone to thank.....someone who took a risk on a treatment. Who were they who first tried chemotherapy? Radiation? What about those who risked the transplant of an organ? Somebody has to be the guinea pig and I am a very willing one - I don't have another 30 years to wait around for a cure.

I was told in '84 when I was diagnosed that there would be a cure in 5-10 years. I guess I don't know how to tell time 'cuz it's been a really long time.
