DILLON JAYCEE AUXILIARY THIRD ANNUAL BREWFEST NEARING

Once again, the ladies of the Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary are pre-selling tickets for the third annual Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary Brewfest on Friday, October 24th at the 4-H Building at the Beaverhead County Fairgrounds.

Included in the $25 ticket price are beer samples, a full roast pig dinner, live music, and a souvenir glass. Tickets will be sold at the pre-sale price until October 23, 2014. Day-of price per ticket is $30 each. Tickets are available by contacting any member of the Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary or for purchase at the Beaverhead Brewing Company.

The Beaverhead Brewing Company, along with brews from several other regional breweries, will be featured at this year's event.

Celebrate the onset of Fall and opening weekend of rifle season by joining the Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary and the community of Dillon for an evening of good brew, delicious food, and live musical entertainment.

For more information about Brewfest 2014, please contact SueAnn Bergeson at (406) 261-397, Stephanie Vinson at (406) 490-6247 or any member of the Dillon Jaycee Auxiliary.

Surviving Obamacare 101- Free Presentation
Tuesday September 30th @ 7:00 PM
The Old Depot Theatre

Presented by Americans for Prosperity-MT State Policy
Director Joe Balyeat, CPA
Co-sponsored by Beaverhead County Republican Central Committee

At this presentation you will learn:

- What are Obamacare's hidden taxes
- How you can qualify for an exemption
- Whether it is more affordable for you to not comply with the mandate
- How Obamacare shifts the burden
- What are the long-term costs for students and young adults
- Why Medicaid expansion is a bad economic and bad health policy

Balyeat has traveled throughout Montana and Alaska delivering his seminar called "Surviving Obamacare 101", which helps people cope with the many tax and insurance complexities resulting from the new healthcare law. Joe is a National Merit Scholar and national award-winning CPA who understands the complicated tax implications of Obamacare. He explains the 20 new tax increases, the individual mandate penalties and employer mandate penalties, and explains how taxpayers can qualify for one of the 21 different exemptions to the Obamacare mandate penalty. Joe is also a former State Senator and the former Chairman of the Senate Committee that oversaw insurance mandates and Obamacare implementation.

MADISON RIVER RECREATION PLAN

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks announced today it will delay the release of an environmental assessment associated with a draft Madison River Recreation Plan given both funding and staffing uncertainties.

Under development for the past year, the effort to draft a plan incorporated the recommendations of a seven-member citizen advisory committee that addressed social conflict, congestion, and public safety on the river and at fishing access sites. The committee's recommendations can be viewed on the Madison River Recreation Plan webpage at <http://fwp.mt.gov/recreation/management/madison/>.

The decision to postpone the release comes after careful consideration of the cost to implement the committee's recommendations while recognizing FWP's uncertain funding future. FWP will seek a fee increase during the 2015 Legislature as an alternative to $5.7 million in budget reductions and elimination of services. It's been about 10 years since the last resident license fee adjustment. For information visit the FWP website at fwp.mt.gov, and then click Choices for the Future.

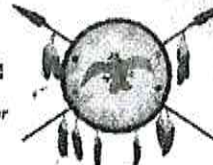

FWP will evaluate whether to release the Madison River Recreation Plan's environmental assessment following the legislative session.

CO-WORKER AND FRIEND NEED HELPDonations for: David Gleason and Helen Sorel

David Gleason, friend and co-worker, has been diagnosed with terminal cancer. He has been placed on the hospice list and his mother Helen Sorel is helping to take care of him. David has been given 6 months or less to live. Helen is going to be unable to work during this time and we are collecting donations to help her and David in this time of need.

Both Helen and David worked in Dillon and the Grasshopper Valley for years, and are two of the finest people I have gotten to know while working with them at the Klondike. They are hardworking, honest people who need our help. There will be other benefits in Dillon to help out also. Please think of them in their time of grief and need.

If any additional information is needed please call Jodi Skradski at 660-0488 or Kathy Smith 660-1250. Any donations can be dropped off at A & O Sheet Metal or the Klondike.

Letter to the Editor

CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE OF METEORITE?

Yesterday I visited the impact site of the meteorite that struck Dillon on the early morning of Sept. 9, 2014, hoping to find further evidence of the meteorite, which I did. Around the impact site we found several small fragments of lime, that had to have broken off the meteorite, either just prior to impact or upon impact. Lime is a product of burning limestone, is white and much weaker than the limestone and it would probably tend to fracture off either in flight or on impact. Lime can not exist as lime on the earth's surface very long as it easily dissolves in water. The lime had to come from a recent event involving the burning of limestone. The most likely source would then be the recent limestone meteorite that fell there. Some of the bits were concave on one side, as it would have been if it was formed on a round meteorite.

The supposed "fossils" that have been previously mentioned are not fossils at all. They are just concretions of lime, forming impact halos around the most significant points of impact when the meteorite struck the ground. It could probably be easily identified as the same lime as the fragments we found.

Also, as previously mentioned, the meteorite had some white dust stuck to its surface which is also undoubtedly lime, possibly that formed on the red hot meteorite after it landed.

The diamond is still a diamond.

For anyone who is not familiar with me, I am a licensed professional mining engineer / geologist. I hold a BS in Mining Engineering with a geology minor from Montana Tech in 1973 as well as a Ph.D. in Mining Engineering / Mineral Economics from the Norwegian Institute of Technology from 1991. I have 45 years of professional experience both in mining and mineral exploration and have previously worked with diamonds in the field.

Sincerely yours,

Johannes Soyland, Ph.D.

Deer Hunting Outlook

Mule deer numbers have experienced recent declines in many areas of Montana but should be improving with favorable weather and habitat conditions in 2014.

Recent seasonal insect-related disease outbreaks have reduced white-tailed deer populations in parts of eastern, central and west-central Montana. Other areas have stable populations with favorable weather and habitat conditions in 2014 enhancing recruitment levels across the state.

Bottom line, deer hunters in Montana will find improving populations but a mix of hunting opportunities when the general season opens Oct. 25.

Even if you didn't draw a special permit this year, remember Montana offers numerous opportunities to hunt for deer with just a general hunting license.

Elk Hunting Outlook

With elk populations continuing to be strong across most of Montana these are good times for elk hunters.

In some areas of western Montana, where populations have declined, wildlife biologists have recently observed increased recruitment of calves.

In many hunting districts, however, because access to private lands can be difficult, which can affect hunting success given landownership patterns and distribution of elk.

Montana's general, five-week long, elk hunting season opens Oct. 25.

Even if you didn't draw a special permit this year, remember Montana offers numerous opportunities to hunt for elk with just a general hunting license.

Depending on the hunting district regulations hunters can pursue brow-tined bull elk, spike bull elk, either-sex elk, or antlerless elk.
