Talk around town

By: MJ

In the last couple weeks there seems to be a flurry of definite personal opinions being expressed, both around the coffee tables and in the media. People are taking notice of what is happening with the local governments and how tax dollars are being spent.

There seems to be considerable amount of discussions on the sheriff's race, the legalities of employee's endorsements and county attorney openly supporting the sheriff with ads on radio and in papers. This type of open communication in the community will only enhance the upcoming election.

Open discussions solve problems and are healthy for a community however; open dialog will bring dissimilar ideas along with emotions to the forefront.

Many of those emotions come from what they call "learned habits," those habits we learn at a young age. Example: Maybe we learned to get our way by having a ear-piercing fit while thumping our head on the floor, maybe we learned that bullying enables us to get our way or threatening people... Moral of the story is that we refined to perfection, whatever method or worked for us to get our way. Can people change? Yes every day. Age and life encounters change people as they travel through life. New situations continually come into our lives that will require us to find new inventive actions enabling us to move on. The challenge is being aware of those "learned habits" that have never left us and tend to raise their ugly heads when a situation presents itself that is similar to a past experience. We must find others ways to solve problems other than ridicule, bullying tactics, coercion, threats...

To help keep the "learned habits" out of an open discussion leave the emotions in another room, alongside of the road, in the car, anywhere other than at the table beside you. In a productive conversation bring forth honesty and actualities that pertains to the subject and leave personal emotions out. Leaving unwanted personal emotions behind takes strength and new skills.

Dillon is fortunate. Brenda, publisher of Dillonite Daily and Mike Regan, reporter for the Tribune have done an exemplary job of bringing the facts to the people when reporting on local government.

Letter to the Editor

I usually do not voice my opinion on many issues, BUT this one affects every tax payer in Beaverhead County. I would like to state that I am an avid pet lover. Currently I have 1 dog, 5 cats that I personally own, and when my kids come home I have 5 more dogs added to the bunch. Most of my cats over the years have been rescued animals I just can't pass up. My problem with the TAX LEVY for the ANIMAL SHELTER is: Beaverhead County taxpayers already pay a tax levy in the amount of $16,315.00 to the shelter in the levy was passed on the November 7, 2006 election ballot. This levy will never go away until the tax payers of Beaverhead County vote it out. The levy in this November's ballot would tax us another $36,970.00 for a total of $53,286.00. Since this is not a "Beaverhead County" governed shelter there is no accounting as to what the money they are already receiving is being spent on... IS IT GOING TO THE ANIMALS?.....or is it going to who knows where? I feel if the shelter as it is now goes out of "BUSINESS", it will not go far. There is a need for a shelter, but one that is run efficiently, effectively, and with some accounting as to where your money as a tax payer is being spent. I for one don't mind donating to a needed cause. I just can't see paying more on your taxes when we already passed a levy and pay a tax on this facility and nobody knows where the funds are going.

EIGHT MILE FORD FAS SET TO CLOSE FOR CONSTRUCTION OCT. 28

Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks will temporarily close the Eight Mile Ford Fishing Access Site (FAS) on the Madison River near Ennis beginning October 28.

The structure of the existing bridge leading to the FAS (across an irrigational canal) is deteriorating requiring the replacement of the wooden abutments with concrete ones. The footings will also be replaced, and the bridge will be reinstalled with new trusses and new wooden bridge decking as needed.

The site will be closed to public use for the duration of the project which is expected to be completed by mid-November.

FWP thanks the recreating public for their patience during this closure.

THANK YOU

Thank you for for helping to save lives.

BIG HOLE TROUT MONITORED FOR FUNGAL INFECTION; CARCASS CLEANUP SCHEDULED FOR OCTOBER 28

After reports to Fish, Wildlife & Parks (FWP) early last week of dead brown trout in the Big Hole River with a fungal infection, FWP crews have been closely monitoring the area affected.

On October 15th, Fisheries crews floated the Big Hole from Maiden Rock Fishing Access Site (FAS) to Salmon Fly FAS (a stretch just over nine miles in length). They observed 67 dead brown trout and 20 live brown trout which were heavily infected by the fungus (saprolegnia).

A week later, crews floated a six mile stretch from Salmon Fly FAS to Brownes Bridge and noted 56 dead brown trout and three other live brown trout that were infected with the fungus

Crews then electrofished several areas to get an assessment of the health of the local brown trout population. Of the more than 200 spawning adult brown trout collected, only two collected had the fungal infection. The remaining 200-plus brown trout observed were healthy.

All brown trout in Montana are susceptible to fungal infection this time of year, especially considering their high densities and the stresses of spawning and competing for food. Population numbers for brown trout are at a 45-year record high in the area.

The Fisheries team estimates that less than five percent of the brown trout population in this area of the Big Hole has died due to spawning related stress and high fish densities (the fungus is not the cause of death). This equates to around 35 dead brown trout per mile on average.

In addition, sixty fish (brown trout, rainbow trout and mountain whitefish) have been sent to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Health Lab in Bozeman for further disease testing with results expected by the end of November.

FWP is organizing a float with volunteers on Tuesday, Oct. 28, to remove as many carcasses as possible between Maiden Rock FAS and Brownes Bridge FAS. This effort will allow FWP to get a more accurate count of the dead fish, as well as improve the ability to detect if new mortalities are occurring. This monitoring will help FWP determine if the mortalities are continuing and to determine the mortality trend.

Speech, Drama, and Debate
The Beaverhead County High School Speech, Drama, and Debate season is underway, as the 2014-2015 team made their way to the Stevensville Invitational for the season opener. Only one competitor was in attendance for the Beavers due to many students taking the ACT test, and participating in the state cross country meet as well as volleyball in Polson. Finley got her season underway by competing in Humorous Oral Interpretation this weekend and had a good day. She finished tied for eight and lost the tie breaker, she finished in ninth for her efforts on the day.
Maria Hansen is optimistic about the upcoming season with many new freshman joining the team as well as about 7-10 upperclassmen that are going to compete this season for the Beavers.

BULLDOGS BEAT GRIFFINS IN FIVE GAMES

The University of Montana Western volleyball team took on the Westminster Griffins on Friday night and came out on top in an exciting five game match.

Montana Western's volleyball team is enjoying a hot streak winning five of their last six matches. The Bulldogs swept a tournament in Denver two weeks ago and have returned to win two of three Frontier Conference matches. UMW beat Westminster College three games to two on Friday in Straugh Gymnasium.

The Bulldogs dropped the first game of the evening and came back with a vengeance winning the next two games 27-25 and 25-23. Following a hard fought fourth game the Bulldogs held an 8-7 lead in the fifth game when the teams changed sides of the court. UMW never looked back and took the game in convincing fashion 15-11 to finish off the Griffins.

The Bulldogs had three players record double digit kills on the night. UMW was led by junior middle blocker Brea Mitchell with 13 kills. Breanne Kelley and Bailey Wilson collected 12 and 11 kills on the night.

Montana Western utilized timely defense and accurate sets throughout the match to gain the edge. The Bulldogs had five players finish with double digit digs. Senior Kendra Mendicino led the team with 31 digs and fellow senior Breanne Kelley showed her defensive ability with 20 digs to go along with her 12 kills. Paige Latimer contributed 17 digs and had 46 assists in the victory.

BEAVERS PLOW PAST BRONCS

The Dillon Beavers advanced to the State class A playoffs next Friday by hosting Frenchtown at 7:00 pm.

The Beavers got off to an early lead and kept plowing down the field to win over Corvallis 48-21.

J.D. Ferris did a great job as usual at the quarterback position and took the Beavers into half-time with a 35-7 score.

DILLON VOLLEYBALL

Polson tops Dillon with a 3-2 win 25-22, 20-25, 25-20, 28-25, 15-10. Taylor chase had 17 kills to lead Dillon and Holly Anderson had 36 assist in the match.

Dillon had held on and rallied to bring it to the fifth set but couldn't get the win.
