Water and Sewer Bond Adjustments

By: MJ

Water and Sewer Bonds: Mayor Klakken, working with City Treasure Neal Straus has been communicating with Bond Council on how to proceed with redoing the 3.4± and 9± million dollar water and sewer bonds ultimately saving taxpayers money. This is a complicated process and must follow the laws. This article is only about the 3.4± and 9± million dollar water and sewer department bonds and not to be confused with other bonds the city has. Example: Police Retirement bond, SID bonds and Street Maintenance bonds.

1. Buy Backs: In order for the city to buy back bonds a buy back figure must be agreed upon by the bond holder and city. Mayor Klakken recognizes the city will have to pay more than open market value to buy the bonds back. Like any purchases made, the asking price can be too high making the purchase impossible. No different than you buying a house. The price must be right for buyer and seller.

2. Escrow Account: The city would set up an escrow account for the 3.4± and 9± million dollar bonds. The escrow account would allow the city to retire these two bonds from the books. The city would then take out a new bond for approximately $8,745,000.00 at lower interest rate. The money would be put into an escrow account along with the 2± million dollars that was not spent of the 9 million bond and also money collected from the people that was over the payment owed on bond.

Getting rid of the interest only payments for nine (9±) more years will save the city 3± million dollars alone. Question: Why did the council agreed to pay nothing on the principle for 13 years and make interest only payments on the 9 million dollar bond. If you are interested ask your council representative.

All in all with better interest rates along with getting rid of the nine (9) plus years left of interest only payments on the 9 million dollar bond the city will save enough money to make adjustments to the peoples water bills.

The Mayors goal when he ran for office was to reduce the water bills and it appears he is well on the way of doing just that. Thank you Mayor.

⇒ • The next step is for the Mayor to take his plan to the council for their approval. If you are interested

BIGHORN SHEEP REINTRODUCED AT WOLF CREEK

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks' crews and numerous volunteers successfully reintroduced 52 bighorn sheep from the Quake Lake Area in the southern Madison Range to the Wolf Creek drainage south of Cameron on Tuesday.

The operation, led by FWP Area Biologist Julie Cunningham, began mid-morning amidst favorable weather conditions near the junction of Highway 87 and Reynold's Pass.

A large drop-net was used to confine the animals (eliminating the need for a helicopter). Then, teams of two and three worked to capture and test individual bighorns before they were prepared for transport. Ten of the bighorns were fitted with radio collars to enable biologists to monitor herd movement.

A mix of rams, ewes and lambs (made up of family groups) were brought by a trailer (donated by the Montana Chapter of the Wild Sheep Foundation and Safari Club International) to the Wolf Creek area, once winter home to a native population of bighorns.

Returning wild sheep to the mid-Madisons was just one goal of this operation several years in the making. Cunningham says reintroducing bighorn sheep has great potential to increase overall herd size, increase biodiversity, and provide more recreational opportunities in the future (both in terms of wildlife viewing and hunting).

"This is an exciting project because it represents collaboration between FWP, landowners, sportsmen, other agencies and university. Everyone has been so positive," said Cunningham.

Cunningham also points out that future transplants may be necessary to augment the population.

Thursday Jan. 8

WBB v Rocky Mountain 5:30 pm

Montana Western returns home for the first time in a month to battle Rocky Mountain, coached by Montana Western alum Wes Keller (son of UMW men's coach Steve Keller). A tough non-conference schedule has UMW sitting at 8-8 and ready to make a move in conference play.

MBB v Rocky Mountain 7:30 pm

The men's game features a matchup of Top 25 teams as Montana Western leap frogged conference foe Rocky Mountain (#18) to land at #10 in the first poll of the new year. The Bulldogs have reeled off 10 straight wins to finish the non-conference schedule at 12-3 and appear in the Top 25 poll as the highest ranked Frontier Conference team.

Thank you!
