WILLIAM "BILLY LONGHORN" NICOLETTI 1947 - 2015

Per Billy's wishes to have his final rest with his Brothers-In-Arms, burial will take place at the Veterans Cemetery on Wednesday, January 21, 2015 at 11 am with military honors.

RETIRED DILLON BEAVER HEAD COACH JOINS MONTANA WESTERN STAFF

University of Montana Western head football coach BJ Robertson has announced the addition of Terry Thomas to the Bulldog coaching staff.

"We are excited to add Coach Thomas to our staff," Robertson said, adding that Thomas will coach the quarterbacks and serve as pass game coordinator. "He brings a wealth of football knowledge and success, which will not only help our players but also our coaches and myself."

Thomas was most recently the very successful head coach of the Beaverhead County High School Beavers before retiring in 2013. During his 27-year career, Thomas had a record of 211-76 as head coach and five state championships. He was named Montana Coaches Association Coach of the year five times and was nominated 11 times.

After his retirement from the head coach position at BCHS, Thomas was inducted into the National High School Athletic Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 2013.

A Great Falls native, Thomas began his collegiate football career at Portland State University before lettering for three years, 1977-1980, at the University of Montana as a defensive back, punter, and kicker.

After earning his education degree at UM, Thomas served as a head coach for four years at Wolf Point High School in Wolf Point, Mont., before moving to Dillon, Mont., where he still teaches computer and physical education courses.

Thomas was selected to serve as head coach in the Montana Shrine All-Star Football Game three times and served as an assistant two years. Thomas also served as head coach in the Montana-North Dakota All-Star Game once and worked as an assistant coach in the game twice. In 2007, Thomas was inducted into the Montana Coaches Association Hall of Fame.

Thomas has served as head coach for BCHS boys' basketball program since 2005, winning three state titles and earning the distinction of being the only Montana head coach to win basketball and football championships in the same school year, having done it twice, in 2006-2007 and 2011-2012.

Thomas and his wife Wendie are the parents of three BCHS graduates, daughter Whitney and sons Tyler and Torrey, who started together in the defensive secondary at the University of Montana in 2005 and 2006. Thomas will continue his teaching and basketball coaching duties at BCHS.

"I appreciate his belief in our program and willingness to commit to the Bulldog football family," said Robertson.

Why We Need a Better Sense of Humor
By Tom Purcell

Boy, does the world need a better sense of humor right about now. Humor, says Merriam-Webster, is "the ability to be funny or to be amused by things that are funny."

Humans are at their best when they are amused. Few things can better reduce stress or shed light on truth than a good joke. President Reagan had a grand sense of humor — and used it with great deftness to advance his program.

He told one joke about a man, then living in the Soviet Union, who went to a government office to order a new car. When he laid down his money, he was told there would be a long wait.

"Come back in 10 years and pick up your car," said the government servant.

"Morning or afternoon?" said the man.

"What difference does it make?" said the servant.

"Because the plumber is coming in the morning."

British academic and joke theorist Christy Davies says a good joke can help clarify and express complex feelings. A good joke can cut to the heart of the matter better than any speech or law or government policy.

The lack of a sense of humor can do the opposite.

When I was younger, and going through a rough patch in my career, I was miserable.

After I'd been moping around for a few months, my mother let me have it.

"You have lost your sense of humor," she said, "and you need to get it back."

She was correct. Lacking good humor, I trapped myself in the narrowness of my own small consciousness, making relatively small challenges into giant problems.

A sense of humor is the way out of narrowness. Learning to laugh at yourself is healthy. And people who laugh the hardest are always the healthiest.

True, laughter often depends, as the old saying goes, on whose ox is being gored.

"Saturday Night Live" founder Lorne Michaels has noted that the show often pokes fun at Republican politicians because

Republicans find it funny — they don't take the ribbing as personally as do some with other political points of view, he said.

I didn't know much about Charlie Hebdo, the French satirical newspaper that was attacked by terrorists 11 days ago. Two gunmen killed 12 people in the editorial office.

As it went, the magazine had published provocative cartoons that caricatured the founder of Islam, and the terrorists entered the building with guns to exact revenge. The cartoons apparently didn't tickle the gunmen's funny bone.

The magazine has been criticized by some for publishing such provocative cartoons and for also lampooning Judaism and Catholicism in a highly provocative manner (one cartoon showed nuns masturbating, and another showed the pope wearing a condom).

Though some may find such satire insulting and inflammatory, the Charlie Hebdo editors and cartoonists did not deserve to be killed for publishing it, and the acts of the two gunmen who killed them can in no way be validated by anyone.

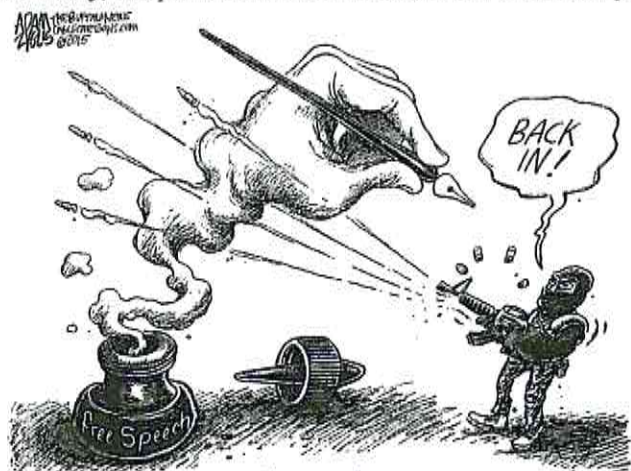

The handful of critics who suggest that the editors and cartoonists partly brought the attack on themselves are missing the point. Nobody should be murdered because of satire. Ever.

The fact is, we have far more to fear from those who wish to repress expression and censor jokes and cartoons than we do from the jokes and cartoons themselves.

And though biting satire may be unpleasant at times to some, one thing we can agree on is this: We need more good humor in the world and we need it fast.

Here's one joke I think we can all agree on:

"It's so cold today, the politicians had their hands in their own pockets."

Does the ACA impact my taxes?

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) has changed the landscape of health care and taxes. They now intersect making health care a tax issue. Our Tax Pros who are ACA Specialists, will help you navigate the ACA and your taxes; this includes explaining penalties and exemptions, the Advance Premium Tax Credit and enrolling in a health insurance plan.
