Beavers Speech and Drama Team

Beaverhead County Speech and Drama Team will be had 12 students qualify for state and 5 qualify as alternates this weekend at the Southwestern A Divisional Tournament held in Corvallis on Saturday, January 24. The team had a tough day of competition but will be represented well at the state meet starting on Friday, January 30th and concluding on Saturday, January 31st in Columbia Falls.

The Beaver drama team was led my freshman duo Heidi Martin and Sarah Griffin who placed third in Humorous Duo, in the competition, securing their place at state. "These girls have an excellent piece and they do wonderful with it", they will be joined by teammates Shelby Kluesner and Mariah Mosher who finished in eighth place.

Jade Winters and Abbey Thomas placed third in Serious Duo, having a strong final round to advance themselves qualify for state. Abbey Thomas placed fourth in Serious Solo Acting just ahead of fellow competitor Josey Creger who ended her day in fifth place.

Ray Shipman and Maggie Magee had excellent preliminary rounds in Humorous Solo Acting But had very strong competition in the finals but qualified for the state meet, by placing sixth and seventh respectively. Finley Andrew advanced to finals and placed eight and will travel to state as a alternate.

Jade Winters and Frank Pope placed fifth in Classical Theatre.

The Drama team placed third, behind Corvallis who had 195 points, and Stevensville who finished in second with 61.

Rhiannon Murdoch Kalsa was the lone member of the speech team to qualify for state, she placed fifth in Memorized Public Address.

Cameron Freebury had a tough day, but advanced to finals, he fell a little short of his goal of state qualification and finished in seventh, he will go to state as an alternate in Humorous Oral Interpretation.

Elizabeth Ostler and Carmen de los Rios competed this weekend in Serious Oral Interpretation and finished in seventh and eighth on the day. Elizabeth is an alternate in this event.

Madison Mosher placed eight in Original Oratory, and will be an alternate next weekend in Columbia Falls.

"Our division had the largest numbers of all four divisions in the state, making it extremely tough to advance to the next weekend. I am so proud of this entire team and all the works they have put in this year." Said Head Coach Maria Hansen.

The Beavers will have the Community Showcase event on Tuesday, January 27th at 7:00 pm at Our Savior's Lutheran Church.

Letter to the Editor

Jay Hahnkamp, your letter to the editor putting down Lavon is crude and offensive, and I bet your proud of it! It's ok to criticize liberals or conservatives, democrats or republicans, other opinions, etc., but it is unacceptable to put down another individual. I have read Lavon's and your letters to the editor. I find Lavon's informing and factual, I find yours are your opinion with little facts. Who are you, to put another person down?

And as always, thanks Brenda for printing my letter.

ORGANIZER OF THE EDUCATION MATTERS RALLY TO SPEAK AT ROTARY WEDNESDAY

Sam Telling, a freshman at Beaverhead Co. High School, will be the featured speaker for Rotarians and guests on Wednesday, Jan. 28, 2015. Telling will speak about the Education Matters Rally set for Feb. 3 in Dillon. The rally, with keynote speaker Montana Lt. Governor Angela McLean, will look at proposed initiatives that will enhance our public schools.

Anyone interested in exploring membership in Rotary should come at noon to be a guest for lunch. The Club meets in the Guild Hall of St. James Episcopal Church, 203 East Glendale St.

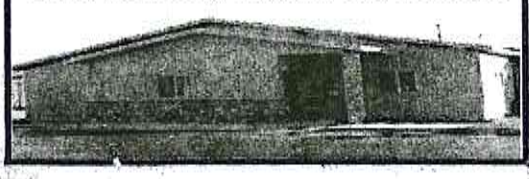

For more information, email Craig Rehm at crehm@dadco.com or Roxanne Engellant at engellantr@gmail.com.

Letter to the Editor

The mayor presented to the council at the Jan. 21, 2015 meeting, documents explaining a plan that may possibly help the city save millions of dollars and cut the monthly water bills. It never seizes to amaze me how some of the council members don't want to look at improving the city's financial standing however they have no problem when it comes to the city taking on more debt. Spending seems to be the first line item on their agendas.

At what point are the taxes enough compared to the taxpayer's incomes and the population in the area? At a committee meeting I heard one of the city official's state that people would pay a higher tax just like they will pay higher gas prices. This statement makes no sense to me. I don't have a choice when it comes to paying taxes. I do have a choice whether I buy gas or not.

Since I moved to Dillon I have heard how Dillon is going to grow and the city needs to improve the infrastructure to get ready for that growth. Does the city have a plan in place on how to entice new businesses supporting the growth theory? It looks to me like the city needs to put more effort into marketing the area in order to attract businesses that would be able to pay a livable wage thus growing the tax base of the city.

Dr. Klakken was elected by the people. Dr. Klakken, now Mayor Klakken believes in working within the parameters of the law. At some of the council meetings I have attended, I get the feeling that some councilmembers are working for only a few people, are not interested in the betterment of the city as a whole and on some occasions have proceeded outside the parameters of the law. The question I have is: WHY?

It seems that the councilpersons stalling the mayor's agenda without giving any reasons or facts, are not working in the best interest of all taxpayers. Councilwoman Westad stated; "I want to do the responsible thing." Other questions were asked concerning the bond council the mayor was using. The mayor explained that lawyers practicing law in Montana must have a Montana license. These very councilpersons were the council members that approved the 9 million dollar bond two years in advance of needing the money and agreed to pay nothing on the principle but agreed to pay interest only for thirty (30) years. Mayor Klakken knows how much money this is costing the city and is working to stop the bleeding.

Councilman Achter: I want to thank you for your interest and participation in understanding the process and helping other council members to understand that the vote Mayor Klakken was asking for at the meeting was only to give the Mayor permission to acquire contracts from Piper Jaffray and the bond council.

Mayor Klakken has been asking the council members to be involved with the process He asks them to come and talk to him, he tells them at council meetings that his door is always open and would like them to come in and visit about the issues on the table. He understands this is a process that has a learning curve to it.

How can there be a positive solution when there is only negative energy put forward? The reason we elected Dr. Klakken to be the new mayor was to make some changes. Is the council working against the mayor instead of being a part of an industrious team working together? Why has Judge Tucker not ruled on the recall? So many unanswered questions. Is there another agenda beside the mayors????????

BULLDOGS FALL TO ARGOS ON THE ROAD

The University of Montana Western men's basketball program dropped its second straight road game, falling 84-89 to the University of Great Falls.

The Bulldogs' Quinn Smith scored the first six points for Montana Western as it built an eight point lead in the game's opening minutes. The Argos chipped away at the lead earning a tie halfway through the period. Great Falls built a seven point lead but the Bulldogs knotted the game at 41 as the first period ended.

In the second half the Argos used accurate shooting and strong rebounding to build a 15 point lead with 10 minutes remaining. The Bulldogs then began to chip away at the game, putting themselves within striking distance in the closing minutes. Senior guard Stephen McCall hit back to back three point baskets to cut the lead to two points with 15 seconds remaining, but his third attempt fell short and the Argos hit free throws to close out the win.

Junior Dexter Williams Jr. lead the Bulldogs with 18 points and eight rebounds. McCall also had 18 points in the game, and Smith finished with 13. The Bulldogs were outrebounded 23-33 and could do little to combat the Argo's 42.86 percent accuracy from beyond the arc.

The Bulldogs fall to 3-2 in Conference, but return to Straugh Gym where they are undefeated this season for home games.

BULLDOGS SEE EARLY LEAD SLIP AWAY AGAINST ARGOS

The University of Montana Western women's basketball team took the floor at the University of Great Falls ready to play the spoiler but saw their chances fade in the closing minutes, losing 63-71.

Both teams entered the game looking to bounce back from losses to top 10 ranked teams on Friday night, Montana Western to MSU-Northern and Great Falls to Westminster. In the first half the Bulldogs jumped out to a quick lead behind a balanced offensive attack. The Argos battled back and claimed a six point lead at halftime.

The Bulldogs started quickly again in the second half and drew within one point of the Argos two minutes into the period. Jenna Banks and Sierra Higheagle continued to pace the Bulldogs finishing with 17 and 16 points respectively. The Argos were able to withstand the charge and pulled away a number of times in the period behind the 20 points of Lindsay Abramson. The Bulldogs continued to battle and closed the gap a few more times, but the Argos were able to extend the lead to eight to end the game. Statistics were nearly identical with Montana Western holding an edge in field goal percentage, rebounds and points in the paint. The difference for the Argos proved to be free throw shooting, second chance points and turnovers. The Bulldogs now 0-5 in conference.
