PERFECT TENNIS WEATHER

A beautiful day brought perfect tennis weather for the dual meet between BCHS Varsity boys and girls and Hamilton. The only disappointment of the day was that only 8 varsity boys and one JV boy were able to make the trip and the Hamilton girls were 6 strong for a 10 player lineup. However, every player from Dillon did get on the court, sometimes against a repeat team.

The Dillon girls won all seven matches in the lineup with boys dropping two and one match was exhibition only match due to Hamilton's sending in repeat players. The boys and girls varsity will travel to the Bitterroot valley to play in a 3 location tourney on Saturday. One and two boys singles and doubles will compete in Hamilton, one and two girls singles and doubles will compete in Corvallis and all three and four

RECORD BROWN TROUT POPULATION CONTRIBUTED TO SPREAD OF FUNGUS ON BIG HOLE

An outbreak of a fungal infection known as Saprolognia occurred on the Big Hole River in the fall of 2014. The outbreak was centered on a stretch of the Big Hole from Jerry Creek to Brownes Bridge affecting mainly spawning brown trout. Through their spring population surveys, fisheries biologists have recorded a notable drop in the brown trout population in that area. However, they conclude that the previous record high brown trout population in the river likely contributed to the spread of the fungus in 2014.

Saprolognia is a naturally occurring fungus present in nearly all waters at all times of the year. The immune system of healthy, non-stressed fish is able to combat the disease and these fish are not affected. Generally Saprolognia infects fish that are already diseased, stressed, or otherwise weakened. The infection appears as large, white, cotton-like blotches on the skin and fins.

Big Hole brown trout population surveys conducted in the spring of 2014, prior to the fungus outbreak, indicated numbers of fish in the Melrose area were at record levels of 1,871 per mile (compared to long-term averages of about 960 per mile). The 2015 surveys show the population declined 824 brown trout per mile.

Biologist Jim Olsen says it's important to keep the numbers in perspective.

"While the decline from 2014 to 2015 was notable, the population is still only slightly below the long-term average for brown trout density. At the same time, rainbow trout density actually increased in that area from 291 fish per mile in 2014 to 436 fish per mile in 2015," said Olsen.

Olsen also stressed that the high number of brown trout in the river likely contributed to the spread of the Saprolognia fungus in the fall.

"High population densities lead to close proximity of fish and higher spore production from the fungus, particularly at spawning areas leading to increased transmission of the disease between individuals. The high density of fish also likely lead to poorer condition of the fish going into the spawning season, and thus greater susceptibility to the disease."

Nearby stretches of river had a less dramatic impact from the infection. For example, upstream at Jerry Creek, the population decreased from 1,280 brown trout per mile to 980 brown trout per mile.

Because the fungus only impacted spawning brown trout (and to a lesser extent spawning mountain whitefish), there are still plenty of smaller fish in the 10-13 inch range that will quickly grow and replace those fish lost to disease. Further, the decline in brown trout numbers will result in more food resources being available for larger brown trout that survived the disease outbreak. The size and condition of surviving fish should improve.

FWP will conduct additional monitoring in the fall of 2015 to determine if the fungus outbreak is still present.

MONTANA HISTORICAL REENACTMENT BALL SEASON

Spring brings a surprising activity to some residents of Montana. It's time to prepare for the historical reenactment ball season. Yes, there is a season here in Montana. For those who love history, are a little bit romantic or who just love to dress up and to dance, this is a time of great excitement. In Southwestern Montana there are three ball choices so far this year. The Virginia City Preservation Alliance will host the Grand Victorian Ball for Peace - 1864 on June 20th and the Grand Victorian Ball of Peace - 1865 (Civil War over) on August 15th. The Philipsburg Area Educational Foundation is hosting a first annual Prospector Ball in the Old Fire Hall on July 18th. (Please notice specific ball information in the sidebar.)

So how does one prepare to go to the ball? Unfortunately, there aren't enough fairy godmothers to go around so attire becomes the first order of business. Those who sew will find abundant information and resources online for both men and women as well as children. For the seamstress, patterns are available in multiple sizes. They often show up at a discount cost. Those who do not sew can also benefit from a visit online for ready-made or custom period dress and other accoutrements. Both Ebay and Etsy are good sources for information. Search under Civil War Attire and Clothing circa 1865. There are also a number of historic costuming groups that can be joined on Facebook such as "The Montana Historical Costumers Guild" and "The Bustled Ladies High Tea Society".

In addition to the Internet, there are businesses that sell reproduction clothing, thrift shops where items may be found to use as is, or with alterations, and there are costume rental options. Ranks Mercantile in Virginia City (406-843-5454) has a variety of patterns, ready-made historic dress for men and women, hats, fans and reproduction jewelry. Material can be purchased from your local fabric store or online, and it is certainly fun to look for used formal wear that can be repurposed. Costume rental options can be found in the yellow pages and online, sometimes from theater companies.

Men's attire can be military, or civilian ranging from frock coats and top hats or Civil War uniforms to simply vests, white shirts and trousers with the addition of arm garters. Women will delight in figure-enhancing ball gowns. This may be a ball dress or a two piece bodice and skirt. The silhouette of this era includes a hoop skirt. Add a period style necklace and earrings, maybe a fan or evening shawl, and the result will be lovely. Comfortable shoes should be worn by all attending. All it takes to have proper clothing is a little planning, an imagination and a little research.

The second consideration in preparing for the ball season is the dancing itself. Do not be concerned about this. If you can walk, you can do these dances. Furthermore, each of the balls is preceded by dance instruction. The dances done include traditional waltzes, polkas and schottisches, but the majority of your dance evening will be focused on traditional set dances that are learned at the dance instruction sessions. The "Virginia Reel" or progressive circle dances may be familiar to some from school days, and are easy to do. Professor R. Alexander James and his Distinguished Dance Music Ensemble will provide well researched, live historic music for both the practice sessions and the balls.

The third consideration is planning ahead to reserve your "step back in time" evening. Ball reservations are limited by the size of the facility and, if you are coming from out-of-area, you will want to make lodging reservations and plans for a light supper before the dance. Be sure you don't delay in committing to this very unique and enjoyable experience.

Sidebar:

Information on reservations for both Virginia City Balls may be found online at <http://www.virginiacitygrandvictorianball.com>. Contact Sandy McDonald at (406) 859-3704 (evenings) or (406) 560-1587 (evenings) for reservations and information on The Prospector Ball in Philipsburg. Entrance to all balls requires a prepaid ticket and historic dress.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, in 1872, J. Sterling Morton proposed to the Nebraska Board of Agriculture that a special day be set aside for the planting of trees; and

WHEREAS, this holiday, called Arbor Day, was first observed with the planting of more than a million trees in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, Arbor Day is now observed throughout the nation and the world; and

WHEREAS, trees can reduce the erosion of our precious topsoil by wind and water, cut heating and cooling costs, moderate the temperature, clean the air, produce life-giving oxygen, and provide habitat for wildlife; and

WHEREAS, trees are a renewable resource giving us paper, wood for our homes, fuel for our fires, and countless other wood products; and

WHEREAS, trees in our city increase property values, enhance the economic vitality of business areas, and beautify our community.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Michael L. Klakken, Mayor of the City of Dillon, in the State of Montana, do hereby proclaim April 24, 2015 as in Dillon, Montana and I urge all citizens to celebrate Arbor Day and to plant trees in acceptable locations to beautify the City of Dillon.
