Gallegos Featured in new Book

Maria Gallegos of Dillon built a school house style Little Free Library in front of her home. There are twenty-five thousand front yard book exchange libraries around the world, in eighty countries. These neighborhood - take one book leave one book - structures have placed thirty-five million books in the hands of readers in communities worldwide.

The publication "The Little Free Library Book" is the story of these charming libraries as told by over seventy stewards. These book ambassadors from Uganda to India, from Georgia to California and Dillon, Montana offer inspiring ways to use these libraries to celebrate reading and pay it forward. This is a terrific example of placing free books within the reach of people as they lead their everyday lives. "Free" is always a good thing and this project lets readers from all walks of life bump into literature just around the corner.

Gallegos will be signing copies of her story at The Bookstore on Saturday, May 2nd, from 1:00-3:00 pm. She will be sharing the tale of her own Little Free Library and will be available to answer questions people may have about constructing one of their own.

Veterans & Choice Program

By: MJ

If a vet lives 40 miles from a VA medical facility or has waited longer than 30 days for medical appointments the can use the "Choice Program" if they are signed up." Health care providers in this area are participating in the Choice Program. You had to enroll in the VA health care by Aug. 1, 2014, to be eligible for the Choice Card. Medicare, Medicaid and TRICARE are not approved plans under the Choice Program. If you use any of the tree programs, you will be personally responsible for out of pocket expenses.

The "Choice Program" is a program the Department of Veterans Affairs has taken to improve access to care to 9± million enrollees. Remember you are working with a government agency and you will be asked to jump through many hoops and will need to have patience. First you must verify your eligibility by calling number on your card. A VA program manager must authorize in advance each visit of your private care.

The Choice Program is a temporary fix and lasts only

Letter to the Editor

OP Ed: Montana Loses With The Failed Infrastructure Deal

I noticed with great interest that some of the Montana Newspapers were criticizing the actions of Republican House Members who voted against Senate Bill 416. As one of the guys in the room – trying to get the deal done – I have a few observations to share.

Senate Bill 416 was a bi-partisan effort designed by Senate Democrats and Republicans, with direct input by House Democrats and Republicans, and then reviewed by the Governor's Office. Along the way, everyone had to give and take and no one got everything that they wanted in the bill.

In the beginning, SB 416 was drafted with the potential of building $300 million of diverse infrastructure all over the State of Montana. In my heart of hearts, I truly believe this level of investment is what the citizens of Montana sent people to the legislature to do – work together on big ideas that benefit the entire state.

In its original form, the bill passed out of the Montana Senate 47 to 3. On arrival at the House, SB 416 was sent to Appropriations Committee. Bill sponsors went to work, asking for input and making changes in the legislation to satisfy the demands of House members. After considerable effort, a compromise bill was sent to the House floor.

On its first vote in the House, SB 416 got 70 ayes, more than the 2/3 required to pass a bonding bill. Then the game changed when the bill failed its Third Reading vote. From then on, political gamesmanship of a minority of Republicans in the Montana House doomed the bill to failure. All you have to do is look at the third reading House votes (check the Legislative website).

Now these same irresponsible Republican legislators are looking for political cover to justify fleecing the people of Montana by not allowing a great infrastructure bill to move forward. They are saying the Governor's office wouldn't negotiate - not true. They are saying projects should have been changed - why? All the projects were negotiated between all parties. They are saying not enough money was directed to Eastern Montana – not true. In fact, the bill was specifically written to direct money to sorely needed Eastern Montana infrastructure in new and creative ways. As further assurance, a late amendment included a guaranteed amount of funding to oil and gas impact areas.

So one has to ask: Why did so many Eastern Montana
Republicans vote against their constituents' interests?
Why did they choose to block the bill to improve the sorely needed infrastructure in Eastern Montana? Why, instead, did they choose to hook up with a minority flock of extreme Republicans who had little or no interest in infrastructure? Makes me wonder.

So who are the big losers? First of all, the workers who would have worked on the scores of projects that would have been funded. Second, all the contractors and engineers who would have designed and built the funded projects. Third, and most importantly, the citizens of Montana who would have been able to use the projects to their benefit for years to come.

BULLDOG BASKETBALL SIGNS ANOTHER MONTANA ALL-STATE PLAYER

Montana Western men's basketball coach Steve Keller announced the signing of Zaccheus Darko-Kelly to an NAIA Letter of Intent. Zaccheus is a 6-foot-3 guard with length and athleticism who can shoot the three or attack the rim off the dribble.

In his senior season at Sentinel High School in Missoula, Mont. Darko-Kelly was named First Team All-Conference and earned All-State honors after averaging 15.8 points per game, 5 rebounds, 2.87 assists and 2.04 steals per game. Darko-Kelly is the son of Melissa Darko and has yet to declare a field of study at Montana Western.

"We feel that his best years on the basketball court are ahead of Zaccheus, and we are excited to watch him develop," Keller said.
