Outstanding Young Banker Award

Madisonn Lemhouse-Huntley Wins 2015 MIB Outstanding
Young Banker Award

To recognize upcoming leaders in Montana's banking community, MIB honors one special young banker each year. This scholarship is based on the community banking values of good citizenship, community service, and sound banking skills. This award not only recognizes the impact that the candidate has in his or her business each day, but also the difference he or she makes by investing in their community.

Eligible candidates are under 35 years of age and have worked for an MIB member bank for three or more years. The winner receives free convention registration and three nights lodging at the 2015 MIB Annual Convention, $100 in travel expenses, an honor plaque to display in his or her office, and prominent mention in the MIB magazine and website. This year's winner is Madisonn Lemhouse-Huntley.

Madisonn Lemhouse-Huntley is a Management Assistant/ICBA Certified Internal Auditor at Pioneer Federal Savings and Loan in Dillon, and has been a part of that bank for three years. "Energetic and diligent" with a "thirst for learning all aspects of the business" is how her coworkers describe her.

Madisonn volunteered with the Youth Connections Mentoring Program during her high school years as a reliable and enthusiastic mentor and positive role model for elementary students. Madisonn has seen the fruits of these one-on-one relationships, as she has kept in contact with her mentees and has seen increased confidence, stability, and civic attitude in them over the years.

In her application, Madisonn wrote: "I believe being involved with Youth Connections Mentoring Program helps me better the community by knowing that the mentees are given a reliable and positive role model other than their parents. The mentors learn the importance of community service and it gives them the satisfaction of knowing they helped shape that child's future."

Madisonn continues to participate in this invaluable organization by serving on the YCMP board of directors and organizing program fundraisers and Christmas parties, as well as drawing in more students and community members to become a part of YCMP. "Madisonn is a valued asset to both our Board as well as our community," said Lisa Benz, chair of the program. "I fully believe she is a rising star for our program, our community, and likely your association."

Madisonn also volunteers with the Dillon Festival of Trees, which raises funds through silent and live auctions for a nonprofit organization each November. "It is great to watch the community come together and help support each other. It is great to be a part of a nonprofit that goes above and beyond to help other organizations to succeed," she wrote. She has also assisted with the annual Wisdom Fun Run and participated in a recent Color Me RAD run.

As Spence Hegstad, Chairman of the Board at Pioneer Federal and Tom Welch, President/CEO of Pioneer Federal stated, Madisonn "exemplifies what our industry and communities are looking for in their next generation of bankers."

FIRST-COME, FIRST-SERVED Few Over-the-Counter and Surplus Hunting Licenses Available August 3

Hunters can buy over-the-counter and surplus licenses for deer B, elk B and antelope beginning Monday, Aug. 3, but few licenses are available and they're expected to go fast.

Surplus licenses are those still remaining after Montana's recent special hunting license drawings. The left-over licenses are sold on a first-come first-served basis. "B" licenses are for hunting antlerless deer or elk, and for doe-fawn antelope.

"There aren't many left over so they'll sell in a hurry," said Hank Worsch, the licensing bureau chief for Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks in Helena. "The best advice is to buy online."

Online sales will begin at about 5 a.m. on Aug. 3. The licenses can be purchased via FWP's website at fwp.mt.gov, then click "Buy a License"; or from any FWP license provider. FWP offices will open at 8 a.m. on Aug. 3 to accommodate walk-in customers.

Hunters may hold one either-sex and up to two doe/fawn antelope licenses, and may possess a total of seven deer B licenses in any combination via drawing, over-the-counter, or surplus purchase. The list of available licenses can be viewed online at fwp.mt.gov

Health Improvement Program Works

Science-based and cutting edge, Barrett Hospital's Health Improvement Program (HIP) focuses on improving health and quality of life for participants through behavior changes in nutrition, physical activity, and emotional wellbeing. The next HIP will begin August 26, 2015. Classes will take place on Wednesdays and two class times are available at Noon or 5:30 PM. For a one-time fee of $300, participants will receive 10 months of education, motivational group support, class materials, and two sets of lab draws – the first at 16 weeks and the second at the end of the program. Participants are responsible for the cost of their initial (baseline) labs. The course will be facilitated by Jenny Given, LCSW, Jill Pulaski, RD, CDE, and Deanna Nelson, RN, with medical oversight provided by Dr. John Madany and Dr. Sandra McIntyre.

This course primarily assists people with diabetes, pre-diabetes, metabolic syndrome and/or fatty liver disease. Individuals 18 and over who receive clearance from their medical provider are welcome to participate. The course is available on a first-come, first-served basis. Limited financial assistance may be available for those who qualify.

With the first Health Improvement Program class more than half over, the data shows that the program is successful for those who follow it. Over 16 weeks, 21 participants have lost a total of 452.4 lbs., ranging from +1 to -48 lbs. individually. In addition, these same participants lost a total of 90 inches off of their waistlines, with a range of 1-8 inches lost. This data supports the program's effectiveness for those who follow the guidelines.

For more information about the Health Improvement Program or to sign up, please call Deanna Nelson at (406) 683-3170, Jill Pulaski at (406) 683-3041 or Jenny Given at (406) 683-1183.

"On the Air" with the Dillon Junior Fiddlers

Sunday evening at 7:00, The Virginia City Opera House will open its doors for "On the Air" with the Dillon Junior Fiddlers. This production features an old-time radio show format and is an opportunity to hear traditional fiddle music played by an outstanding group of young people. The Dillon Junior Fiddlers and the Virginia City Preservation Alliance are pairing up to bring this show to the Opera House with proceeds from the show going to both non-profit organizations. Revenues will be used to help fund Montana State Fiddle Camp 2016 scholarships for Dillon Junior Fiddler members. With funding in short supply for school and private arts programs, organizations such as the Dillon Junior Fiddlers become even more important for the development of Montana youth. The Dillon Junior Fiddlers Association, with a track record of making music education and entertainment available for 32 years, provides a very important arts option for the young people in Southwestern Montana. The Virginia City Preservation Alliance will use their portion of the profits to further restoration efforts.

Those in attendance will meet Oliver Snordly, the radio announcer for "KPOP, your local radio station, for the good times only". Played by Ernie Gilbert, the audience will hear Oliver joke around with Snuffy McDuff (Zach Curtis) from the Toad Holler String Band. Bobby and the Buckeroos will delight with Old West Music and the Amarillo Armadillos will present a section of Western Swing music. The Singing Glory Gospel Group will entertain with well-known favorites and there are even visitors to the radio station from Ireland and Bulgaria.

Dillon Junior Fiddler Music Directors, Sandy and Jeannie James, are especially enthusiastic about playing "On the Air" at the Virginia City Opera House. "Sandy and I met while working for the Virginia City Players," reports Jeannie. "We were there too many years ago for anyone other than us to remember, but we were privileged to enjoy the direction of Larry Barsness, one of the founders of the Virginia City Players. We are very grateful to Bill and Christina Koch for their donation of the theater for this performance."

Tickets are available at Rank's Drug Store in Virginia City and at the door for $15 per person. Children under 4 years old will be given free admission. For information or reservations call: 406-660-2304.
