DEATH NOTICE: Frederick L Eaton, 81 of Dillon, Montana passed away at St. James Healthcare in Butte on August 25, 2015. Arrangements are pending with anticipated services on Saturday. A full notice will follow tomorrow, guestbook is available online at www.brundefuneralhome.com.

Letter to the Editor

On Tuesday, August the 25th I noticed a report on the Dillon City Council on the front page of the Dillonite Daily. Knowing that many members of our community read this information, I wanted to clear up a couple of issues that were misreported in a way that changes the conversation drastically. The implication of the report is that there was micromanagement done by the City Council without full information, and that I personally thought the water and sewer rate change had been done too quickly.

Firstly, it is the job of the council to make these decisions. Managing these details is quite literally the job of the council, and members of the body were doing their best to make sure the right decision was made.

Secondly, the issue was not at all that time was not taken but that there were two issues of passing the rate change that may have actually been illegal. There was a question raised about whether asking water only users to pay for the sewer bond would be considered a co-mingling of funds. That co-mingling would be considered illegal. It was also raised that the change to water only users paying a bond payment was not in the mailer that was sent out to the community and was added later in the process. I asked also whether this was legal.

Thirdly, the question has been presented often in the Dillonite as a question of fairness to charge all users equitably based on use. I would ask what is equitable about a charge that goes to water only users, making their bill higher than it had been even if they used no water at all?

Lastly, there was an insinuation that the Mayor's presentation of December 9th is evidence that there has been ample time to make this decision. That is not the case, as this addition of the rate was not included in documentation until after the mailers went out to citizens, to my understanding.

The only time that I discussed time was to point out that there is no time limit on when this decision must be made. There is no reason to quickly push through a possibly illegal rate change, and that is why the issue was referred to the city attorney for review, not back to committee as was reported.

Sometimes good, well-intentioned people disagree with no ill-will at all toward one another or the executive branch of the city that does such great work for our community. Painting that thoughtful disagreement about a possibly illegal water rate change as "micromanaging" in what was purported to be a report of the meeting is very disappointing. I would encourage everyone to read the actual meeting minutes of this date for a more accurate report. I will continue to ask questions of issues presented to me in an effort to make the right decision, and consider that to be giving the best effort I possibly can to the people in our community. If that is considered "micromanaging," then I can assure you that there will be more to come.

Thank you,
Seamus Manley, City Councilman - Ward 4

Thank you Councilman Manley for your response to the article I wrote that added additional detailed information on the council meeting 8/19/15.

The new appointed council has had an enormous amount of issues to tackle that has required them to give up many hours of their personal time. Micromanaging the city's affairs is nothing less than I would accept the leaders to do. It is heartwarming to go to a council meeting and hear in-depth and an open discussion around the table. Councilman Shafer brought up the "Water User only" issue at two different meetings and this was the first council meeting that it was discussed in detail. A member of the public expressed a concern about the co-mingling of funds. Councilman Manley took that statement and proceeded with asking applicable questions at the council table that would clarify the issue and make sure it was following the laws.

The Human Way: Two people can read the same book, listen to the same music, listen to the same conversation and in the end have different opinions about what we read or heard.

For this reason it is a pleasure to watch the council representing Dillon, sitting around a table having open and candid discussions while continuing to be a unified body working together for the betterment of the city.

United Way of Beaverhead County
Announces Scholarship Recipient

United Way of Beaverhead County is pleased to announce the awarding of a $1000 Community Service Scholarship to Reilly English, BCHS class of 2015. Reilly is the son of Mike and Natalie English and plans to attend Montana State University to pursue a degree in Biology in the pre-med program and work towards being an optometrist.

Sharon Anderson, Nominations Committee Chair, presented the scholarship to Reilly English at the Annual BCHS Awards night held in May 2015. Criteria for this scholarship include a significant number of voluntary community service hours performed during a student's senior year. Reilly volunteered his time through several opportunities, including but not limited to, the Community Thanksgiving Dinner, Community Halloween party, Key Club/Kiwanis work, Museum board walk, Eagle Scout Project, Animal Shelter, United Way, Numerous 4H Service Hours and the Christmas Store. Applications are reviewed by the BCHS Scholarship Committee and they determine a winner. This is the 8th year the United Way of Beaverhead County has offered a Community Service Scholarship. Previous winners include Shannon Judge, Susanne Rehse, Kelsie Nordahl, Jordan Ferris, Colby Shafer, Morgan Peterson, and Taryn Judge.

United Way of Beaverhead County wishes Reilly the best of luck in his pursuit of higher education. We are proud of you and hope you continue your efforts to volunteer in any community you are part of.

Letter to the Editor

Fellow Dillonites

I am writing in the hope that my neighbors will think about the impact each of us has on our town and neighborhood.

I am speaking of an issue where we all share responsibility. This issue is the care and maintenance of our businesses, homes, rental properties, and lots. Specifically vegetation control, and sidewalk snow removal.

We are constantly working to attract businesses, customers, and people that want to buy homes and properties here. If prospective homeowners, business owners, or customers drive through our town, what do they see? Do they see yards and businesses well kept and tidy? Each one of us needs to take an assessment. Do we feel a responsibility to our neighbors? Do we realize how caring for our property affects our property value and all the value of our neighbors property.

We have many businesses, rental properties, and home-owners that take care of their properties, but what of the ones that don't. How do they hope to attract customers with an un-kept appearance? How does it reflect on our community? When you drive through our streets and see hip-high vegetation, rubbish, cars and trailers in the street, and ice covered sidewalks, what do you think?

Rental property owners have a responsibility to the neighborhoods their rentals are located in. View your property as if you live next door. Would you want to live next to your property? Is the vegetation under control? Do you care for snow removal for the enjoyment of the neighbors as well as the risk and liability you may incur if some one falls?

Our nuisance vegetation ordinance states weeds, grass, and uncared for vegetation over eight inches tall is considered a nuisance. Two notices are to be sent and if the violation is not corrected within three days of the second notice the city will remove the vegetation. A minimum of $150 or the actual commercial cost will be billed to the owner. If the bill is not paid with 15 days, the costs will be assessed against the property.

Pitch in and help your neighbors that can't do these tasks themselves. If your able-bodied neighbors aren't caring for nuisance vegetation or snow removal call your city of Dillon officials. Follow-up until you get some action.

Let's all do our part to make our city a safer, and more enjoyable place.
