ANIMAL SHELTER AUTOCLAVE IS HERE

It is here and up and running. Thanks to all of you who donated to make this happen. We can now start making plans for the next spay/neuter clinic. It will probably be in late Sept. We will let you know as soon as the date is set. You will need to reserve a spot for your pet, but please do not call the Shelter now as you will only be told to call back later.

Buying Home/Water Rates

BY MJ

Home: You were gifted your first home. With intense excitement you open the front door to see harsh- overpowering paint on walls, torn, stained carpet, toilets with a deep brown color in bowl and a kitchen sink with leaky faucet. You turn water on in sink only to find your feet are getting wet. The floor under cabinet has rotted away and thousands of creatures are mingling around. You find that under the paint is two layers of wall paper. By now you are wondering about the gift.

Rate Changes: One might say that is how the reconstruction/ defeasment of water/sewer bonds and the fine-tuning process for an equal and fair user rate for all has advanced. The city officials started by peeling off the layers in order to understand all issues involved with a water/sewer statement. Peeling layers may or may not reveal customers who pay for less water than they actually use, customers paying for more water than they use, contracts with other entities outlining a diverse pay schedule, increased costs for city to provide the water & sewer, prior overcharging for services, along with many other issues.

The FAIR and EQUITABLE process for water rates has turned into a largescale task.

During this process the city fathers and others involved have been transparent, have patiently listened to public and answering questions along with other concerns the public brings to the table... They have offered repeated times to have people bring their bills into the city hall to receive help understanding the process and how it affects them personally.

MONTANA WESTERN STARTS RECORD-BREAKING YEAR

University of Montana Western Chancellor Beth Weatherby said the university is expecting the largest freshman class in the school's history.

Although official figures will not be available until the 15th day of classes, Weatherby said enrollment is on track to exceed estimates this year.

"I am extremely excited about the school year ahead, and Montana Western's opportunities to continue its high standard of academic excellence with Experience One," Weatherby said.

The record-breaking entering class follows last year's commencement in which the university awarded the most degrees in its history.

"Our success can largely be attributed to our innovative Experience One (X1). Our ability to provide students with an experiential learning environment truly sets us apart by better preparing our students for graduate school and the workforce," Weatherby said.

Weatherby said Montana Western welcomes new faculty members Ashley Carlson (English) Charles Ericksen (business and technology), Michael Hengler (fine arts), Megan Kelly (equine studies) and Erin Zavitz (history, philosophy and social science).

Faculty members Michelle Anderson, Shane Borrowman, Heather Haas and Aaron Weinacht were recently awarded tenure and have been vital to Montana Western's success and academic excellence, Weatherby said.

Montana Western offers a wide variety of majors and programs under Experience One (X1), the university's unique approach to learning where students take a single class at a time.

CROSS COUNTRY STARTED FRIDAY

The Dillon Beavers came up with a third place finish in their first cross country meet for both the boys and girls. In the top 10 finishers for boys and girls were Isaiah Girard in sixth, Sarah Griffin finished 7th, and Harleigh Johnson finished with a ninth place.

The Montana Migrant & Seasonal Farmworkers Council, Inc. (MMC), receives national recognition as a "High Value Clinic."

The Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), recently awarded $152,315 to MMC in recognition of the agency's achievements in providing high quality, comprehensive care in a cost-effective manner. Carol Townsend, Executive Director of the organization said, "These funds will be used to continue to improve our health care quality and delivery."

Townsend said awards were based on comparisons of clinical measures between 2013 & 2014. MMC, also known as "Ag Worker Health & Services," increased the number of patients receiving comprehensive services such as chronic care management (i.e. diabetes, hypertension, obesity), as well as other care provided by its clinical providers, said Townsend.

"Our clinics in Billings, Dillon, Fairview and Lolo provide same-day appointments and can even arrange for special clinics at worksites, on Saturdays or after 5pm. She said although the clinics only serve agricultural workers and their families, it does not matter what type of agricultural work, whether employer or employee and regardless of nationality or income. "If you do primarily agricultural work, you owe it to yourself to check us out."

Townsend said, "Our Clinical Director, Vicki Thuesen, FNP, has provided the clinical leadership that has resulted in this clinic award, and our patients can be assured we will continue working to meet national quality of care guidelines, and maintain the supportive, patient-centered relationships with our patients that result in improved health outcomes."

Townsend said, agricultural workers and their families wanting to make an appointment to be seen by these clinics are encouraged to call, 1-800-813-4492 for the location nearest them.

MONTANA WESTERN VOLLEYBALL WINS TWO OF THREE AT RED LION CLASSIC

Montana Western took to the road again for the second straight weekend, this time they headed to Lewiston, Idaho for the LC State Red Lion Classic.

For the second consecutive week, the Bulldogs started the tournament with a win, this time a hard-fought, five set, victory over the University of Saint Francis from Fort Wayne, Ind. In a back and forth affair, that saw no team win two consecutive sets, Montana Western prevailed 25-23, 21-25, 25-22, 20-25, 15-12.

On offense, Montana Western had a hitting percentage of .254 in the match, including a .326 in the third set. The Bulldogs were led by freshman Cady Siemion, who recorded 22 kills and 20 digs in the match and had a hitting percentage of .340 on 50 total attacks.

Siemion now has two matches early in the season with 20-plus kills, a phenomenal start for the true freshman from Huntley, Mont.

"Cady is off to a great start and handling a big load for us. She came with championship experience from high school and she plays and swings fearlessly," stated Coach Lisa Griffiths, "I love her energy and her willingness to play a lot of different positions."

Montana Western saw three other players have 10 or more kills in the match to join Siemion; Joanna Avery (16), Tessa Miller (11) and Bailey Wilson (10). Setters Sierra Cahill and Callie Hanson again split the setting duties, tallying 34 and 29 assists respectively.

Defensively, freshman Dylan Fowler led the way again. Fowler recorded 22 digs to lead five players with double digits the category; Brianna DeCock (13), Wilson (11), Cahill (12) and Siemion (20).

Saint Francis was held to a .209 hitting percentage, and a .109 in the pivotal third set, by the Bulldog defense. Griffiths was very pleased with the play at the net and the floor defenders.

"They challenged our defense with a lot of different hitters," said Griffiths, "but our floor defenders stepped up to the challenge and we got some key blocks from both of our middles and Bailey Wilson."

The Bulldogs had three players record double-doubles in the match; Siemion, Wilson and Cahill.

Following a four hour break, Montana Western hit the floor again to take on the Evergreen State Geoducks from Olympia, Wash.

Everything seemed to go the Bulldogs way on Friday as they continued to hit well, finishing with a .314 (42-10-102) mark against Evergreen State, while holding the Geoducks to a .207 (43-18-121) attack. Montana Western tallied 40 assists, five aces and five blocks in a three-set sweep.

Montana Western made quick work of Evergreen State, winning 25-21, 25-19, 26-24.

Siemion had another double-double, tallying 10 kills and 14 digs, to lead the way for Montana Western. Fowler continued her dominant floor defense at the Libero position recording 16 digs. Sophomore middle blocker Joanna Avery had a good match collecting 10 kills on 14 attempts with two errors for a hitting percentage of .571. Avery also added in a solo block and three block assists. Hanson tallied 37 assists and seven digs from her setter position.

Montana Western finished the first day with an undefeated 2-0 record, putting their season record at 3-3 in the young season.

Saturday morning, started much differently than Friday's matches as they took on the Northwest University Eagles from Kirkland, Wash.

The Bulldogs were forced into 29 hitting errors and .064 hitting percentage in the match, as they fell in straight sets, 20-25, 12-25, 24-26.

Defensively the Bulldogs made the Eagles work for every point, forcing them into 12 hitting errors and a .183 hitting percentage, the lowest the Bulldogs have allowed on the season. Dylan Fowler again recorded 20 digs to lead the floor defense. Fowler was named to the all-tournament team for her performances during the weekend. Cady Siemion chipped in with 13 digs to continue her impressive start to her freshman season.

Despite the good defense, Montana Western was unable to overcome its offensive woes and seven service errors. Tessa Miller, nine kills, and Brittany Erickson, seven kills, led the in the match. Sierra Cahill and Callie Hanson tallied 13 and 14 assists respectively. Montana Western recorded 37 assists on its 38 kills in the match.

Montana Western fell to 2-1 in the tournament and 3-4 on the young season.

Their fourth match of the tournament was moved to a scrimmage following a power outage in the Lewis-Clark State College gym.

The Bulldogs will return to play on September 11-12, when they travel to Hastings, Neb., to face Peru State, Concordia, MidAmerica Nazarene University and Midland University.
