ASTRONOMY PROGRAM AT BANNACK

Tom Satterly, Craig Zaspel, and Sheila Roberts will be on hand to describe the beautiful sights in the Bannack night sky. Learn to identify stars, planets and various constellations with these representatives of the Southwest Montana Sidewalk Astronomers. The program will begin at dusk in the main parking lot. Get out of the haze in town, bundle up the family, bring along your lawn chairs, binoculars and telescopes and enjoy the heavens at Bannack State Park where light pollution is never a problem.

Butte native Tom Satterly and crew will bring several telescopes for visitors to use including a homemade 10 inch Dobsonian telescope and a 12 inch Newtonian that provide incredible views of the heavens. Tom works in the Environmental Sciences Department at the University of Montana Western in Dillon, where Craig Zaspel is a professor of Physics and Sheila Roberts is a professor of Geology.

Bannack State Park is located 25 miles southwest of Dillon, just 4 miles off Highway 278. All Saturday programs are free, out of state vehicles pay a $6.00 park admission fee. For more information call the park at 834-3413.

Letter to the Editor

Submitted by Chuck Dishno

Seventy years ago yesterday, the Japanese surrendered to Allied Forces aboard the USS Missouri, officially ending World War II. Today is therefore known as "VJ Day." On Aug. 6 and 9, respectively, the U.S. dropped atomic bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Doing so killed as many as 250,000 Japanese, but it also prevented a likely invasion of the Japanese main island and thus saved hundreds of thousands of American lives. U.S. forces occupied Japan for another six-and-a-half years, which established Japan as a peaceful world player. Today is a reminder that tyranny must be defeated, not appeased, if Liberty is to flourish.

Bear Lake Fire - September 2, 2015

Current Status: Crews have been actively building hand lines, scouting for potential hand lines, snagging and patrolling control lines. To minimize invasive species spread, personnel are continuing to utilize the weed wash station on all fire vehicles entering the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest.

Planned Events: Crews will continue to monitor and patrol control lines and spot fires, as well as monitoring Martin Mine structures as the fire progresses towards them. Due to drying weather conditions, an increase of fire activity is anticipated. Crews are expecting fire spotting up to ½ mile.

Fire Weather: A Red Flag Warning is forecast from 12:00 pm to 9:00 pm. Red Flag Warning is a term used to identify conditions that may result in extreme burning conditions. Some factors considered are: a sustained wind average 15 mph or greater, relative humidity less than or equal to 25 percent and a temperature of greater than 75 degrees Fahrenheit.

Air Quality: Air quality has improved since last week and is considered 'moderate'. Unusually sensitive people should consider reducing prolonged exposure and heavy exertion.

Start Date August 20, 2015

Cause.....Lightning

Acres 6381

Percent Contained 35%

Total Firefighters 250

Engines 11

Helicopter 4

Closures & Restrictions: An area closure is in effect until October 31, 2015. This closure is being assessed based on fire behavior. As fire containment increases, the closure will be updated. The purpose of the order is to ensure public health and safety from wildfire and fire suppression activities associated with the Bear Lake Fire. All Developed Campgrounds and Day Use Sites along the Pioneer Scenic Byway, north of Crystal Park are CLOSED. Grasshopper, Elkhorn Resort, Price Creek and Crystal Park are open. All roads and trails used as boundaries for the area closure are closed as well as any trails leading into the closure area. The Pioneer Scenic Byway is open.

The Temporary Flight Restriction (TFR) can be found at http://tfr.faa.gov/save_pages/detail_5_0170.html.

School Days, School Days

Making Sense by Michael Reagan

USING YOUR CHILD'S EDUCATION to MAKE A POLITICAL STATEMENT...

When I first read that the San Francisco Board of Education voted unanimously to give 107 students high school diplomas, even though the students has not met the requirements for graduation, I naturally assumed it was a case of educrats bending the rules to boost graduation statistics.

But when I looked at the situation more closely, the board's action was fair and made sense.

The San Francisco board's vote was a response to the high-handed decision from the California Department of Education that suddenly canceled the required high school exit exam. Those 107 students from San Francisco International High arrived at the testing center only to find there was no test and no way to get their diploma, since state law requires passing the test before a diploma is issued.

High school students can try to pass the test beginning as early as their sophomore year and continue to attempt to pass for the rest of their high school career. The fact the vast majority of students taking the test fail it is a damning commentary of the state of education here.

KQED reports, "According to state data, last summer 4,847 math tests were given with 1,286 (26.5 percent) students passing and 5,826 English Language Arts tests were given with 1,248 (21.4 percent) students passing."

That's a quality control standard so bad it makes Chinese sheet rock manufacturers look like the picture of high standards.

Since students obviously can't pass the test, California educrats are presented with two choices: Improve education so students are learning and not simply warming a chair, or change the test. Naturally California decided to change the test, and I don't think the goal is to make it harder.

State bureaucrats decided to cancel "because the exam does not reflect the new state academic standards."

Then, after ruining thousand's of seniors attempt to graduate, the department went to the legislature to ask them to retroactively remove the testing requirement for three years so the monkeys at the state department of education can type up a new test.

In other words, in typical bureaucracy fashion, out-of-touch educrats happily put the cart before the horse and were shocked the ride was so dangerous.

No one bothered to think that suddenly changing the rules of the game in the 4th quarter might be controversial for the players.

When informed about the problem with students planning to go to college state Deputy Superintendent Keric Ashley breezily told the San Francisco Chronicle, "Our hope is that the few students who find themselves in this situation will only have to defer their dreams of attending the college of their choice for one semester. In the meantime, there are other options available to these students, including our California Community Colleges. I received excellent preparation at my local community college before attending university."

Which is the way elite bureaucrats dismiss the concerns of the little people whose lives they've disrupted.

So for at least once the San Francisco board has done the right thing. Congratulations. Try to make it a habit.
