Barrett Hospital & HealthCare Earns Top Award for Quality Care

Mountain-Pacific Quality Health announced this year's quality award winners during last week's MHA Annual Convention and Trade Show in Billings. Barrett Hospital & HealthCare was among four hospitals receiving the Quality Achievement Award, Mountain-Pacific's top award. Ken Westman, CEO, was among the hospital staff who attended the conference and accepted the award.

"As a representative of Barrett Hospital & HealthCare, it was my honor and privilege to accept this award on behalf of our entire team including our staff, medical staff and board. I am very proud to serve with such skilled and compassionate people who are so committed to providing high quality care to our patients" Westman said.

Hospitals applying for a quality award are required to meet certain criteria outlined by Mountain-Pacific. They must have strong executive involvement in promoting a "quality culture," which focuses on patient-centered care and high performance on national health care measures related to cardiac health, pneumonia, the reduction of unnecessary hospital readmissions and the prevention of dangerous and costly healthcare-associated infections. Hospitals are also required to assess patients' experience and to have or plan to have a Patient and Family Engagement Committee with the intention of involving patients and their families in their efforts to improve patient care.

Barrett Hospital & HealthCare received a 2015 Quality Achievement Award because of higher performance scores on the above criteria.

"Quality health care and ensuring patients receive the best care possible every time takes commitment from the top down," says Christy Fuller, director of Mountain-Pacific's Montana office. "Hospital leadership sets the bar for quality in every aspect of patient care, and dedicated hospital staff make sure the patient experience and their outcomes are the best they can be. We look forward to a continued relationship with Barrett Hospital & HealthCare and its staff, supporting them in maintaining a high standard of patient care."

Mountain-Pacific is the Medicare Quality Innovation Network-Quality Improvement Organization (QIN-QIO) for Montana. Mountain-Pacific recognizes hospitals for their commitment to improving patient care through its Quality Awards program. Mountain-Pacific strives to promote excellence in health care through collaboration with health care professionals in an effort to ensure patients receive better health care at lower costs.

Letter to the Editor
 LaVon D. Brillhart

From now until election day we will hear the woes, the lies, the outlandish stories from the Democrats and Republicans. They will try to persuade us, confuse us, bait us, and make our lives down right irritable.

Not much will get done for progress. The good parts will be torn down by the other side while the other side is digging up dirt that was already dirt before they started.

They will look us in our eyes through the magic box. They will try to please us, and tell us how we must have better family values, while they are tearing each others hearts out.

They will tell us we must bring the crime rate down while what they do to each other is a felony. When they get all through, but they never do, they make you feel ashamed of being an American. They make you feel ashamed that those so called grownups are not.

When they get done they all say the same, "God Bless America". That makes you feel ashamed when you know they are hypocrites. Then they tell you to vote for them and be proud that you live in this country which they have just said needs to be fixed.

I can't wait for election day which is two million days from now. Maybe it will never come!

LaVon D. Brillhart

Bulldog rodeo finishes fall rodeo season

The University of Montana Western rodeo teams wrapped up their fall rodeo season at home on a wet, cold and disappointing weekend.

The Montana Western men entered the weekend sitting atop the Big Sky Region, with a team total of 2,135.5 points and a small lead over second place Montana State University. By the end of the three-day rodeo, Montana State had taken over the top-spot in the Big Sky region and the Bulldogs had dropped to second in the region after finishing in third place, 20 points behind second place Miles City Community College.

For the women, they entered the weekend sitting second in the Big Sky Region, 600 points behind Montana State. After the Bulldogs were unable to score a single point in the rodeo, the Bobcat rodeo team stretched their lead to more than 1,200 points. Despite the setback, Montana Western still sits in second place, 400 points ahead of the University of Great Falls, who placed second in the weekends' rodeo.

Bull rider Ruger Piva finished the fall rodeo season as strong as he started it, by winning the average and scoring 170 points, adding to his Big Sky Region lead. Piva was the only competitor to have two qualifying rides on the weekend.

Tristan Hanser scored 160 team points and finished second in bareback, keeping pace with Big Sky leader Wyatt Bloom from Montana State. Hansen is also in second place in the region.

Dillon, Mont. native Holden Garrison scored 50 team points in steer wrestling and moved himself into the fifth position of the region heading into the spring.

College National Finals Rodeo competitor Tyler Friend continued his strong season as he won the saddle bronc and is sitting third in the Big Sky, behind the leader and fellow Bulldog, Phil Shields.

Other notable performances from the weekend came from Carson Clements (4th in bareback), Dakota Munns (3rd in saddle bronc), Jake Worthen and Colin Moore (4th in team roping) and Cleve Spang (3rd in bull riding).

Despite not scoring any points in the final fall rodeo, a few Montana Western women remain towards the top of their respective events in the Big Sky Region for the second place Bulldogs; Connlee Gray (3rd in barrels and 11th in breakaway), Darby Yaeger (3rd in breakaway and 11th in goat tying) and Tess Turk (4th in goat tying).

Callie Hanson earns Frontier honors

Callie Hanson, a 5-foot-7 junior setter from Spokane, Wash. was named the Frontier Conference Setter of the Week following her performances last week.

Hanson transferred to Montana Western after spending her first two seasons at Columbia Basin College in Pasco, Wash.
