BEAR INJURES WOMAN WALKING DOG ALONG YELLOWSTONE

A woman walking her dog along the Yellowstone River south of Emigrant was attacked by a bear Monday afternoon. The woman suffered non-life threatening injuries and was transported by ambulance to the hospital in Livingston.

The encounter occurred on the northeast portion of the Point of Rocks Fishing Access Site. The woman reported having walked out to a gravel bar that is typically an island when the river is running higher. It was there - in an area with brush and trees - that she was surprised by the bear. The encounter was brief, involving a likely bite to the head. The bear appeared to have been chased off by the woman's dog.

The Park County Sheriff's Office initially responded to the incident and Fish, Wildlife and Parks (FWP) is now investigating.

The northeast portion of the Point of Rocks Fishing Access Site has been closed by FWP with signs alerting users to the closure at multiple access points.

In speaking with FWP Monday, local landowners reported seeing a lone male grizzly bear in the area recently.

FWP reminds the public that bears often seek foods at lower elevations along the Yellowstone and other southwest Montana rivers during this time of year.

CNN Top Ten Hero Sean Gobin

Iraq and Afghanistan combat veteran Sean Gobin's nonprofit, Warrior Hike, has a unique way to help combat vets process their troubling war experiences. Gobin calls it, "walking off the war." The idea came during a 2012 hike along the 2,168-mile Appalachian Trail.

"Hiking eight hours a day, I was processing all of these experiences that I had put away," said the Charlottesville, Virginia, native. "And I knew that there were other combat veterans that needed to do that."

Warrior Hike provides combat veterans with all the equipment and supplies they need to complete long-distance hikes throughout the country. Ranging from two to six months, these journeys give veterans a chance to connect with nature and work through their issues while enjoying the camaraderie and support of other war veterans.

This is regarding Sean Gobin; an Iraq & Afghanistan combat veteran; a VFW Life Member; and the founder & Director of Warrior Hike.

He has been selected as one of the 10 finalists for the 2015 CNN Hero of the Year for his efforts with the non-profit organization, Warrior Hike.

Since CNN Hero of the Year is awarded to the finalist who receives the most public votes by Sunday, November 15, 2015 (11:59 pm PT), any assistance you can provide in this regard would be most appreciated.

Remember, you can vote once a day, every day with your email address - and also through Facebook. Voting continues until Sunday, November 15, 2015 (11:59 pm PT)

The CNN Hero of the Year will be revealed Sunday, Dec. 6 during "CNN Heroes: An All-Star Tribute" (8pm ET)

Fair and Impartial

By MJ:

Is it possible for the government we know today to be managed in a fair and equitable way? Has there been too much corruption over the years that existing today is an imbroglio with intertwined promises made to people? Would turning the existing governmental process around take years, making it near impossible to change? After every election each elected candidate will be asked to repay the debt or campaign promises they made when they accepted money from individuals, corporations... Remember elected officials include local officials as well as state and federal that are continually changing with each election.

There will always be people, in all walks of life, who will follow the laws, those who will break the laws for their own benefit and then those who feel they are above the laws. Dillon is no exception.

Where so many people (50%+) depend on money they are receiving from the government the question is: Is it possible to have a fair honest Republic exist in today's world? Are we watching the collapse of the federal republic of the U.S.?

What is a Republic? A Republic is representative government ruled by law (the Constitution). A democracy is direct government ruled by the majority (mob rule). A Republic recognizes the inalienable rights of individuals while democracies are only concerned with group wants or needs (the public good). (Center of Civic Education)

Beaverhead County
Search and Rescue News
Submitted by Mel Rice, Public Relations Officer

On Wednesday, October 7th, the Beaverhead Search and Rescue held its monthly meeting. This past month has been extremely busy for the unit. Labor Day was the first event the S&R participated in. Tara Remely, the unit secretary, and Alan Holt put together a float. They gave out goodies to younger potential members. Dr. Mike Clark, training officer, reported on training opportunities coming up in the near future. Mel Rice explained that the new addition is about ready for use. The only task remaining is the installation of the overhead door opener. Also discussed was the annual fish derby coming up January 30, 2016. Tickets will be available within the month. Search and Rescue asks for your continued support by purchasing tickets as you have in the past. Even though you may not icefish, the money goes to a worthy cause.

The S&R unit will be one of the recipients of funding from the Festival of Trees this year. Funding will be shared with the Dillon Public Library. The Festival of Trees Committee President, Sharon Rice, explained that the Festival Committee is made up of 23 ladies of all ages from Beaverhead County. They have been doing this for approximately 15 years and have provided generous donations to numerous entities in the county. The Search and Rescue would like to thank the committee ahead of time for their efforts and support of community organizations. Funding for the Beaverhead Search and Rescue comes from our own fund raising activities,

There were many other resources needed and used during this intense and prolonged search. Not only were members of the Beaverhead S&R and Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office involved, but S&R members from Madison, Ravalli, Lake and Flathead counties participated side by side. Other outside resources included 5 dog teams, 3 helicopters, 1 fixed wing aircraft, 1 drone, and multiple State and Federal agencies, Flathead County Sheriff's Office and 150 plus non S&R members from around the state.

Russ Riebe, Wisdom District Ranger, provided fire crews from Wisdom and Wise River. Also Diane Hutton, Wisdom Ranger District, served as planning coordinator for the entire search. Scott Schuler, S&R member and Dillon District Ranger, also provided his district fire crew to participate on search teams and a cache of hand held radios so people in the field had means of communicating with team leaders and command. Both Rangers also participated in the search operations. Tim Egan, Dillon DNRC Unit, provided members of his agency to assist as well. Plum Creek Timber of Kalispell allowed individual employees the opportunity to take time off work with pay to travel to the Big Hole and participate in search efforts. There was also much coordination between the Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office and the Flathead County Sheriff's office running down numerous leads received from other hunters that had been in the area where Rob Carter was hunting.

The five dog teams that worked the search came from Ennis, Billings, Alberta Canada, Stevensville, and Black Foot Idaho. These individuals and their dogs donated their time and efforts. Each team gave at least 2 or more days to the search. During the entire search period we had at least one dog team in the field working.

The individual volunteers that showed up for the search came mostly from the Flathead, Bitterroot, and Beaverhead Valleys. There was one family that drove from Sidney, MT to help. Most of these volunteers were used on ground search teams under the direction of Beaverhead S&R members. There were, however, times when other S&R unit personnel were used as search team leaders and dog team flankers because of their knowledge and the need for qualified individuals. During one of the search days, there were 73 nonmembers under S&R supervision in the field looking for Mr. Carter. On average there were 40 ground pounders searching each day.

As we all know air craft are very expensive resources to operate. Two Bear Air, a search and rescue designed helicopter out of Kalispell, donated flight crew time and all other operational

Most of the meeting was dedicated to the critique of searches and potential searches the unit had this past month. There were 4 callouts for lost hunters across the county. The first one came in from the Centennial Valley where two young men left camp for an evening hunt and never returned. Search managers were paged around 7:30 am the next morning. After preparing for a full call out of the membership, the reporting party notified the Sheriff's office the two lost bow hunters had returned to camp.

The next page went out for a lost 35 year old bow hunter in the Mystic Lake area on the west side of the Big Hole Valley. Mystic Lake is in the Pintlar Wilderness. The young man was hunting out of a camp with other individuals when he got turned around. After wandering all night he walked out to the road in Howell Creek, the drainage to the northeast of his camp. Member Larry Skiles was checking out the drainage when the young man was located while being given a ride back to his vehicle by another hunter. He was in good shape other than being cold, wet, and tired.

The next call out came around 9:00 am on Sunday September 20th. The Beaverhead Search and Rescue was notified of a possible lost bow hunter on the west side of the Big Hole in the Tie Creek, Johnson Creek region. The hunter had been hunting alone a number of days and had not notified his family since Wednesday, September 17th. A hasty team was deployed to the area and a full blown call out had been initiated. The hasty team located his camp on Placer Creek and his vehicle parked by Maybee Meadows. The presumed lost hunter was at neither location. As it turned out, the search for Mr. Rob Carter became the prolonged search that no S&R unit ever wants to happen. The extended search lasted 8 days, exhausting many resources.

The Incident Command, Logistics, communications, and Operations for the whole search, was run by Beaverhead County Search and Rescue and Beaverhead County Sheriff's Office. The search had 32 unit members and 5 Sheriff's Office personnel participating at one time or another throughout the week long event. The 32 members accumulated 1960 man hours or an average of 61.25 hours per person. Many spent much more than the average. All meals during the search were prepared and served from the unit's own cook shack by members and volunteers. Every day breakfast was ready by 6:15 am, lunches were ready by 7:00 am for search teams to take to the field, and dinner was ready by 5:30. From start to finish there were 1780 meals prepared and served from the cook expenses. They flew for 26 plus hours during this mission. Life Flight Network, Butte MT, did the exact same thing for their 12 plus hours of flight time. There was one Drone involved in the search. Matt Ragan of Kalispell donated the drone and all his expenses during his two days of working the search. The only cost for the other two ships involved was for fuel. TJ Reynolds donated his fixed wing and the time he put in the air. Gordon Smith, owner of the Lima Peaks Ranch, provided his private helicopter to be used. Mr. Smith allowed Randy Bailey, Dillon Flying Service, to pilot his ship for a period of 7 plus hours.

It was a very long and trying search. There were no visible clues of any kind left by Mr. Carter to point searchers in one specific direction. Instead, the search area included roughly 40 square miles around his pickup. Ground searchers and dog teams covered between 26 and 30 square miles before locating Rob. Mr. Rob Carter was located Sunday afternoon, September 27, approximately 1/2 mile from his vehicle. He apparently died of a heart attack the morning of September 17th. It is gratifying to know that Rob Carter is home so there can be family closure and that searchers did not have to leave him on the mountain any longer.

Again, Beaverhead County Search and Rescue and the Beaverhead County Sheriff's department would like to express their deepest and profound gratitude to everyone who participated in this long and tedious task. We could not have accomplished all that was done without each and every one of you. The unit has two six pack vehicles on loan from Front Line Ag and Beaverhead Motors. The vehicles proved to be indispensable during this time as they were used exclusively to get search teams out in the field and retrieve those teams back to staging at the end of the day.

There was one other callout during the month and it came right in the middle of the Rob Carter search. The call came in around 8:30 pm for a lost 65 year old bow hunter on the west side of the Big Hole in the Twin Lakes area, approximately 10 air miles to the south of base camp. As it turned out Under Sheriff David Chase picked up the gentleman while driving to his camp to get more information. Deputy Chase was driving down the Foothills Road when he noticed someone walking off the hill with his head lamp on. After stopping and inquiring, he gave the lost hunter a ride back to his camp. If only they were all that easy.

It has been indeed a very busy fall for Beaverhead Search & Rescue. Thank you for your continued support.
