Books and Babies program to resume at Dillon Public Library

Dillon Public Library's early literacy program, Books and Babies, will resume this Thursday, October 29, 2015. The program begins at 10:00 a.m. in the Library's basement programming room. Please use the East Glendale entrance for the program, because the Library does not open for service until noon.

Books and Babies is a program designed for children ages newborn to 36 months (but older siblings are welcome!) and their parent(s) or caregiver(s). We pack a half hour with songs, rhymes, hand and word play, action and FUN! An introduction to literature begins at a very early age through nursery rhymes, songs, and stories. The activities in this half hour will contribute to your baby or toddler's language development and early literacy skills. Time spent with parents and other infants is also a great way for the children to begin

YELLOWSTONE ECOSYSTEM SUBCOMMITTEE TO MEET IN JACKSON ON NOVEMBER 3 & 4

The Yellowstone Ecosystem Subcommittee (YES) of the Interagency Grizzly Bear Committee will be holding their fall meeting November 3 & 4 in Jackson, Wyoming, at the Hotel Terra, located in Teton Village. The meeting is open to the public and will run from 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM on the third and 8:00 AM until noon on the fourth.

YES is the multi-agency group responsible for the recovery, delisting, and management of the grizzly bear in the Yellowstone Ecosystem. Its membership ranges from the United States Forest Service and National Park Service, to the state wildlife management agencies, Native American tribes, and even representation at the county commissioner level.

YES agency members also assist the Interagency Grizzly Bear Study Team (IGBST) with collection of biological and habitat data. YES members also work with citizens, communities, and local governments to educate the public about living in bear country and create solutions to reduce conflicts with bears.

Agenda items for this meeting were chosen in an effort to establish a common understanding of current grizzly bear population estimates in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem and how these numbers were derived. In addition, several topics set the stage for considering future management of this population. These include discussion regarding the process for delisting the Yellowstone population and the role of several associated management tools, such as the Conservation Strategy and the YES organization.

The public is invited to attend, and each session will end with an opportunity for public comment. The meeting agenda is at: <http://igbconline.org/YES-fall-2015-final-agenda.pdf>

How To Make Money LaVon D. Brillhart

Money is very tight !! It seems everyone wants money and I never have enough money each month to pay my bills. But I have looked into some money making ideas. This is what I did.

I decided I would charge $2.00 dollars for anyone to take my photo. I did this for two weeks. At the end I owed $54 dollars to buy back my photo's. This idea just did not develop. This was a negative idea.

I then tried to sell my body for science. They offered to pay me $23.50 for my dead body but they wanted $275 dollars for shipping and handling. So this would give me a deficit of $251.50 for shipping and handling. So I killed that idea. They wanted to bleed me of any of the profit.

I then read an ad. "Guarantee to get rich." "Raise worms." I sent for the get rich free information that cost me $29.99. I then ordered 1000 worms for $45.00. I made a box to put the worms in. This cost me $63.00 dollars for the wood. I filled the box with free soil. I fed them with free coffee grounds. The book told me in three months I would have 6000 worms. Large, fat, juicy just right to sell. At the end of the three months I sifted through the soil. I found 38 worms. yes, just 38! They either ate each other, crawled away or died. This project cost me $137.99, not to mention my time and care. I called the company. Not a toll free number. I explained what had happened. But they wormed their way out. They said maybe I would be interested in raising weasels. They would send me their free booklet for just $19.99.

Excuse me there is someone at my door. Another bill collector, wanting money. Come over for a free lunch but bring money.

HUNTER HARVEST UP ACROSS SW MONTANA ON OPENING WEEKEND

Opening weekend of the general deer and elk season kept Region 3 staff and volunteers busy at seven check stations across southwest Montana.

Harvest numbers were up over 2014 numbers at the check stations operated in Cameron, at the mouth of the Gallatin Canyon, in Divide, in Silver City, and in Mill Creek although some stations saw a decrease in hunter numbers.

At the Cameron check station in Ennis, Area Biologist Julie Cunningham reported seeing more mule deer come through over the weekend than any opening weekend since records began being kept in 1989 at 14. Those Madison hunters also brought through 46 elk and 2 white-tailed deer.

A check station operated in the area east of Townsend recorded the most hunters of any Region 3 check station with 749. And of those 749 hunters, over 15-percent successfully harvested a deer or an elk.

To the west, the check stations which monitor the Upper Big Hole - Divide and Mill Creek - exceeded biologists' expectations. Between the two stations, staff and volunteers checked in 58 elk.

And in the Helena area, 704 hunters came through the Silver City check station. Area Biologist Jenny Sika reported 5 white-tailed deer, 7 mule deer, and 27 elk taken in surrounding hunting districts leading to a nearly 6-percent harvest success rate - on par with prior years.

Hunters are reminded that they must stop at all check stations that they pass on their way to or from hunting—even if they have not harvested any animals. The general rifle season for deer and elk runs through Sunday, Nov. 29.

Red Hat Society News

On Thursday, October 22nd, the Red Hat Belles met at the china Garden for their October meeting.

Alyce Wassall read a nice thank you note that she had received from the Dillon Backpack Program showing their appreciation of our donations. Another collection for this worthwhile program was taken at this meeting.

Co-hostesses, Margie Nelson and Diana Carroll presented door prizes to Eleanor Brush, Darlene Rose, Barb Schrader, Sydney Tiedgen and Glenda Olsen.

Thank you to Elaine King, Glenda Olsen, Alyce Wassall and Barb Schrader. These ladies have volunteered to co-host meetings for November and December. (Elaine and Glenda for November-Alyce and Barb for December). Times and places to be announced.

We want to thank the staff at the China Garden for their food and service. Last but not least, thank you to Margie and Diana for co-hosting this very enjoyable meeting.
