UMW DISPLAYS NEW BANNERS ON CAMPUS FEATURING STUDENTS, FACULTY AND STAFF

New banners recently went up around the Montana Western campus which include the experiences and thoughts of current and former students, faculty and staff about Experience One and UMW.

"Our beautiful banners really showcase the rich experiences had by students at Montana Western," said Chancellor Weatherby. "UMW is a unique institution led by excellent faculty and staff and that sentiment stands out as you walk around campus and see the banners."

Majors from elementary education to biology are featured on the banners to display the range of education opportunities provided through Experience One and UMW.

"Montana Western already has a remarkable campus and the banners really act as a compliment to let future students and faculty know about the history and success of Experience One and the university," said ASUMW President Delaney Hansen.

Among the former Montana Western students represented on the banners are former University of Montana head football coach Mick Delaney and current Montana Lieutenant Governor Angela McLean.

Planning Board, Oct.

Present; Schwandt, Mooney, Staley,

By: MJ

The Growth Plan is near completion and the committee has a goal of mid Nov. 2015's to have it completed. There are some housekeeping issues to finish up. Growth Plan is required by state law.

Discussions: Committee member Mooney talked about broadening the tax base increasing the population within the city limits with people building in city and not county. Mooney suggested a way to bring people into the city is by forcing annexation within a defined radius of Dillon. The committee has developed a map showing the extension area. Committeeman Staley spoke of some issues he sees why people don't build in city; 1) smaller lots because lots have been divided, 2) no alley access, 3) unattractive neighboring houses and 4) street is bad. Several other ideas were; rules and regulations being a problem and not knowing what will be built next to you. Chairman Schwandt stated that there has been a surge in business in the last two years as opposed to last 5 years that will help increase taxes. Mooney felt that business has just moved around but there has been no new growth.

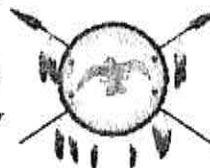

The highest taxed property is located in the downtown area thus improving that area will increase the tax dollars. The city has no large property areas available within the city boundaries. Identifying areas that would be light industrial areas. Example given was area where Boka Freight and Dillon Disposal are located.

A decision was made to locate the joint task force study done by county to see if some of the committee questions could be answered. Do you have ideas? Call the city or one of the committee members. Find names and numbers under the Dillon City web site. Come to the meetings with your ideas.

Committeeman Mooney: "We need to incorporate strategies for people to build in the city. I don't want one more $100,000 house or business build out of our study area". He went on to suggest putting together a credible survey to find answers of why Dillon is not getting its share of building and maybe look at other cities to see how they solved the problem. There was no information presented of how the survey would be done or what they would do with information when they collected it. Question for the committee: Does the committee have a population projection for Beaverhead County that indicates to them how many houses will be built in the next 5-10 years? This was a meeting where with a generous amount of talking without a lot of decisions.

Medicaid Provider Fraud Hotline NumberNearly $3 Million in Restitution Ordered on Montana's Medicaid Fraud Control Unit Cases Since 1996*Attorney General Tim Fox reminded Montanans that the Montana Department of Justice maintains a hotline for citizens to report suspected Medicaid provider fraud."Stealing from Medicaid is like stealing from each and every taxpayer," Attorney General Fox said. "Examples of Medicaid provider fraud include billing for services not performed, dispensing generic drugs and billing for brand-name drugs instead, and falsifying timesheets or signatures in connection with the provision of personal care services." Attorney General Fox added, "The successful investigation and prosecution of two recent Medicaid fraud cases by our Medicaid Fraud Control Unit demonstrates our commitment to protecting the financial health of State resources and the quality of care available to Medicaid patients." Attorney General Fox encouraged anyone who suspects Medicaid provider fraud to call the Montana Department of Justice's hotline at 1-(800)-376-1115.This spring in Yellowstone County, Brooks Johnson received a six-year deferred, probationary sentence and was ordered to repay the Medicaid program approximately $67,000. Johnson falsely claimed to be providing mental health therapy to his patients. One patient was as young as four months old.Attorney General Fox also noted the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit's (MFCU) cooperative investigation with the Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services fostered the successful prosecution of Kristi Rydeen in Powell County recently. The Rydeen case resulted in what is believed to be the first-ever Department of Corrections custodial sentence of a health care provider in a state MFCU investigation prosecuted in state court. Rydeen falsely claimed to be providing mental health therapy to numerous patients, many of whom were under the age of 18. Rydeen received a sentence of 20 years to the Department of Corrections, with 15 years suspended. Rydeen was also ordered to repay the Medicaid program approximately $57,000. Bryan Lockerby, administrator of the Division of Criminal Investigation at the Montana Department of Justice, credited the hard work of DCI agent Cody Danielson and MFCU staff in securing a sentence tailored to both punish and rehabilitate this health care provider.In 1995, the Montana Legislature created the Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, which became operational the following year. In Fiscal Year 2014, MFCUs nationwide reported almost $300 million in criminal recoveries.
