What is the Environmental Quality Council?

The Environmental Quality Council (EQC) is a statutory bipartisan interim committee operating within the legislative branch of state government. The EQC, created by the 1971 Montana Environmental Policy Act (MEPA), is a unique organization, dealing with some of the most complex and emotionally divisive environmental, natural resource, and fish and wildlife issues in the state. This body brings a diverse set of interests to the table with the goal of solving problems for the benefit of all Montanans. It is comprised of 17 members including six House members, six Senate members, four public members, and one non-voting member representing the Governor. Throughout its 44-year history, it is the only statutory committee in the legislative branch with public members voting on issues before the committee.

As one of four EQC public voting members, I am currently serving my term, which began in June of 2015. This term will conclude in September of 2016. Please contact me at erbrooke@gmail.com with comments or issues you would like to have addressed by the Environmental Quality Council.

Letter to the Editor

TO THE GRINCH WHO STOLE CHRISTMAS

Merry Christmas to the Grinch (individual/individuals) who stole the Laser Light Star Shower Machine and attached extension cord out of my front yard in the late evening of December 5th.

As a retired person, I purchased this Star Shower so that I would not have to climb on my roof to hang Christmas lights this year. It was my way to spread Christmas Cheer for our community without endangering my life or limbs by climbing tall ladders.

I wonder if this unscrupulous act will make the Holiday season merrier for the thief / thieves than mine will be.

Bah Humbug!

Respectfully submitted

Bill Murphy, South Nelson Street

Sexual and Violent Offenders Targeted in Multi-Agency Compliance Check Operation

First Multi-Agency Compliance Checks Ever in Roosevelt County

With the goal of locating offenders who aren't in compliance with Montana's Sexual or Violent Offender Registry, Montana law enforcement agencies conducted intensive compliance checks in Roosevelt County November 17 - 18. During the operation, a total of 71 sex offender address verifications were conducted; this was the first time a multi-agency compliance check has ever taken place in Roosevelt County.

Offender compliance checks were initiated by Montana Attorney General Tim Fox in 2013. To date, law enforcement agencies have also conducted operations in Billings, Great Falls, Kalispell, and Missoula, as well as in Beaverhead, Glacier, Lake, and Pondera Counties. "This operation is a good example of multiple law enforcement agencies pooling their resources to keep Montana families safe, including those living on our reservations," said Attorney General Tim Fox. "We look forward to announcing the results of more compliance checks with our local, state, and federal partners as well as offering the public up-to-date information on our Sexual or Violent Offender Registry."

The United States Marshals Service, the United States Probation & Parole Office, the Roosevelt County Sheriff's Office, the Fort Peck Tribal Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act (SORNA) Team, and the Montana Department of Justice participated in the operation. Working together, they verified 53 sex offenders as compliant (residing at their registered address). Additionally:

- 5 offenders could not be contacted at their residence and residency was not verified. Those addresses where offenders could not be verified were left notices on their doors and the local registering agency is following up on the verifications.
- 2 offenders were found to be non-compliant and follow-up investigations will be conducted to determine if formal charges for failing to register will be filed.
- 11 sex offenders and 5 violent offenders were brought into proper compliance.
- 5 sex offenders had moved away and are properly registered in other jurisdictions.
- 4 sex offenders were located in the local jail.
- 3 sex offenders are suspected to be in federal custody and are being checked on.

- 3 offenders were arrested on Federal warrants and 1 was arrested on a Tribal warrant.

Roosevelt County Undersheriff John Summers said, "Our office was pleased to work with the U.S. Marshals Office, the Fort Peck Tribes SORNA Office, and the Division of Criminal Investigation staff from the Montana Department of Justice during the two-day operation. In Roosevelt County and the Fort Peck Indian Reservation, it's extremely important to the safety of the public that we ensure our sexual and violent offenders are living at the address they registered and are in compliance with any conditions they may have."

Under Montana law, convicted sexual or violent offenders must register their address of residence with local law enforcement. The information is provided to the Montana Department of Justice and input into the Sexual or Violent Offender Registry (SVOR). Depending on their tier level designation, sex offenders must verify their addresses with law enforcement on a regular basis (by law, violent offenders are not given a tier level). When an offender fails to verify his/her address, he/she falls out of compliance with the registry.

- Tier III (the most dangerous) sex offenders must verify address every 90 days
- Tier II sex offenders must verify address every 180 days
- Tier I and non-designated sex offenders must verify address once per year

Montana's SVOR, which tracks an average of 2,300 sexual offenders and 3,300 violent offenders at any given time, is viewable online at <https://app.doj.mt.gov/apps/svor/default.aspx>. On-line visitors may also register for free email notifications that allow them to be automatically notified whenever a sexual or violent offender moves into a zip code of interest to subscribers.

ELKS HIDE DRIVE IS UNDERWAY

You may see blue steel barrels full of animal skins scattered around at various Beaverhead County and City of Dillon sites. The annual collection program of the Dillon Elks Lodge of all seasonal hides (except antelope) as a free service to the community and hunters and as the major annual funding source for the Lodge's activities and programs.

Any other collection receptacles or services are not Dillon Elk Lodge sponsored.

Should you notice any tampering with these barrels or their contents, please immediately contact law enforcement or Travis at (406) 596-0182. Defacing or removing these barrels or their contents is a criminal offense and will be prosecuted.

Thanks to all from the Elks for your support of this important community program. Have a happy and safe hunting season.

Beaverhead County's Mental Health Local Advisory Council Receives Grant

The Montana Healthcare Foundation has awarded a grant entitled "Integrating Behavioral and Physical Health in Rural Southwest Montana" to the Beaverhead County Public Health Department and Mental Health Local Advisory Council (LAC). This highly innovative community-wide project envisions a highly functioning cross-agency, cross-institution, cross-discipline team approach to addressing a holistic view of citizens' well-being through evidence-based integrated healthcare development. The National Council for Behavioral Health will facilitate a two-day summit in February 2016 for health care professionals, education professionals, community resource agencies, and others to educate them about the elements and implementation process for an integrated behavioral health model. They will also provide follow-up support over the 18-month term of the grant. Following the summit, a coalition formed by the grantee will lead development of a work plan and the implementation of integrated behavioral health in Beaverhead County.

The Montana Healthcare Foundation was created in 2013, and was formed as result of the sale of Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Montana to a private corporation. In accordance with State law, the assets were transferred to a charitable trust to be managed for public benefit. Currently, MHCF has approximately $80 million in assets. The Foundation is a permanent resource for Montanans. The Foundation will spend the income from trust investments (estimated at roughly five percent of the total value of the trust each year) on grant disbursements and related programs and expenses, and provide a stable, reliable resource supporting health for Montanans. Grants offered under the Foundation's first call for proposals will address key health challenges facing Montana, such as mental illness, drug and alcohol abuse, American Indian health disparities, and the challenge of providing effective, well-integrated care in a large, rural state. For more information, please contact Sue Hansen, Beaverhead County Public Health at 683-4771.

Life's Too Serious

by: Joe Barnhart

I'm sure, unlike me, you're already adjusted to what is commonly known as "The Saving of the Daylight." Going to work in the dark reminds me of placing a curly hair, soaked in mustard, down my throat. But I was born on Monday, so it figures. Saving daylight prompts the kind of sensuous feeling you daily dream about which is why the Federal Government forces it on us.

It should come as no surprise ancient civilizations fooled around with saving daylight, too. Take the Druids who wanted more time for their festival "Ottoman de la Doe" (literally, "Riding upholstered furniture to catch greased deer.") Organizers convinced well-endowed yokels to show up in the spring and lug the Stonehenge rocks one hour back. In the fall, those without hernia operations moved them forward.

Over time, on rock moving days most of the Druids called in sick. So, saving daylight kind of fell to the way side until Shakespeare showed up. He attempted to convince the masses that saving daylight was a keen idea. But back then nobody knew what the heck he was saying because he'd mumble things like, "Hey Jimmy Junior! There is thou such a divinity doth hedge a matinee peeping of stale popcorn would it not act for to the sun extendeth." Serfs and noblemen alike often crossed the street to avoid the village fruitcake. Wouldn't you?

Hoarding daylight time kind of frittered away -- people were more concerned with incurable boils. Then on trash pickup day, around 1895, George Vernon Hudson, a well-known British bug collector, went a little daffy sniffing fingernail polish remover. He presented a paper to the Wellington Philosophical Society proposing a two-hour daylight-saving shift where tea and crumpets would flow like water. And the goofs went for it. Pretty soon everyone except parts of Arizona and a couple of blocks in Yonkers were stockpiling sunny time.

By now, we've all had our fill of the shifting time stupidity. That's why the folks on Capitol Hill ignore it. For all intents and purposes, they're brain dead. Just one flat line running across the screen of common sense. Sure, claims state reduced crime, greater voter turnout, and hemorrhoids that respond favorably to salt baths. In reality, much like my wife, time can neither be saved nor spent.
