No. 16 Carroll stuns Bulldogs in final second

The University of Montana Western men's basketball team took a 63-61 lead with a 4.8 seconds to play on a Dexter Williams, Jr. lay-in against No. 16 Carroll College inside the PE Center.

Zach Taylor wasted no time as he received the inbounds pass, took three dribbles and threw up a prayer – his prayer was answered as he banked in a 30-footer with .4 seconds remaining to end the Bulldogs hopes. (Box Score)

A strong first-half by Dexter Williams, Jr. – 14 points and five rebounds – and back-to-back 3-pointers from freshman Kooper Kidgell allowed the Bulldogs to take a 34-26 lead into intermission.

Carroll's Match Burnham hit two 3-pointers in the opening minutes to give the home team a 6-2 lead, a lead they would hold until Kidgell's long-range bombs capped off an 8-0 run to give the 'Dawgs a 25-20 lead with 5:09 to play in the first half.

Burnham led the Saints with eight first-half points who shot only 34 percent (8-23) from the field compared to a blistering 52 percent (14-27) for the Bulldogs.

Carroll started the second half on a 14-6 run to tie the game at 40. The run was sparked by the Frontier Conference's leading scorer, Zach Taylor.

Taylor, the hero of the night, was held to only two points in the first half before scoring a quick nine to get his team back in the game. He finished with a team-high 14 points.

A back-and-forth affair in the second half set-up the unbelievable finish on a Wednesday night in the Frontier Conference.

Williams, Jr. finished with a double-double as he scored game-high 19 points and grabbed a team-high 10 rebounds to go with two assists, one block and one steal.

Demitrius Balark joined Williams as the only other Bulldog in double-figures as he scored 12 points, he also grabbed four rebounds and had two chase-down blocks that wiped out Saints fast break scores.

Ryan Sullivan grabbed eight rebounds and had three steals and Kidgell scored eight points of the bench.

For the Saints, Oliver Carr scored 12 points – including two free throws with 16 seconds remaining to tie the game – in 19 minutes of action.

Ryan Imhoff neared a double-double as he snagged 12 boards and pumped in nine points. Two of those points came off a monster put-back slam early in the second half to help spark Carroll.

With the loss, the Bulldogs fall to 5-5 overall and 2-1 in the Frontier Conference as Carroll College takes sole possession of first-place at 3-0 in Frontier action.

Montana Western will return to action on Dec. 17-19 as they travel to Arizona to play in a Holiday tournament

No. 6 Carroll College Rolls Past Western Women

The University of Montana Western Bulldogs (9-4, 0-3) traveled to play the No. 6 Carroll College Fighting Saints (12-1, 2-1) at the PE Center in Helena, Mont. In their third Frontier Conference game of the season, the Bulldogs faced their third nationally ranked opponent.

For the third time, the result was the same as they fell to the Saints 68-40. (Box Score)

Carroll College jumped out to an early 16-2 lead, behind the hot-shooting from senior point guard Katie Estey. Estey scored nine points in the first 5:03 of action, including two 3-pointers as the Saints took a 17-7 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Estey continued her shooting exhibition as she finished the first half with 17 points on 6-7 shooting from the field and 4-5 from downtown. She also grabbed four rebounds.

The Bulldogs kept the game within striking distance as they battled back-and-forth with the No. 6 Saints before Carroll went on a 6-0 run over the last 2:08 of the second quarter as they took a 36-19 lead into intermission behind a 42 percent effort from the floor.

Aniese Palmore led the visitors with five first-half points. The Bulldogs were forced into seven turnovers and gave up seven offensive rebounds over the first two quarters.

In the second half, the No. 6 Saints flexed their muscles and continued to shut down the Bulldogs offense while they pounded the ball inside and outscored the Bulldogs 32-21 over the final 20 minutes.

A 17 point halftime deficit turned into a 50-30 hole at the end of three quarters and grew to as big as the final margin of 28 with 3:33 to play in the game.

Montana Western was unable to find the bottom of the basket as they finished 10-41 from the field (24 percent) and 5-17 (29 percent) from beyond the arc as they dropped their second straight game to a top-10 opponent.

The Saints outshot (42 percent to 29 percent), outrebounded (40-22) and had fewer turnovers (11-15) than the Bulldogs in route to their 12th victory this season.

Palmore and Sierra Higheagle led Montana Western with 10 and eight points respectively in the loss. Palmore also had two steals on the night.

Klinker grabbed five rebounds to pace the Bulldogs as she was limited to seven points on 1-7 shooting from the field.

Estey finished with a game-high 17 points for Carroll that all came in the first-half and pushed the Saints to an early lead they never relinquished.

Montana Western will return to action on Dec. 12 as they travel to Billings to face-off with NCAA Division II program Montana State University Billings at 7 p.m.

GIVING TREE

The Giving Tree will be housed in the old Bert's CD's building and manned by volunteers. Slips from families needing gifts are scattered around town - at the Office of Public Assistance, Yellowstone Boys and Girls Ranch office, Migrant Council Office and Adult Probation and Parole.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

With all the talk of improving the down town area and attracting new businesses, one has to wonder about the unpleasant smell of weed, pot, cannabis in the air on Bannack street. It would certainly deter me and many others I know from even attempting a business in downtown Dillon. I have heard the ladies who have businesses on that street can smell it in their shops and have frequent headaches as a result. I can certainly smell it when walking down the street. My opinion is, it is and will be an issue to those looking to start a business in downtown Dillon!!

At the very least, food for thought!!

Fox Touring Site of Proposed Export Terminal in Washington

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox has been invited to tour the site of a proposed coal export terminal in Longview, Washington. The tour will take place today. Millennium Bulk Terminals on the Columbia River has proposed an expansion to include a terminal for loading Montana coal onto vessels bound for overseas markets. Labor union representatives and community leaders will brief Fox on the benefits that port expansion will bring to local workers and the economy.

"As the International Energy Agency and the U.S. Energy Information Administration have shown, overseas demand for coal will continue to increase in the long term," Fox said. "One-third of the nation's coal reserves are right here in our state, and it only makes sense to increase our access to markets to help meet that demand. Doing so will benefit Montana's economy and generate revenue to fund vital public services, infrastructure, and our public schools."

In 2013, Montana, North Dakota, and Wyoming urged state and federal regulators in Washington to adopt a legally sound scope for

Montana Receives "A" for Child Sex Trafficking Prevention Efforts

State Named One of Three Most Improved in Nation

A national non-profit has ranked Montana as one of the top three states in the country for its efforts to prevent child sex trafficking.

Shared Hope International recently released its annual state report cards, and upgraded Montana to an "A" over last year's "D." The organization cited Montana's successful commitment to advancing legislation this spring to ensure that children are not for sale within its borders.

During this year's legislative session, House Bill 89 was drafted by and introduced at the request of Attorney General Tim Fox, and was sponsored by Rep. Kim Dudik (D) of Missoula. Now law as of July 1, 2015, this important legislation updated Montana's human trafficking laws to reflect the model state human trafficking act.

"The Montana Department of Justice is pleased and gratified that Shared Hope International has taken note of our ongoing legislative advocacy and outreach efforts over the last two years to fight modern-day slavery with a dual approach: To bring perpetrators to justice while taking a victim-centered approach to helping those whose lives have been destroyed by these heinous crimes. Montana's laws now have the clear definitions and penalties we need to protect our children and help sex trafficking victims on the road to recovery," Attorney General Fox said.

Montana's new law has three primary components:

- Establishes comprehensive definitions and penalties for human trafficking crimes.
- Provides essential protections for human trafficking victims.
- Creates new opportunities for the Montana Department of Justice to raise awareness about human trafficking and educate the public and law enforcement on how to detect and prevent detect human trafficking.

Attorney General Fox thanked Soroptimists International of Helena and Whitefish, Watkins Shepard Trucking, the Montana Motor Carriers Association, and the Town Pump Foundation for their assistance in outreaching to the public on human trafficking awareness.

Montana joined Texas and Minnesota among the top three states for the strongest laws to combat child sex trafficking, according to Shared Hope International. These states join Louisiana, Tennessee and Washington, which were the first three states to earn an "A" on the annual Protected Innocence Challenge report card. Call Ted 660-0928 the proposed terminal's environmental impact statement. Fox pointed out that the scope of review for a similar proposed terminal at Cherry Point was unrealistically broad, included speculative impacts, required an impossible assessment of foreign environmental impacts, and was seemingly designed to hinder development of the terminal.

"Montanans not only have a vested economic interest in the construction of the Longview terminal, but as I told regulators in 2013, we also have interstate commerce rights under the U.S. Constitution," Fox emphasized today. "Ultimately, it's a matter of fairness—just as Montana's regulators don't place unreasonable and unconstitutional restrictions on Washington's goods coming through our state, so should Washington's regulators refrain from placing such hindrances on ours."

The Montana Chamber of Commerce, the chairman of the Crow Indian Tribe, and a leader in the Boilermakers Union who is also a member of the Northern Cheyenne Tribe highlighted the benefits the terminal would bring to Montana.

"Increasing export capacity is an economic benefit for both Washington and Montana," said Glenn Oppel, government affairs director for the Montana Chamber of Commerce. "And this issue goes beyond coal—other Montana commodities such as grain can be exported through this proposed facility."

"Access to markets beyond the U.S. is vital to the economic survival of the Crow Tribe," said Chairman Darrin Old Coyote. "Our Absaloka Mine is the largest private employer on the reservation and provides crucial income benefitting Crow Tribal elders, health care, education, and law enforcement. I am thankful that Attorney General Fox has been invited to tour the export terminal site and to share our concerns with representatives of the Longview community."

"Montana Indian tribes own large amounts of useable energy resources," said Jason Small, a leader in the Boilermakers Union and member of the Northern Cheyenne Tribe. "These resources are currently supporting hundreds of jobs and have the potential to continue to support economic activity on reservations that wouldn't otherwise be available. New export capacity would directly allow more Indian-owned coal to be mined, and increase the opportunities that many tribal members desperately need."

We also need cash donations so no one will be turned away.
This year we plan to give gifts to our elderly who live alone and have no family visiting.

Please inform your friends, families, congregations & organizations of this event.
This is a worthy cause and everyone is welcome

Sincerely
Kali Ashford/Exalted Ruler

Special Night of Comedy

MAC'S LAST CAST
Dillon, Montana
Sports Bar, Grill & Casino

Daniel Johnston

Daniel Johnston has been a student of comedy since he was seven years old. Runner up in "The Quarter Hour of Fame" comedy competition and a regular host at Liquid Laughs in Boise Idaho, opening for such headliners as Tim Northern, of "Last Comic Standing," and Shang. His eloquent yet absurd rants on topics ranging from veganism to childhood trauma suffered at the hands of Pixar will make you the king of the water cooler at work the next day.

K C Hunt

According to a former classmate, K.C. Hunt has had sad eyes since the fourth grade. Fortunately, he'd much rather laugh into the mouth of the empty abyss than let comments like that get him down. Winner of the Quarter Hour of Fame Comedy Contest #8, K.C. is a regular host and performer around the Treasure Valley. K.C.'s sarcastic mix of observational and absurdist humor touches on subjects from grocery stores to existential dread and small-town life. All with a look on his face, according to friends, like his mustache smells funny.

Reese Samuels

With astute levity Reese Samuels shows yet again that women ARE funny. With class, a smile and just a touch of murder in her heart. Entertaining audiences throughout the northwest with tales of her time as a server, mountain girl and what its like growing up in a mixed marriage in white America. Reese is a fearless performer that will have you crying in laughter, while at the same time thinking " She makes an excellent point."
