John Plutt Jr. 1933 – 2015

John Plutt Jr., 82, passed away in his sleep Sunday morning at his Dillon home. John was born in Dillon on Jan. 14, 1933, grew up in Dillon and raised his family in Dillon. He was hard working, honest, loved to talk and spent his life serving the community he loved. In John's world, everything was "Fantastic." John was the oldest of four children born to Austrian immigrants John and Katherine Plutt. A sister, Katherine, died in infancy. His brother, Martin, preceded him in death. His sister, Dorothy Zemljak, lives in Butte.

John married Connie Finnegan, of Butte, in 1959. John and Connie celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary in August. Together they raised six children, and are the grandparents of 13 and great- grandparents of eight.

A state champion marble shooter in his youth, John graduated from Beaverhead County High School and attended Western Montana College. John served his military commitment at the Fort Ord Army Base in California. He returned to Dillon to work the family ranch and gained employment with the U.S. Postal Service, a job he held until his retirement in 1988.

John's commitment to community service blossomed as a member of the Dillon Jaycees. The orga- nization would recognize his efforts by awarding him the group's Outstanding Young Man Award and Distinguished Service Award. He led Boy Scout and Cub Scout Troop #66 for many years. A life member of the St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church Knights of Columbus, he set turkey raffle ticket sales records for the group over a 50-year time frame that will never be broken.

A life member of both Dillon Elks Lodge #1554 and Dillon American Legion Post #20, John was a suc- cessful membership recruiter for both groups. He was a longtime Elks Lodge board member and for almost 30 years chaired the Elks Hide Drive, the group's most successful fundraiser. He was tabbed Dillon Elks Lodge "Member of the Year." He served as an American Legion representative to the Dillon Cubs American Legion Baseball Board of Directors over 30 years, during which time two of his sons and three of his grandsons played for the baseball team. An irrepressible salesperson, John sold a world record number of Dillon Cubs raffle tickets during his association with the team.

John volunteered time to the Dillon Food Pantry, picking up and delivering food to the pantry and also delivering food from the pantry to those in need who couldn't get out of their homes.

For his unselfish dedication to community service and making Dillon a better place, John was named the Dillon Tribune's "2010 Dillonaire of the Year."

John enjoyed spending time on his Birch Creek property and considered himself the Mayor of Farlin. Farlin is now a ghost town and some of the town's buildings are on his property.

John is survived by his wife, Connie, and their six children: son John Patrick Plutt, of Dillon, and his children, Chance and Jordan Plutt; daughter Kathy (Mark) Simkins, of Dillon, and their children M.J. and Nathan Simkins; son Jim Plutt, of Dillon, and his daughters, Mindie Cameron, Courtney Leonard and Toni Kobriger-Plutt; son Ernie Plutt, of Billings, and his children, Ian and Ana Plutt; daughter Kelly (Martin) Osborne, of Dillon, and their children, Ashley and Marcus Osborne; and daughter Kristy

Great-grandchildren are: Pacey and Jaden Cameron; Alexis and Jason Leonard; Rainey Kobriger-Plutt; Avery and Graci Bard; and Constance Osborne.

John enjoyed following the youth sporting careers of his grandchildren, particularly when they rep- resented the Dillon Beavers and the Dillon Cubs.

In lieu of flowers, memorials are preferred to the Dillon Cubs Field Project, P.O. Box 224, Dillon MT, 59725.

A viewing will be held at St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church in Dillon 5–6:30 p.m. today, Wednesday, December 23. The Rosary will be at 6:30 p.m. and Vigil Service at 7 p.m. Funeral mass will be Thursday, December 24, at 12:10 p.m. at St. Rose with burial at Mountain View Cemetery. A reception will follow at the St. Rose Family Center.

Jim Moore

Jim Moore, age 53, is in Gods hands after a short battle with a brain tumor. He passed away December 20th, 2015. He was born May 9th, 1962 in Caldwell, Idaho and moved to Montana in 1993. He loved to fish and hunt with his nephew Zach. All his spare time was spent in the mountains or near a lake. He will be missed by his family; Tom, Carol, Kyle and Zack Moore and John, Lisa, sandy and Elizebeth Moore. We all will miss his smile and kind heart.

The family would like to thank Dr. Weed, Parkview Acres Care & Rehabilitation Center, Home Health & hospice, Barrett hospital and all the cadets that spet time with him at Parkview.

There will be no funeral but the family will have a memorial at a leter date.

May he rest in peace.

As his nephew Kyle says:

"May we all meet in the happy hunting grounds
up in the sky's"

Life's Too Serious

by: Joe Barnhart

I finished my Christmas shopping last week when my wife's new wood clamps showed up. She was rather taken with my sentimentality, if you know what I mean. But I always figure, you can never have too many wood clamps. Should you still be floundering around for that perfect gift, here are just a few ideas guaranteed to raise an eyebrow or two.

For the man in your life, diversify with a new and innovative idea -- a vegetable basket. Surprised? It sure caught me off guard. Most guys today are totally health conscious as demonstrated by the shift from lite beer to microbrews. Why not support those uninhibited fitness desires with fresh rutabagas, broccoli, cauliflower, asparagus, radishes, and carefully chosen celery; all cheerfully arranged in a Tupperware bowl. Hide it under the tree and then capture him opening it on video. Send me a copy.

For the woman in your life, my first inclination is tools. This means fielding questions like, "Now when in the heck am I going to use a table saw?! Of course, there's always clothes but that's risky. Be sure to select the right size. "Misses" sizes are for single gals whereas "Women" sizes are for married ladies. When I got married, my wife changed vastly, mostly by trying to fix my disgusting habits such as an aim issue. So I guess it makes sense to have pre and post wedding sizes. There are also "Petite" sizes, designed for ballerinas and nymphs. Then your "Vanity" sizes -- creatively using irrational numbers such as Size 0.456 and -12. A 16 oz. curved-claw hammer might still be the best choice.

Now for the kiddies, the rage this year is the regurgitated Star Wars Trilogy. The original movies were created by the creative genius, of George Lucas, on March 5 around 10:30. He was buying hair tonic and it just hit him. The movies are as much fun today as they were when disco music, sung by the soprano want-to-be Bee Gees, was famous. The sea of Star Wars collectables will enthrall any child; until they are pulverized by the rocks of abuse, only to be washed up on the shores of discarded Chinese junk. Batteries not included.

Good luck and have a fabulous Christmas!

Free Christmas Tree

The Giving Trees are available free. They'll be outside the Masonic Hall on the corner. First come first served".

Winter Memories

Winters arrival rude with Arctic coldness winter skies shortened
beautiful brisk sunsets
sundogs bring mystical magic to the winter sky
trees bare waving to frozen streams nearby
red eared boys playing on frozen ponds sleds stacked against sheds waiting silently shy young girls stomping in snow with rosy cheeks
the crunching of snow bringing back memories of days gone by fire

wood stacked
on with smoggy smoke
porches cloudy skies
chimneys filling

snow men so handsome with polar smiles shapely shadows on snow following all birds all fluffed waiting for food handouts
the melodious silent sounds of crisp twinkling stars
snow balls aimed at passerby's scarf wrapped women walking sharply to neighborhood stores icicles clinging to eaves with eveness
tea kettles whistling spurts of steam steadily
hot chocolate mustaches bring smiles of warmth snow forts protecting smiling invaders
frosty window patter designs hiding warmth Winter memories of yesterday
real with times
gone by.

Fox asks EPA to Reconsider Carbon Rule

Today, Attorney General Tim Fox asked the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to reconsider the final carbon emission rule adopted in August. The final rule differs dramatically from the rule proposed in June, 2014, and an array of business and community leaders, unions, and public officials have expressed frustration over the changes. After the final rule was announced, Montana and 26 other states filed suit in federal court to overturn it. That litigation is moving forward and the petition for reconsideration is a separate action.

"It was disingenuous for the EPA to propose one rule and then adopt something far different, especially since the final rule is much more burdensome to the people of Montana," Fox said. "The state invested time and resources into evaluating options under the proposed rule, and the adopted rule rendered that work all but useless."

In the request, Fox pointed to several reasons why the EPA should reconsider the rule:

- The final rule differs so significantly and substantially from the proposed rule that Montana did not have a fair opportunity to evaluate, understand and comment on the rule actually adopted.
- The EPA acted without a fair working knowledge of the impacts of the final rule in Montana.
- The changes in the final rule violated the Administrative Procedure Act because they are not a logical outgrowth of the proposed rule. Therefore, Montana could not have reasonably anticipated those changes.

- The method used for calculating Montana's carbon reduction targets was based on a formula that disregarded our state's energy production portfolio.

"The bottom line is that Montana did not have a fair opportunity to evaluate and comment on the provisions of the final rule," Fox said. "In light of our concerns, the EPA should reconsider its action and put the final rule on hold during that reconsideration process."

Montana's petition for reconsideration, which was produced with input from the Department of Environmental Quality, is available online here: https://dojmt.gov/wp-content/uploads/Fox-McCarthy-Dec212015.pdf.
