BCHS GIRLS

The Dillon Beavers couldn't get one past the undefeated Butte Central Maroons who won 50-41 on the road. The Beavers had the lead close to the end of the first quarter and they were tied in the second quarter at 18 before Central took over and controlled things from there on.

The Beavers were led by Brynley Fitzgerald and Bailey Berriochoa and other points came from Rachael Nye, Paige Rouse and Alex Rouse.

The Beavers play the Bulldogs on Tuesday at home.

BEAVERS TAKE CHARGE OF THE MAROONS

The Beavers had tough defense and a hot Tanner Haverfield who scored 20 points to defeated the Maroons on the road Saturday 69-45. The Beavers started the game with the tough defense with steals that gave them an early lead of 11-0 from the start. The score after one quarter was 14-2 and when they took a 21-7 lead in the second quarter they kept the pressure on and came out victorious.

The Beavers got points from Tanner Haverfield 20, Nate Simkins 10, Coby King 8, Nick Huber 8, Troy Adnersen 6, Carson Hritsco 5, Payton Lafrentz 4, Michael Haverfield 2, Logan Wilson 2, Clay Allison 2 and Jamey Richardson 2.

The boys play Butte High Bulldogs at home Tuesday, Feb. 9th that is a double header for the Beavers.

Library's Nonfiction Reading Group to meet

The Dillon Public Library's Nonfiction Reading Group will meet on Tuesday, February 9, 2016 at 7:00 p.m. in the Library's basement programming room to discuss Ta-Nehisi Coates' book Between the World and Me. The reading group is open to the public, and copies of the book are available for checkout at the Library.

Between the World and Me won the 2015 National Book Award's top honor in the nonfiction category. It is appearing on top seller lists across the country. "Hailed by Toni Morrison as required reading, the book is a bold and personal literary exploration of America's racial history by the single best writer on the subject of race in the United States." (New York Observer) The book provides a good basis for conversation regarding the many issues of race which are currently occupying national attention. Please join us for a stimulating conversation. Individuals do not have to "belong" to the reading group in order to attend any single discussion. You can attend the group even if you have not read the book, but we do try to keep the discussion focused on the contents of the book.

There are three additional titles lined up for monthly discussions (March - May), and copies of the items are available for checkout. We invite everyone to consider joining this group. It is free and open to the public. See you at the Library!

BULLDOG FOOTBALL ANNOUNCES FIRST WAVE OF 2016 RECRUITING CLASS

The University of Montana Western head football coach Ryan Nourse has announced the first 21 student-athletes to sign an NAIA Letter of Intent to join the Bulldog football team.

The group includes 18 players from the Treasure State, two from Idaho and one Nevada native.

Highlighted by a quartet of local standouts from Dillon and Butte, three Helena Capital Bruins and a trio of Sidney Eagles, the first wave of signees includes 14 players selected to the Montana East-West Shrine game.

"This is a really strong group, I'm proud of the work the coaching staff has put in to bring these quality student-athletes to UMW," stated Nourse.

For the Bulldogs to keep the commitment of so many in-state talents was not an easy task – former head coach BJ Robertson accepted a job at Montana State just before Christmas – as defensive coordinator Rob Goode, offensive assistant Nick Brown and Nourse stayed on their top targets throughout the change.

He continued, "This class is filled with hungry, competitive and driven guys who want to be at UMW and work for a championship."

"That's what I like best about these young men," Nourse finished, "they bring in a blue collar work ethic and attitude, a great fit for Bulldog Football."

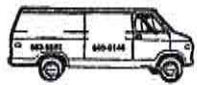

Montana Western is expecting more signings in the next two weeks that will make an already strong recruiting class even stronger.

10 Ways to Beat Your Dog

Dogs have an incredible poker face. But you already know that. The other night I sat down with my dog, Hank, to play a few hands. I usually deal. You could build a fusion reactor in the time it takes Hank to deal. And then there's the spit all over the cards. Well, anyway, while we played his expression was cast in stone -- just like an embarrassed caterpillar.

So what should you look for? Here are a few of my professional tips on how to beat a canine at poker.

1. Skip a few hands. You won't see a dog play every hand what with licking private parts, smelling other's private parts, etc. Best to keep a few spare decks of cards around. If you catch my drift.
2. Don't booze it up. Dogs always play sober. Not that you'll ever tell. Man's best friend really can hold liquor well. On the other hand, hamsters are hilarious drunks.
3. Don't bluff for fun. A dog like Hank has a gazillion smell receptors in his nose. He knows when I'm bluffing. Unless I pass gas -- which, after a couple beers, is a given.
4. Decide if you're playing for fun or to win. Dogs are convivial, playing for fun like there's no tomorrow. They'll even let you scratch their ears. Cats are stoic and always play to win. Go ahead, try touching them, it's your funeral.
5. Do the math. Poker is a game of probability; just like roller derby. Know the odds because the dog you're playing against is counting cards like crazy. Well, maybe not a Pug but definitely a pit bull.
6. Know your range. Bet on a pair of eights -or is a pair of nines as low as you'll go? Dogs don't care. They just feel lucky sitting at a table eating snacks.
7. Be conservative -- but not too. Sitting at a table with one dog, no big deal. But a pack spells trouble! Act flamboyantly and they'll clean you out faster than a colon on prunes and water.

8. Don't stare for tells. As fun-loving as dogs are deep down they are self-conscious. Staring makes them fidget. And seriously, they're having a hard enough time sorting the cards.

9. Don't bet predictably. Check and raise as inconsistently as meteorologists predict the weather. Dogs crave patterns. You think Pavlov and his stupid bell got famous for nothing?!

10. Mark your territory. This is where playing with dogs seems ... quite frankly, weird. Mark your place at the table, chair, koozie, and spouse -- anything you want to keep. I use my cologne to mark, while Hank; well, to him a poker table is synonymous with a city park evergreen bush.

Hank won the other night. As he was heading outside to bury his winnings I said, "Hey bud, aren't you forgetting something? Chip in a little for the beer and cigars." When you play with canines it becomes increasingly apparent, they understand the game but not the culture.
