Dillon, Mont. She received both her bachelor's degree in elementary education (1983) and visual arts (2006) from Montana Western.

Since 2008 Mitchell has been working out of a studio she built that allows her not only the adequate space to create functional stoneware and porcelain pottery but the ability to hold art classes.

A lifelong artist, Charlotte Quist has felt that art was her best subject since she was eight years old. Quist has worked as a veterinarian and pathologist which have served her well with her current oil paintings in terms of observation and anatomic knowledge.

She has taught equine studies courses at Montana Western.

Quist lives near Dillon with her husband, also a veterinarian. She has recently began to dedicate more time to her artistic endeavors.

James Wigen is a Dillon native, resident and a graduate of Montana Western. While at UMW Wigen's studies were focused on glass, ceramics and bronze casting. He served as a work study in the ceramics department where his duties were to mix clay bodies for students and also monitor and maintain the glass blowing facility.

Wigen has since worked in agriculture, logging and construction and his art is influenced by his experiences with physical labor. He has plans to establish and teach at a glass blowing facility or a community outreach facility that provides a place for artists of all mediums.

Wigen intends to continue his studies at the graduate level, pursuing new ideas and other mediums.

The festival is scheduled in the Keltz Arena on the Montana Western campus from 7 to 10 p.m. and will include 10 wine vendors, five craft beer vendors and hors d'oeuvres.

Tickets are $40 for individuals and $70 for couples. Call 406-683-7306 for tickets and more information.

All proceeds benefit the Montana Western Foundation.

Woodill's big game leads Bulldogs to Senior Night victory

After suffering just their second home conference loss this season and in the last two years, senior Connor Woodill was not going to let a third loss be on Senior Night for six Bulldogs as he pumped in a game-high 28 points to lead No. 22 Montana Western to an 81-77 victory over Rocky Mountain College.

In a wild Frontier Conference bout, the game never saw a lead larger than seven points, which both teams accomplished, there were only having four ties although the score changed hands 20 times.

Rocky (17-12 overall, 8-9 Frontier) took a one-point advantage into intermission, 35-34, behind the strong play of the Frontier Conference's leading scorer Rob Nyby. Nyby had 17 points in the first half, all coming in the first 13 minutes when he had 17 of Rocky's 27 points.

After the break, it was a back-and-forth battle until Montana Western's (19-11, 12-6) Woodill scored in the paint to give the Bulldogs its first lead of the second half at 47-46 and sparked a 13-4 run that lasted more than five minutes to put the home team up 57-50 with 8:34 remaining.

The Battlin' Bears would fight themselves back into the game, when a Nyby and-one capped off a 17-8 run and put his team back in front, 67-65.

Trailing by two points with just 2:07 left in the game, Woodill hit what was most likely the biggest shot of the game, a long-range bomb with the shot clock running down to put his team up one point.

The three-pointer proved to be the game-winner as Rocky would never regain the lead as Montana Western knocked down all eight of their free throw attempts in the final two minutes to hold on for the victory.

Woodill finished 7-13 from the field, including 2-6 from downtown, but he added to his total by going 12-13 from the charity stripe to seal the game. He also brought down a team-high nine rebounds.

Fellow senior Demitrius Balark added 19 points on the evening by going 6 for 10 from the floor and 7-9 from the free throw line, he chipped in with two rebounds and two assists in the game.

Woodill and Balark in double-figures, Smalls had 18 points, five rebounds and two steals.

Having scored 991 points heading into the game, senior Dexter Williams, Jr. will have to wait one more game to reach 1,000 career points as he finished with just eight points after battling foul trouble the entire game. Even though his scoring output was down, Williams, Jr. also grabbed six rebounds, blocked two shots and came away with one steal.

As a team, Montana Western finished 31-35 from the free throw line (88 percent) compared to just 10-16 (62 percent) for Rocky Mountain College. The bigger difference was the number of three-point shots the Bears attempted (30) compared to just 13 for the Bulldogs.

Rocky made nine of its 30 attempts, led by a 5-10 effort from Nyby and a 3-6 performance from Taylor Longo.

Smalls and Woodill each made two three-pointers as they Bulldogs converted four of its 13 attempts.

On top of his 27 points, Nyby finished with a double-double as he grabbed a game-high 10 rebounds. Ben Moerkerke brought in nine boards as the Bears dominated the glass – 52-40.

Longo was the only other visitor to reach double-digits in the scoring column with 20 points, he also dished out a game-high five assists and brought down four rebounds.

Montana Western, who clinched the No. 3 seed in the Frontier Conference tournament, will host the University of Great Falls at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 1 in Straugh Gymnasium for a first round matchup

Rocky brings Lady Bulldogs season to a close

The University of Montana Western's women's basketball season came to an abrupt close as they will not qualify for the Frontier Conference tournament after a 76-61 loss to the Battlin' Bears from Rocky Mountain College.

Montana Western (13-17 overall, 3-15 Frontier) kept the game close throughout the first three quarters as they were tied at 18 at the end of one, only trailed 38-31 at the intermission and outscored Rocky (15-14, 7-10) 22-20 in the third quarter to cut the deficit to just five points heading into the final frame – 58-53.

The Battlin' Bears opened the fourth quarter on a 15-4 run to take a 16 point lead at 73-57 with just 4:28 to play in the game, the run closed the door on the Bulldogs season and on seniors Sierra Higheagle and McCall Hasquet's careers.

A trio of Bulldogs scored in double-digits to pace the offensive attack – Aniese Palmore led the way with 12 as Britt Cooper and Higheagle each scored 10.

Hasquet scored six points despite playing most of the game in foul trouble, and fouled out halfway into the fourth quarter.

Palmore also finished with a team-high six assists and brought down six rebounds.

Cooper added in six rebounds, two blocks and two steals for a balanced game for the freshman.

In her final game, Higheagle had four rebounds, two steals and one block to go with her double-digit scoring attack.

Despite winning the battle of the boards – 39-29 – Montana Western was unable to overcome 18 turnovers and a 19-25 free throw performance from Rocky.

The loss dropped Montana Western out of contention for the sixth and final playoff spot in the Frontier Conference, after starting the season 9-0, the 'Dawgs struggled in conference play as they frequently faced teams in the top-25, including five losses to teams ranked in the top-10 in the NAIA.
