St Patrick's Day Brings Needed Levity

By Tom Purcell

St. Patrick's Day couldn't have arrived at a better time. With all the nuttiness going on in the presidential election — with the country more divided than it has been in years — we all could better ourselves by embracing the Irish spirit.

Some of the name-calling taking place reminds me of the time Pat and Mike visited an airport bar after a long flight.

"We'd like two whiskey sours," said Pat to the bartender.

"Sorry," said the bartender, "but airport regulations forbid us from serving mixed drinks."

"Who does the bartender think he is?" said an annoyed Pat to Mike. "I ought to punch him in the nose for referring to us as 'micks.'"

It's my great fortune to be a fellow of Irish descent. I share my good fortune with a quarter of all Americans, who can trace their heritage to the rolling, green hills of Ireland.

I remember Sunday afternoons on the back porch as my father and my Uncle Mike enjoyed a couple of Pabst Blue Ribbons and celebrated their Irish heritage by swapping self-deprecating Irish jokes.

With so many people choosing to not participate in the workforce, this one resonates:

St. Patrick walks into a pub. Donovan, McNally and Finnegan see St. Patrick and each buys him a beer. Before leaving, St. Patrick shakes Donovan's hand. Donovan says, "My arthritis! St. Patrick, your touch has cured it!" St. Patrick shakes McNally's hand, and McNally says, "My blind right eye! St. Patrick, you've cured it!" St. Patrick goes to shake Finnegan's hand. Finnegan shouts, "Get away from me, St. Patrick. I'm on disability!"

Democrat presidential candidate Bernie Sanders promises to not only raise taxes on the wealthy, but on everyone — which will turn some otherwise fine citizens into tax avoiders. That reminds me of the time an IRS auditor paid a visit to Father O'Malley:

"Father, do you know a Jack McGinness?" asked the auditor.

"Aye," said Father O'Malley. "He's one of 'me' parishioners."

"Did he donate $10,000 to the church?" said the auditor.

"He will," said Father O'Malley.

I know that I'm not really "Irish," but an American through and through. Still, in my family we celebrate the best of the Irish spirit. Being Irish means to laugh easily, never to take yourself too seriously, to be cautious of getting stuck in the narrowness of your own point of view — fine attributes that are in short supply in our country this election cycle.

We need to loosen up and relax if we really want to resolve the daunting challenges our country is facing. Which reminds me of the one about McAlister, who went to the pub one Saturday night and ordered three pints, then sipped each pint until all three were gone.

"Why don't you just order a pitcher?" asked the bartender. "You see," said McAlister, "I've got two brothers, one in America and one in Australia. We made a vow that every Saturday night at 7 p.m., we would drink together. Right now, they are sipping three pints to pay homage to their two brothers."

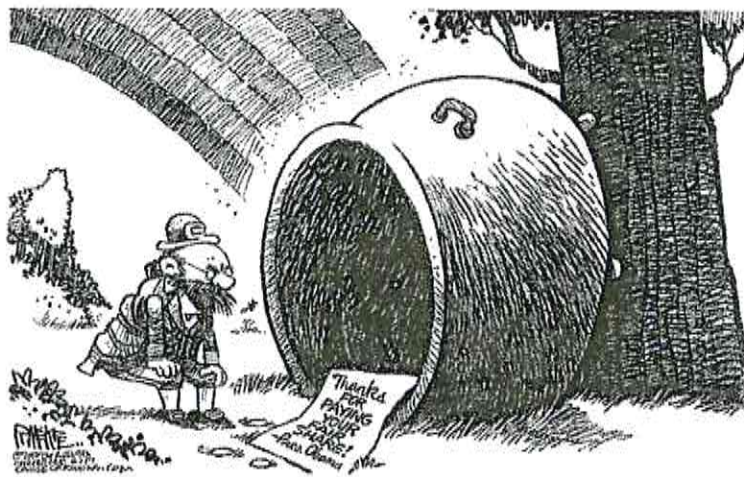

For several months, McAlister continued his tradition. But one Saturday he ordered only two pints.

"Blessed Jesus," said the bartender, "did one of your poor brothers die?"

"The brothers are fine," said McAlister. "But I gave up drinking for Lent."

British academic and joke theorist Christie Davies says a good joke can help clarify and express complex feelings. A good joke can cut to the heart of the matter better than any speech or law or government policy.

These days, with all the nuttiness and disagreement going on, couldn't we all profit by embracing the Irish sense of humor?

he 3rd-seeded and 9th-ranked William Penn Statesmen (27-6) took advantage of a poor free throw shooting night from the 6th-seeded and 22nd-ranked Montana Western Bulldogs (19-13), to emerge victorious in the first round of the NAIA National Championships.

A 16-32 performance from the charity stripe proved to be the biggest statistic in the ball game, the Bulldogs who shot 70 percent as a team from the line during the season struggled the entire night to capitalize at the free throw line. Shyke Smalls who was 2-2 from the line was the only player to shoot better than 50 percent. Conversely, William Penn was 20 for 26 on the night.

"We missed too many free throws to win a game at the national tournament against a top-10 team," stated Steve Keller.

Montana Western jumped out to an early 17-11 lead at the 11:44 mark in the first half, before the Statesmen answered with a 6-0 run forcing the Bulldogs into a timeout with 10 minutes on the clock before intermission.

Battling foul trouble the Bulldogs were able to keep the game close in the first half as Quinn Smith picked up three fouls and Dexter Williams, Jr., Connor Woodill, Demetrius Balark and Ryan Sullivan all had two personals.

Woodill led the first half attack with 14 points on 5 for 9 shooting from the field, including 3 for 6 from downtown. In the contest he scored a game-high and career-high 31 points on an 11 for 17 performance from the floor, including 7 out of 11 from three-point territory. He also brought in five rebounds to add to his scoring outburst.

Facing a 35-31 deficit at intermission William Penn stretched their lead to double-digits after a 3-pointer from Jarvis Haywood - 63-52 - with 13:33 remaining in the game.

The 'Dawgs hung around before a Shane Bosek 3-pointer extended the lead Statesmen lead to 72-55 with just 10:36 to play. Again Montana Western would respond, it was to the tune of a 7-0 run that lasted just over three minutes and cut into the lead to bring it to single-digits at 72-64.

But for every punch the foul-plagued Bulldogs threw, William Penn answered with a flurry of points, an 8-0 run to take the biggest lead of the night - a 16-point advantage at 80-64 with 3:42 until the final buzzer.

Just as they have done all season, Montana Western scrapped and clawed until time expired. Woodill sparked one last push that brought the game within single-digits again, but it was too little, too late and the final score read 85-77 and the end of the 2015-16 Montana Western Bulldogs season.

"We played hard enough, but didn't defend well enough to get a win against a very good basketball team," stated Keller.

Keller continued, "we have to give William Penn a lot of credit, they shot the ball well, knocked down free throws and outrebounded us."

The Statesmen finished with higher marks from the field - 42 percent from the field, 77 percent from the line - and held a 47-40 rebounding advantage. While Montana Western was just 37 percent from the field and only 50 percent from the line.

Senior Connor Woodill agreed with Keller, "it was difficult shooting that poorly from the line, but we have to give them (William Penn) credit, they answered every run and big shot of ours all night."

Demitrius Balark and Shyke Smalls each pitched in with double-figures as they scored 13 and 10 points respectively. Balark also had a team-high five assists and brought down seven rebounds, Smalls grabbed five rebounds.

Playing in his final game as a Bulldog, First-Team all-Frontier Conference selection Dexter Williams, Jr. was held below his season average of nearly 16 points, finishing with eight on the evening while battling through foul trouble. He did grab a team-high 10 rebounds and dished out two assists in the loss.

The Statesmen were led by Brady Buford who tossed in a team-high 17 points to lead six players in double-digits in the scoring column. Steven Roundtree (13), Haywood (12), Kevin Smith (11), Jessie Pernell (10) and Shane Bosek (10) were all a part of the balanced attack for the higher-seeded team.

With the season coming to a close, Keller and Woodill each had a message to send.

Woodill said, "Hopefully our young guys learned something, that if you put in the time and the hard-work, you'll give yourself a chance to succeed."

He continued about his career (three NAIA National Tournament appearances), "It's a progression, I tried to learn something every year from the seniors from the past seasons to improve."

"It was bitter sweet," he finished on scoring a career-high 31, "I wish it would have led to a win, but I was doing everything for my teammates."

Coach Keller who has been the national tournament six times in his nine seasons said, "I am proud of our guys and how they battled all season, I am especially happy for Connor Woodill to end his great career with a career-best 31 points."

"I am going to miss this group of six seniors and all the pride and tradition they have passed on to our younger players," he concluded.

All 11 players on the Montana Western roster played and scored in tonight's game, including five from freshman Kooper Kidgell off the bench.

IRS Tax Form for 2015!

Amazing, but true, if you think about it, and it shows the importance of accuracy in your tax return.

The IRS has returned the Tax Return to a man in New Jersey after he apparently answered one of the questions incorrectly.

In response to the question, ... "Do you have anyone dependent on you?"

The man wrote: ... "21 million illegal immigrants, 1.1 million crackheads, 4.4 million unemployable scroungers, 80,000 criminals in over 85 prisons, plus 650 idiots in Washington and the entire group that call themselves Politicians".

IRS stated that the response he gave was unacceptable. The man's response back was, .. "Who did I leave out?"

"Theosis", what does it mean and how is it applied to our daily

Church in Butte will explore at the Inquiry Class on Friday March 18.

This monthly discussion group meets at The Cup, the lounge area downstairs in the Swysgood Technology Center on the UMWestern campus and is open to the public. An informal lecture with lots of time for questions will run from 5:30 pm to 7:30 pm. People of all faiths, or

A March Mystery at the Library!

Help! The Dillon Public Library recently received a ransom note

Won't you join us in helping to find her?

This March Mystery is the latest Friday night family program at the Dillon Public Library. Everyone is welcome to join in this fun activity, but we ask that you RSVP on Facebook or let us know at the Library the

Dear Dillon Community:

The Dillon Jaycees are exploring the idea of having a three day rodeo (Saturday, Sunday, and Monday) in 2017 to better support the community over Labor Day weekend and to sustain an ability to serve Dillon and southwestern Montana in years to come. As an organization that is committed to the community of Dillon this is not something that we would do without reaching out to you first.

If you go to <http://www.dillonjaycees.com/rodeo/3dayrodeosurvey.html> you can complete a short survey regarding the Dillon Jaycees Rodeo. For submitting a survey, your name will be entered in a drawing for two tickets for the Saturday and Sunday 2016 "Montana's Biggest Weekend" Dillon Jaycees Labor Day Rodeo and two tickets to the Labor Day Concert featuring Montgomery Gentry and Old Dominion.

We thank you for your continued support and we look forward to another great year.

Sincerely,

The Dillon Jaycees
