Walk a Mile in Her Shoes Event

Presented by the University of Montana Western & Women's Resource/ Community Support Center

The Walk a Mile in Her Shoes Event is an international movement of men literally placing themselves in women's shoes to stand against sexual violence. This event will take place on the University of Montana Western campus in front of the Roe House on Tuesday, April 12, 2016 at 3:30 pm.

This event will include guest speakers Callie Kanthack, Rape Prevention Education Task Force, Samantha Yates, Miss Montana Contestant, and Jessica Lahr, Montana Coalition Against Domestic Violence. These speakers will be discussing sexual assault and the impact that it has.

According to the Montana Department of Justice, there were 347 rapes reported in 2009, with over half (188) of the victims being between the ages of 3 and 17 years old. According to the U.S. Department of Justice, one in every four girls is sexually assaulted by the age of 18 and one in every six boys is sexually assaulted by the age of 18.

Sexual assault is a serious matter that effects everyone.

One in five women will be sexually assaulted during their time in college. This event is part of Sexual Assault Awareness month, and is used to reach members of the campus, as well as the community.

Election Time

By: MJ

It's that time of year when you are going to be asked to choose a candidate by casting your vote. Once again our T.V. programs are interrupted with candidates talking about global warming, abortions, taxes, employment, borders... All volatile and emotional issues that the candidates know will stir up confusion. It is difficult to decode what's true, what's dishonesties, half-truths... You never hear the candidate give you both sides of issues (only their side). Example: Climate Change Institute and others give you both negatives and positives of global warming. It is said that climate cycles overlap with election cycles, which helps politicians "get electoral visibility by pounding the panic drums."

Money: Time has come where political candidates lobby for donations. They test your abilities at saying "no." One of the few jobs one seeks that they get paid to apply for. Your phone rings and someone wants you to answer some well-planned out questions on the election. Questions that may or may not allow you to respond the way you want to.

Freedom of speech is a blessing for voting public. Hearing the protesters view tells a lot about a candidate. Candidates tell us how they have served their community and country. They identify committees, local organizations boards they have participated in... QUESTION: Why is it you never see those people at the local government public meetings? NOTE: They are asking you to elect them to a position that serves the public. Many of the public meetings are held in the evenings thus making it possible for attendance.

REMEMBER: Politicians collude/scheme to create fear of a disaster that may or may not ever happen. There are two sides to every issue. When you cast your vote know both sides. Your friend is not always the best candidate.

Kid's Day on the Big Hole May 7, 2016

Kid's Day on the Big Hole River is scheduled for Saturday, May 7, 2016 from 9 AM to 3 PM at the Meriwether Ranch one mile north of Melrose. The event is free to area youth ages 7-13 and registration is limited to the first 75 applicants.

The event is sponsored by the Big Hole River Foundation, Southwest Montana Area Guides, Meriwether Ranch and Wal-Mart. This fun day on the river includes fly-casting and fly-tying lessons, bug and trout identification, river safety, survival techniques and a short float down the river with licensed guides. Lunch and snacks are provided.

Registration deadline is April 24, 2016 and forms are available in local schools as well as www.bhrf.org. You may also request a registration form at kidsdayonthebigholeriver@gmail.com or by calling the Big Hole River Foundation at (406)560-7089.

Parent volunteers and cash or merchandise donations are welcome.

Museum Open House

The Beaverhead County Museum will be open from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. Friday, April 15th, in conjunction with the April Art Walk. Admission to the museum is free during this evening open house. Parents can purchase a $2.00 booklet that guides children through the museum on a treasure hunt.

The Beaverhead County Museum has been buzzing with activity since the first of January as the museum staff and volunteers have been creating new exhibits. New this year are an exhibit on early banks in Dillon, a bulletin board with information on and pictures of "Women of Influence" in Beaverhead County and a Brenner Family collection.

The first bank in Dillon was housed in Sebree, Ferris & Holt, a wagon and implement shop that was located on the east side of the railroad track. Prior to the early 1900s, there were as many as six banks that operated in Dillon. These banks included the Bank of Southern Montana, the Dillon National, the First National, the Beaverhead State, the Security State and the State Bank and Trust. The museum's banking exhibit contains metal savings banks, a coin counter, a sample of counterfeit money and other artifacts. The "Women of Influence" display is enlightening with information about women such as Laura Tolman Scott, who became an expert on the Lewis and Clark Expedition and who is responsible for Expedition markers across Montana. The Brenner Family display contains photographs from this Horse Prairie area pioneer ranching family. Featured are a silk quilt with intricate piecwork and silk embroidery sections, the pelt of a rare White Wolf shot in 1915 by Charles P. Brenner and the transcript of a journal written in 1888 describing a young boy's visit to the ranch, among other items.

Law Library Self Help Representative

The Montana State Law Library Self Help Representative will be at the Beaverhead County Courthouse in Dillon on the following dates:

April 8:

Dillon

Centennial Valley Historical Society Announces Release of New Book "Centennial Valley, A Journey Through Time, Vol. II," Featuring Centennial Valley History From 1930 - 2014

Dig into murder, mystery and mayhem, among dozens of other equally illuminating themes, in the new book "Centennial Valley, A Journey Through Time, Volume II," which captures the voices of generations telling unique stories, sharing lessons learned, antidotes, recipes and numerous photos.

Family histories are included in this volume and historical articles pick up where Volume I, which was issued a number of years ago, left off, continuing to awe the reader with both the people and the incredible Centennial Valley landscape for both its unique natural beauty and the joys and hardships revealed in the stories of living and working in such a place.

The public is invited to attend a special signing event in several Beaverhead and Madison County communities where the new book will be available and, if desired, be signed by its authors from The Centennial Valley Historical Society who participated in the production of the book, according to Chris Montgomery, president of the CVHS.

Currently special book signing events are set up for these dates:

- Saturday, April 9, at The Bookstore in Dillon from 3 to 5 p.m.
- Sunday, April 10, at Lima City Hall in Lima from 3-5 p.m.
- Thursday, April 21, at Sheridan Library in Sheridan at 4:30 p.m.
- Saturday, April 23, at Twin Bridges Public Library in Twin Bridges from 3-5 p.m.

The Centennial Valley is a high elevation Montana landscape located southwest of Dillon noted for its incredible natural beauty and its rural landscape dotted with ranches and wild places, including the National Red Rocks Lakes National Wildlife Refuge where the famed trumpeter swan was preserved for all of America.

"Centennial Valley, A Journey Through Time 1930 - 2014" is a 452-page book issued in 8½ by 11-inch hardcover format with cover artwork by Bill Harrison, and more than 500 black and white photographs. A special color photo section features the valley's awesome geographic setting as well as some of the wildlife found in the Centennial Valley, including a stunning close-

MONTANA WESTERN ALUM RECEIVES PRESTIGIOUS TEACHING AWARD

University of Montana Western alumnus Ron Goodman was recently named the 2016 National Distinguished Principal (NDP) of Montana for his work as the Libby Elementary School principal in Libby, Mont.

The award is given to principals who set high standards for instruction, student achievement and character.

"I believe that good principals are good teachers, because to be a good administrator in education you have to have an instructional mindset," Goodman said.

This is the second year in a row that a Montana Western graduate has been named NDP of Montana by the National Association of Elementary School Principals. The other recipient was Aaron Griffin who is principal of Frenchtown Elementary School in Frenchtown, Mont.

Goodman was surprised with the award after his superintendent and other educators in Lincoln County, Mont., secretly filled out the paper work to nominate him for the award. Because of his nomination Goodman will go to Washington D.C. in October for the national conference where recognized principals from every state in the country will attend.

Goodman graduated from Western Montana College in 1993, now the University of Montana Western.

Goodman was first attracted to UMW because of the beauty of the area and the abundant hunting and fishing opportunities. He transferred because of the thoughtful and passionate faculty who took the teaching process seriously.

"At Montana Western I had faculty who made us think like teachers, taught us professionalism and collaborative work ethic," Goodman said. "I learned strategies and had hands-on experience running a classroom which prepared me for the real world."

Goodman has been principal of Libby elementary for the past 12 years and during his time there he has made a tremendous impact on the quality of instruction and education. He works with three of his former classmates from UMW who teach preschool, kindergarten and sixth grade.

In 2012 Goodman implemented the Striving Reading program which is a competitive grant that works with the school to enhance instruction. Through the grant a national expert consultant comes four days a month to work with faculty to improve the school.

"There is no other occupation like teaching. I can't imagine doing anything else that touches so many lives and is as fulfilling and as meaningful as being a teacher," Goodman said. "As a teacher I have the opportunity to change destinies and futures through my interactions with children and families."

UMW HEAD VOLLEYBALL COACH ACCEPTS NEW COACHING POSITION

Lisa Griffiths, University of Montana Western head volleyball coach, is leaving the program Athletic Director Ryan Nourse announced today.

Griffiths is joining the volleyball coaching staff at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla, a NCAA Division II school.

"We are grateful for Lisa's contribution to the university and the volleyball program over the past five seasons and for the groundwork and great group of student-athletes she has put in place for the next head coach," said Nourse. "We wish her all the best."

During her time at Montana Western Griffiths coached five all-conference players, 37 academic all-conference selections and six NAIA-Daktronics Scholar Athletes.

The Montana Western athletic department will soon begin reviewing candidates for the head volleyball coach position, Nourse said.
