ANIMAL RESCUE INCIDENT May 25th, 2016

On 05/25/16, at 11:45 AM, the Beaverhead County 911 Center received a call from Chuck Robbins reporting his bird dog had fallen down a deep mine shaft. Robbins was requesting assistance to rescue his dog.

Robbins had been in the Ermont Road area approximately 15 miles west of Dillon near the small town of Argenta. He was with his wife Gale enjoying the outdoors with their two dogs doing some bird training. Maggie, their five month old German wirehaired pointer was running in an open field and came upon an unmarked hole and fell in. The hole appeared to be one of many old prospector digs in the area.

Sheriff Kluesner and Undersheriff Chase responded to the area and met up with the Robbins. Sheriff's Sergeant Dan Mulkey and Sheriff's Deputy Jeremy Wyrick responded to the meet with the Beaverhead Search and Rescue. The hole was determined to be about 26 feet deep and stable enough to put personnel inside. Search and Rescue usually responds to humans in need of rescue, in this case it seemed appropriate to help save the dog. Part of the duties of the Sheriff is to act as the humane officer for the county. The Beaverhead Search and Rescue Unit deployed six members skilled in rope rescue, Dr. Mike Clarke, Brad Wagner, Tommy Goins, Lindsay Ericksen, Mick Stanasich, and J.D. Mulkey.

deliberate rescue operation was set into place with Dr. Clarke rappelling into the hole and attending to the dog, Maggie. Brad Wagner set the rigging and with the assistance of SAR and Sheriff personnel. The dog was successfully extricated from the hole.

Maggie was found to be good shape, suffering from some minor cuts to her face. She was reunited with her very appreciative owners, who then took her to a local vet to be checked out.

Within moments of finishing this rescue, an unrelated rollover vehicle accident occurred just a few miles away on public ground off Ermont Road. The SAR unit and Sheriff's personnel responded to this incident as well. Two individuals were treated for possible minor injuries.

This is a prime example of hazards that can be present on public lands, such as old mine shafts, rugged roads, wildlife, fire, weather and terrain. Beaverhead County offers great recreation opportunities on public land. We encourage everyone to enjoy themselves and be careful.

"Sheila's contribution to Montana Western has been exceptional," Weatherby said. "Her determination and perseverance working with her colleagues and university administration to identify and implement our unique Experience One program is remarkable."

Also called block scheduling, Experience One (X1) is Montana Western's single-class-at-a-time teaching and learning model where students concentrate and focus on one course and then move on to the next.

Roberts co-authored the Fund for the Improvement of Post-Secondary Education (FIPSE) grant that launched the X1 pilot project that led to full implementation of program.

Montana Western remains the only U.S. public four-year university to offer the innovative program which emphasizes hands-on learning in real-world situations.

"Experience One has not only increased campus enrollment and saved it from potential closure, but also brought Montana Western a great deal of national recognition," Rob Thomas, environmental sciences department chair, said. "We have her hard work and diligence to thank for our progress under X1."

Thomas said Roberts is a very successful and popular professor at Montana Western. "She is well known by students as a passionate and caring educator," Thomas said.

Roberts' colleagues nominated her for the lifetime recognition which was approved at the last regular Board of Regents meeting.

She earned her doctorate of philosophy from the University of Calgary and joined the environmental sciences department at Montana Western in 1995. Roberts quickly ascended from associate professor to professor of geology and served as chair of the department from 2001 to 2003.

Roberts has been involved in geoscience public outreach and has led several GeoVenture field trips for the Geological Society of America. She co-authored many geological interpretative signs that are placed along the Lewis and Clark Trail in Montana.

Her work has been published nationally in geoscience publications including the Special Papers Volumes of the Geological Society of America.

Memorial Day Tribute

A young solider fought and died bravely in WWI
A country honors a hero, as a Mother and Father lost a Son

Alone in a dark corner sits an elderly man
His eyesight is failing; who only has but one hand

He remembers when he was a young sailor in WWII
If you have a moment, he'll tell you a story or two

In a wheelchair staring out the window sits a man
Who lost his legs fighting courageously in Viet Nam

He loved his country, he gave it his all
He searches for his buddies. Can you hear him call?

They ask not for our pity, they deserve our respect
They live with memories of wars we choose to forget

So hold your head high to "Old Glory" for all to see
To honor those who fought and died so we could be free

Neighborhood Library Denied

By: MJ

Red School House: In Dillon is an exclusive Red School House distributing free reading material. It is position in the middle of a neighborhood. The books in the tiny library are constantly changing with a wide range of reading material. It is greatly appreciated by the people and they have asked the owner if there is a way it could be enlarged. Reading is of the utmost importance in our world today. What better way to make material easily available to people then through a neighborhood library.

People have asked the owner if there was a way to enlarge the library. The owner petitioned the zoning committee with a plan to use and old outhouse structure on the property for a way to expand the library. DENIED by zoning committee.

Zoning Committee: SET-BACKS was once again the reason for DENIAL. Question: I wonder how many of the committee even know where the library is located. Did they do research to understand the importance of the library to people, if it is in-keeping with the surrounding landscape, how it is maintained…?

Denial: Very view applications are approved by the zoning committee. Majority are DENIED and then the people must pay another 350 dollars to go before the variance board. As usual the needs of the people are inconsequential. What matters is how committee members Ed Mooney, Jim McIsaac, Russell Schwandt and Raymond Graham interpreted the 275+ page document.

Maybe it is time I re-examine my way of thinking and be thankful that we have a 275+ page zoning document that denies property rights, growth and improvements in the area. I agree there should be a document to guide the community into the future. Question: Is this the right one???????

NOTE: The library was created for the love of reading and is supported by many who love to read. The Little Red School House reminds us of past history still existing today.
