When and How to Display the U.S. Flag

Long may Old Glory wave
by David Johnson

The United States Flag Code stipulates that as the symbol of a living country, the flag is considered in itself a living thing and should be properly displayed and cared for. The code outlines the proper ways to display the American flag.

Raise the flag briskly. Lower it ceremoniously.
Raise the flag briskly. Lower it ceremoniously.
Never allow the flag to touch the ground or floor.
Do not fly the flag in bad weather, unless it is an all-weather flag.
The flag can only be flown at night if properly illuminated.
Otherwise, it should only be flown from sunrise to sunset.
The flag should always be allowed to fall free.
The flag should never be used to carry, store, or deliver anything.
Never fly the flag upside down except to signal an emergency.

Grizzly Bear Recovery Leadership Heads to North Idaho for Annual Summer Meeting June 21 -23

The Interagency Grizzly Bear Committee (IGBC), the multi-agency committee responsible for coordinating the recovery of grizzly bears in the continental United States and adjacent Canadian Provinces will be taking their annual summer meeting to the North Idaho. The IGBC will be meeting at the Kootenai River Lodge in Bonners Ferry, Idaho, starting on June 22 and ending June 23.

The IGBC was created in 1983 to lead efforts to recover the grizzly bear in the lower 48 states and adjoining Canadian Provinces. The committee is made up of the top leadership of state, federal, and Canadian resource management agencies. The committee itself has no regulatory authority, but it serves the important function of coordinating government resources from agencies with a wide scope of missions, to ensure recovery of the grizzly bear. Recovery efforts are focused on six ecosystems that were identified when the grizzly was listed as a Threatened Species in 1975.

The summer meeting of IGBC in North Idaho will provide managers to meet within the heart of the Selkirk and Cabinet-Yaak Recovery Areas. Discussion will also continue from last summer's meeting in the North Cascade Recovery Area as managers hear about a draft Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) scheduled to be released later this fall.

The public is invited to attend the IGBC meeting and a time slot has been set aside at the end of each day for public comment. Individuals with disabilities may request meeting accommodations by contact Gregg Losinski at 208-390-0635 or through the Idaho Relay Service at 1-800-377-3529 (TDD). The agenda for the Summer 2016 IGBC Meeting may be viewed at the IGBC Website at: http://tinyurl.com/SummerIGBC

Beaverhead-Deerlodge NF to Spray for Bark Beetles in Recreation Areas

The Forest Service will be applying insecticides in recreation sites throughout the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest over the next few weeks. The need for this is driven by the current mountain pine beetle epidemic, which has heavily affected many areas throughout southwest Montana and has already impacted some individual trees within popular recreation areas.

If you're planning your annual family outing on the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest, or if it's your first venture to the 3.35 million acres of Montana woodland, you may note that many of the recreation sites will look different than seen in years past or in the pictures that may have prompted your destination.

"Spraying will begin in June and continue through September with individual tree treatments in those places we know a large majority of Forest visitors and users will be this summer – campgrounds, day-use areas and trailheads. Concession campgrounds on the Pintler Ranger District will be treated after Labor Day," stated Bruce Schuelke, Reforestation Forester for the Forest. "To be effective, we must spray the green trees before the beetles fly again in mid-summer when they'll bore into and lay their eggs in new-found trees." In addition Schuelke stated, "Campground users will notice packets or a caulk-like substance known as SPLAT applied or stapled to trees. These 2"x2" packets and SPLAT are Verbenone and/or MCH and are used to ward away bark beetles in areas that we cannot spray the Carbaryl pesticides because of being too close to water".

Beginning mid-June and continuing through mid-July depending upon the weather, a Forest Service workforce and contract sprayers will be placing packets, SPLAT and spraying Carbaryl to protect individual pine trees from mountain pine beetles in recreation sites on the following ranger districts of the Beaverhead-Deerlodge National Forest:

Sites marked with () will not be closed but will have packets or SPLAT placed on trees to reduce impacts from bark beetles. Signs will be posted at locations where work is occurring with information on the chemical used, and closure period, including a potential time when the location can once again be used. Exposure of the public to Carbaryl spray, Verbenone SPLAT and MCH packets should be minimal to non-existent.

Weather will affect the spraying schedule as application will not occur on windy or rainy days, nor will it be done within 75 feet of water. Picnic tables, fire pits and rest room doors will be covered with plastic during spraying.

Further information about these activities can be obtained from Joan Williams at (406) 859-3211, or Bruce Schuelke at (406) 494-0241.

Senior Food Deliveries

By: MJ

Serving the community: A lady who served the country for 15 years in the military is still today serving people in the community. Her name is Maureen Woods. She is a participant in the collection, and distributing of food commodities to senior citizens.

As I was driving down Kentucky St, I noticed two ladies packing a large amount of boxes from the street into a house. The boxes contained groceries that would be distributed to the doors of senior citizens. Many seniors are unable to go to the food bank because they are unable to stand in line, have no vehicle, are disabled… This program fills the gap.

The food comes from the State of Montana for Area 5 aging. Food is delivered via a semi-truck from the state every two months. Mr. Russell Schwandt provides a building where the food is stored until delivered to people. Maureen with help of Lydia Towery place 30 to 35 pounds of food in individual boxes that are then delivered to the door steps of individuals every month. Delivery Drivers are: Bob Riley, Ray Petersen

Type of Food delivered: Oatmeal, dry cereal, cheese, instant milk, peanut butter, stew, chili, juice, fruit…

The social security check or retirement plan many older people thought would get them through the golden years is only a drop in the bucket when it comes to paying for doctors, prescriptions, electricity, heat, rent, taxes… Many make a choice to go without food in order to have medicine. That's when this program can give people a boost and be enable them to live out what's left of life a little healthier.

When the program originated there was approximately 70 people and today the number has grown to 83 participants.

If you are interested or could use this service you may call Maureen Wood 865-0747

Kentucky Street Traffic: While visiting with the ladies I noticed that area of Kentucky Street appears to be a speed way. Vehicles coming into town look as if they have forget they just entered a town with speed limits. Those leaving town are picking up speed above limits a good 1 to 2 blocks before they are beyond the city limits.

Montana and 20 Other States Seek to Reclaim Money from Delaware

$1.1 million owed to Montana

Montana Attorney General Tim Fox has joined 20 other state attorneys general in an original action filing in the U.S. Supreme Court against the state of Delaware. At a minimum, Delaware holds approximately $200 million that rightfully belongs to its sister states under the federal Disposition of Abandoned Money Orders and Traveler's Checks Act. It's estimated that Delaware owes Montana at least $1.1 million. The ultimate dollar figure that Delaware owes its sister states may be much higher.

The dispute between the 21 plaintiff states and Delaware is about which state is entitled to unclaimed and abandoned "official checks" sold by MoneyGram, a money transfer services company that operates in all 50 states and internationally. With Delaware's acquiescence, guidance and direction, millions of dollars in unclaimed "official checks" have been wrongfully turned over to the state of Delaware. This error was based on the mistaken belief that such unclaimed and abandoned property is supposed to be turned over to the issuing company's state of incorporation, in this case Delaware. Federal law and the law in each of the plaintiff states is clear that such unclaimed and abandoned property should be turned over to the state where the property was purchased.

The coalition is asking the U.S. Supreme Court to declare that the plaintiff states, and not Delaware, are entitled to the hundreds of millions of dollars improperly turned over to Delaware and to all future similar unclaimed and abandoned property. The coalition is also asking the Court to order the appropriate repayment to plaintiff states by Delaware.

"Montana and 20 other states believe the law on this matter is clear: Delaware owes states a combined amount of approximately $200 million in unclaimed and abandoned funds, and $1.1 million to Montana specifically," Attorney General Fox said. "Since this is state-versus-state litigation it goes directly to the nation's highest court, and we are hopeful the justices will accept the case and agree with us on the matter."

On February 10, 2015, an independent auditor completed an examination of abandoned "official checks" from MoneyGram in a select group of states and concluded that nearly $200 million was owed to those states. Montana is owed $1.1 million specifically. If the U.S. Supreme Court orders Delaware to pay Montana, the bulk of the money will go to the state's general fund while a small portion goes to the Department of Revenue for paying abandoned property claims.

Joining Montana are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Utah and West Virginia.
