U.S. Bicentennial Turns 40!

Tyrades! By Danny Tyree

As we celebrate the 40th anniversary of the U.S. Bicentennial, the memories come flooding back.

I remember: helping my family reconstruct a log cabin as a multi-year "Bicentennial project"; seeing my mother buy a glass Liberty Bell jar at Kuhn's Variety Store and start filling it with "drummer boy" commemorative quarters; smiling that Captain America co-creator Jack Kirby was reunited with his character in time to do a Bicentennial comic-book storyline; and watching those "Bicentennial Minutes" on CBS.

I remember corporations shamelessly jumping onto the Bicentennial bandwagon and cranking out red, white and blue products. Someone should have drawn the line: "We hold these truths to be self-evident...that a red, white and blue colonoscopy is still a colonoscopy!"

I remember writing an essay in freshman English class explaining that I wished I could have been born TWO YEARS EARLIER so I would be old enough to vote in the presidential election during America's Bicentennial year. Now that I'm dealing with crow's feet and thinning hair, I smack my forehead and exclaim, "Dummy! It would've been a lot easier to hire whoever the cool kids hire to make a fake i.d.!"

Only two years after the Nixon resignation and one year after our humiliating withdrawal from Vietnam, we used those disillusioning events as fuel for doubling down on the patriotism. If CIA documents had somehow proven that John Wayne was in fact a cross-dressing Soviet on stilts, the sky would have been the limit for patriotism!

Thank goodness for the patriots who stood up to British oppression and gave us our own republic. And thank goodness that we haven't developed time travel, or 21st-century meddlers would be going back and tampering with the Revolutionary War period. Here are some possibilities:

1. The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere would've fizzled out if some entrepreneur had made the lanterns in Boston's Old North Church PAY-PER-VIEW.
2. 21st-century monetization strategies would have made Ben Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanack" into "Suddenly Wealthy Richard's Kite-Flying Blog".
3. Most colonies would be more interested in Zig-Zag papers than the Federalist Papers.
4. Thomas Paine's "Common Sense" would have been renamed "Oh, Heck, Let's Just Let An Algorithm Figure It Out."
5. The "shot heard 'round the world" would have brought out libertarian candidates trumpeting "what can be accomplished without those restrictive noise ordinances."
6. Instead of meeting Great Britain's superior naval forces with their own ragtag navy, Americans would have met the British ships with polar bears on floating ice chunks. ("I have not yet begun to deliver climate change speeches!")
7. Patrick Henry would issue the challenge, "Give me liberty or give me $15 an hour --- preferably the latter."
8. Instead of dumping tea into Boston Harbor, GOP contributors would be dumping potential Trump contributions into it.
9. Profiling of "redcoats" would be outlawed. ("Just because they wear that uniform and fire at Minute Men doesn't mean...")
10. Yankee Doodle puts a feather in his cap and calls it "non-GMO macaroni".

Yes, the past is safe, but much mischief can be wreaked in the future. Did you know that Congress started the planning process for the Bicentennial on July 4, 1966? We now have a full decade to prepare for our 250th anniversary.

And surely the ACLU will celebrate with a lawsuit beginning, "You don't call a nearly 40-year hounding an UNREASONABLE SEARCH? We demand justice for Waldo!"

GRIZZLY BEAR TRAPPING FOR RESEARCH

As part of ongoing efforts required under the Endangered Species Act to monitor the population of grizzly bears in the Yellowstone Ecosystem, the USGS would like to inform the public that pre-baiting and scientific trapping operations will occur on private and Federal lands on and adjacent to the Gallatin National Forest, Montana. Biologists with the Interagency Grizzly Bear Study Team (IGBST) will be in the following areas July 1st through August 31st:

- Drainages associated with the southern end of Gallatin Crest, Gallatin National Forest
- Northern Absaroka Range of the Gallatin National Forest

Trapping operations can include a variety of activities, but all areas where work is being conducted will have all major access points marked with warning signs. It is critical that all members of the public heed these signs.

Monitoring of grizzly bear distribution and other activities are vital to ongoing recovery of grizzlies in the Yellowstone ecosystem. In order to attract bears, biologists utilize natural food sources such as fresh road-killed deer and elk. Potential trapping sites are baited with these natural foods and if indications are that grizzly bears are in the area, traps will be used to capture the bears. Once trapped, the bears are handled in accordance with strict protocols developed by the IGBST.

Whenever bear trapping activities are being conducted for scientific purposes, the area around the site will be posted with warning signs to inform the public of the activities occurring. Signs are also posted along the major access points to the trapping site. It is important that the public heed these signs and do not venture into an area that has been posted.

For more information regarding grizzly bear trapping efforts call the IGBST hotline at 406-994-6675.

Beaverhead County Animal Shelter News

If you know Claudia Karchut of Dillon, you know she is one of many local ladies who make beautiful homemade quilts. She has generously donated a queen size (100 x 100) quilt to the Beaverhead Animal Shelter to be raffled off. The quilt is called Log Cabin and is done in various shades of blue, bright yellow, and white. You need to see it to appreciate it, and you can do that. It is on display at Wildwood Floral in downtown Dillon. It will also be on display at the Animal Shelter booth at the Saturday Farmer's Market in Dillon. Raffle tickets are $3 each or two for $5. The drawing will be held on Saturday, September 3, during the Farmer's Market. You can purchase tickets at: Wildwood Floral, Simply Shabby (across of the Museum), the Shelter Thrift Store, the Shelter Office, and at the Shelter's booth at the Farmer's Market. All proceeds from the sale of raffle tickets will go to the Beaverhead Animal Shelter.

4th of JULY FACTS

So what did happen on July 4, 1776?

The Continental Congress approved the final wording of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. They'd been working on it for a couple of days after the draft was submitted on July 2nd and finally agreed on all of the edits and changes.

July 4, 1776, became the date that was included on the Declaration of Independence, and the fancy handwritten copy that was signed in August (the copy now displayed at the National Archives in Washington, D.C.) It's also the date that was printed on the Dunlap Broadside, the original printed copies of the Declaration that were circulated throughout the new nation. So when people thought of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776 was the date they remembered.

In contrast, we celebrate Constitution Day on September 17th of each year, the anniversary of the date the Constitution was signed, not the anniversary of the date it was approved. If we'd followed this same approach for the Declaration of Independence we'd be celebrating Independence Day on August 2nd of each year, the day the Declaration of Independence was signed!

FREE 4TH OF JULY FAMILY BBQ

The Jaycee Auxiliary would like to invite you to a FREE 4th of July family BBQ. Hosted at the Ray Lynch Memorial Field in conjunction with the DUI Task Force. Food will be provided from 6:00 p.m. until food runs out. There will be kid friendly activities, such as 3-legged races, water balloon toss, and face painting. Bring chairs and blankets to watch the Dillon Jaycee firework show following food and games. No alcohol please.

MOUNTAIN LION SIGHTINGS REPORTED IN HELENA AREA

Montana Fish, Wildlife and Parks is alerting the public to reports of a mountain lion spotted near trails in the hills just south of Helena.

FWP's Helena Area Resource
Office has received several calls reporting a mountain lion in the area of the Davis Gulch/Rodney Ridge
US Forest Service trail system.
Warning signs have been posted at the Waterline, Davis Gulch, Deford, Dump Gulch, and Mount Helena trailheads.

If someone encounters a lion, FWP advises the following:

- Get big (make yourself
appear as big as possible and wave your arms)
- Get loud (yell, scream and stomp)
- Create a barrier and/or throw objects at the lion
- Don't turn your back
- Don't run

FWP also urges people to carry bear pepper spray at all times when getting out in the forest because it's an effective deterrent for mountain lions as well as bears.

If you see a mountain lion, take note of the location and report
it immediately to the nearest FWP office, or call 1-800-TIP-MONT (1-800-847-6668).

For more information about living with mountain lions go to fwp.mt.gov/fishAndWildlife/livingWithWildlife/ and click on "Mountain Lions".

SIDEWALKS TO HELL

I've been doing a lot of walking lately, doing my PT and admiring the Dillon Sidewalks??

I must admit now that I really don't believe that the condition of the sidewalks is the fault of any one person, party or politician. I can't believe that any worker or engineer could possibly have laid the concrete as crooked and uneven as it is today. The problem is much more geological than anything else. A poor understanding of the geological processes present in the ground underneath. The geological understanding of this has advanced significantly just in the last 50 years.

The whole city of Dillon is located on valley fill, a very variable concoction of minerals, rocks and mud that all flowed down from the mountains, millions of years ago. This creates an environment of highly variable compaction rates and movements, both vertical and horizontal.

The valley bottom is also a graben, a down faulted section with major faults on both sides, and the mountains around it are all moving west about 2 inches per year, but also twisting slowly in a clockwise direction. The valley fill may also be moving very slowly down stream to the northeast.

All of this then presents an extremely variable ground movement picture that would be difficult to predict by anybody.

My main point is this, now that the city of Dillon is considering a new building code, all of these geological issues need to be considered. The problem is much too important to be ignored in a period political squabbling, name calling and power struggles.

SHOP LOCAL

Hi, this is Debbie from the Bookstore where we shop, where we eat, and have fun....all of this makes our community our home..... Our one of a kind businesses are an integral part of the distinctive character on this place.....When people go on vacation they generally seek out destinations that offer them the sense of being someplace, not just anyplace.....Support your local businessand help make our community that 'someplace' people want to go.

Independence Quotes

You have to love a nation that celebrates its Independence every July 4, not with a parade of guns, tanks, and soldiers who file by the White House in a show of strength and muscle, but with family picnics where kids throw Frisbees, the potato salad gets iffy, and the flies die from happiness. You may think you have overeaten, but it is patriotism.

Erma Bombeck

This country will not be a good place for any of us to live in unless we make it a good place for all of us to live in.

Theodore Roosevelt

Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, to assure the survival and success of liberty.
