A 102-Year-Old's View of Hillary's Historic Moment

By John L. Micek

If there was any doubt as to the massive symbolic significance of Hillary Clinton winning the Democratic nomination for president, one need only look at the face of Jerry Emmett.

Emmett, who is 102, was born before American women won the right to vote.

On Tuesday night in the Wells Fargo Center, the honorary member of Arizona's delegation to the Democratic National Convention pledged her home state's votes to Clinton.

"I never thought I'd see a woman in a presidential election. When I was growing up, women could be teachers, secretaries or nurses ---- and my mother was snubbed at our church for working at all," she told The Arizona Republic. "That a woman would have this role in the political process ..."

Emmett was 6 years old in 1920 when the 19th Amendment granted women the vote nationwide, The Republic reported. In Arizona, women won the vote in 1912 and voted in their first presidential election in 1916, the newspaper noted.

"All the little old ladies, with their gloves and everything, were so excited," she said of her mother's vote in that first presidential election. "Most of the men were, too ---- a lot of the women would tell their husbands how to vote."

Love her or hate her, and there are many who do both in equal measure, Americans can join together in celebration this week in confirmation of a simple truth:

When parents tell their daughters they can grow up to do anything they want, including run for, and perhaps even win, the Presidency of the United States, it won't be a mere hope - it will have been made real.

Clinton reaffirmed that late Tuesday, appearing via video-link on the arena's Jumbotron, as a group shot of America's presidents (including her own husband, former President Bill Clinton), shattered around her.

Speaking from New York, and surrounded by girls and young women, Clinton told them: "I may become the first woman president, but one of you is next."

Over the next next four-and-a-half months, Americans will (and should) have a vigorous discussion about whether Clinton or her fellow New Yorker, Republican nominee Donald J. Trump, are best qualified to lead the nation through a time of change at home and great uncertainty abroad.

Whether a woman is capable of serving as President isn't a question. Whether this woman should be president is a question that has yet to be settled.

There are few politicians in modern times as polarizing - or as flawed - as Hillary Clinton.

Voters will have to carefully consider the totality of her record in three decades in public life before they step into the ballot box in November - as they will with Trump.

For today, at least, we can pause to appreciate the historic nature of a moment on a blazing hot night in a city where our democracy was born.

And then tomorrow, we can go back to arguing over how that democracy should be governed.

This is an update on the Big Sheep Creek Road and Bridge project due to a delay in the delivery of the bridges for the project.

The Medicine Lodge/Cabin Creek Road detour improvement project began on Monday, July 11, 2016.

The Big Sheep Creek bridge replacement work is now scheduled to begin on Monday, August 15th, 2016, on Bridge #1, which is 2.4 miles up from the paved Frontage Road. The Big Sheep Creek Road will be closed. All motorized traffic above the #1 bridge will be detoured using the Cabin Creek Road to the Medicine Lodge Road.

Upon completion of Bridge #1, the Beaverhead County Road Department will move to Bridge #2, which is 9.2 miles up the road above the Muddy Creek Road turnoff. This is scheduled to begin on Monday, August 22nd.

The Beaverhead County Road Department will be working ten (10) hour days Monday through Friday on each bridge to speed up completion and to minimize inconvenience to the public. The road will be open over the weekend on August 20th and 21st.

Emergency Responders and the Fire Department are being notified accordingly. The Beaverhead County Road Department will provide a 4x4 pickup on the upstream side to help in assisting Emergency Responders.

All private landowners, public land agencies, law enforcement, fire departments and Fish, Wildlife and Parks will be notified by this letter. There will also be notices in the newspaper and on the radio to help notify residents and recreationists.

If you have tenants or friends on your property, we would appreciate it if you would pass this information on to them. Please contact the County Commissioners at 683-3750 or the Beaverhead County Road Department at 683-3780, if you have any questions or concerns. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

Sincerely,

Beaverhead County Commissioners

Prayers for Military Peace Keepers at St. James Episcopal Church:

There will be a service honoring military personnel who have provided a peaceful nation for all of us. They may be active or veterans, at home or abroad. The service will be held at 12 noon on the first Wednesday of every month at St James Episcopal Church (203 E. Glendale, Dillon, MT). All are welcome; families, friends, military personnel and anyone who would like to thank and pray for all of the Armed Forces of the United States. The next service will be held on August 3, 2016 at 12 noon. Any questions, call 683-2735. Please join us.

Small Acreage Intensive Rotational Grazing Pasture Walk

The Beaverhead Conservation District and Mike Pflieger will be hosting a pasture walk discussing small acreage rotational grazing Tuesday, August 2nd, 2016 at 7:00 pm. Meet at the USDA Service Center at 6:30 pm to carpool to the site. Participants will take an up close look at rotational grazing on small acreage and discuss the process and inputs required for this type of feed management with landowner, Mike Pflieger. This management option may be an alternative to haying or an opportunity to see increased forage production on small acreage. A pasture walk provides an in-field, on the ground experience to discuss various land management techniques. This experience allows producers and others with interest to discuss true inputs and results, challenges, and successes with the producer engaging in the practice. Join us to learn more! For more information contact Jamie Cottom at the Beaverhead Conservation District 406-683-3802 or beaverheaded@gmail.com.
